

Society

WITH SUMMER school in full swing, society—save for informal affairs that evade society columns—is at somewhat of a premium. For those who plan to be slaving away at the books for the next five weeks it may be just a bit discouraging to read about vacations and weddings. At the same time it's always nice to know what's going on.

LEAVING ON vacation and business combined is Miss Doris Smith, who was chosen delegate to the national convention of Alpha Omicron Pi that is being held at Yellowstone park. Miss Smith was recently installed as honored queen of Job's Daughters.

FINANCIAL Secretary L. E. Gunderson, of the university, was married July 19 to Miss Velma Chandler. Mrs. Gunderson has for nine years been connected with the university. The marriage took place in Omaha, with Amos Thomas serving as best man.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made recently of the engagement of Miss Helen Cortelyou to J. Earl Presson of Evanston, Ill. Mr. Presson attended the university and received his degree from Northwestern. The wedding will take place in Lincoln early in the fall.

ANOTHER marriage announcement is that of Miss Winifred Wilson of Chadron to James Jay Swann. Mrs. Swann is a graduate of the university, where she belonged to Delta Delta Delta sorority. For the past three years she has taught in Highland Park, Ill.

SOLEMNIZED April 30 was the marriage of Miss Pauline Hiller to another university graduate, Harman Schultz, of Kellogg, Ida. While in school Mr. Schultz was active in football and belonged to Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity. He has been an engineer with the Bunker Hill & Sullivan Mining company in Kellogg for the past year.

MISS RUTH STONER, secretary to Gayle C. Walker of the school of journalism, left Saturday for her home in Los Angeles, Calif., where she will spend the summer.

TWO FORMER university students married recently are Miss Lillian Shebl and Ross McCain, who was a member of Kappa Sigma while in school.

Mrs. Ralph W. Rehman was Miss Elizabeth Julie Wilmot before her recent marriage. She attended the University of Nebraska and Kearney State college.

ANOTHER April marriage that has just been announced is that of Miss Helen Louise McFarland to George Edward Hanna, which took place at Baltimore, Md. Mrs. Hanna is a graduate of the university and a member of Gamma Phi Beta and Mr. Hanna is studying medicine at George Washington university in the District of Columbia.

WED last Sunday were Miss Louis Loraine Russnogle and Howard Wilson Richardson. Both are graduates of the university.

HERBERT YENNE, of the speech department, is working this summer on a syllabus on Public Speaking. Later in the summer he plans to attend the Hoppe Indian ceremonials in New Mexico.

MISS H. ALICE HOWELL, head of the speech department, will return this week from the Teton mountains in Wyoming.

MRS. BARBARA BATES SEARS, who was formerly a member of the University Players and who is doing theatrical work in New York City is spending a month visiting in Lincoln at the home of her parents.

ALL-STATE MUSIC MORE DIFFICULT THAN FORMERLY

To some students at least it seems that music for the high school course grows more difficult each year and with such compositions as "So This is Dvorak," "Peer Gynt's Nightmare" and "The Narrator," all by Director Buchtel, on the band program, there is some basis for this belief. The fact that many students return for several years and the instruction is constantly growing more finely co-ordinated balances the trend, however, and makes it almost a necessity.

Some rather complicated orchestra numbers used for the first time include "Andante Cantabile" by Tschaiakowsky, "Dance of the Moorish Slaves" by Verdi, "Turkish March," by Beethoven, "Bachchanale" from Samson and Delilah by Saint Saens. These pieces are a test for the skill of any musician.

A decided change in chorus music for this season has brought forward selections such as "The Three Kings" by Healey Willas, "My Love if but Within Thee," by Durone, "Chanson" by Janequin Damrosch, "Celtic Mymn," by Robertson, and "Out of the Silence" by Cyril Jenkins.

Naturally there are many light numbers such as "The Old Woman and the Peddler" by Nebraska's Hazel Gertrude Kinsella. The work of the students so far and the quality of music indicate an excellent program for the final concert July 9 at Grati Memorial hall.

DISPLAY OF SCHOOL BOOKS CLOSES SOON

The exhibit of school books and supplies now on display in Grant Memorial hall will close July 2. The 15th to be held here, the exhibit is the largest ever to be shown on the Nebraska campus.

As in previous annual exhibits held in conjunction with the summer session, representatives of all leading publishing and supply houses are on hand to guide and explain the part each volume plays in modern school technique and curriculum building.

CAMPUS WORLD

A review dealing with the writings of Dr. Johnson, famed literary figure of the 18th century, has been written by Dr. R. W. Frantz of the department of English and published in Modern Language Notes. Dr. Frantz is a specialist in 18th century literature and at the present time is doing research in this field in the libraries on the west coast.

"Coleridge and Schelling's Treatise on the Samothracian Deities," an article by Dr. W. K. Pfeller of the Germanics department, has been published in Modern Language Notes.

"The New Geography" by Stull and Hatch. The only geography series organized about "The Nation as the Unit," as recommended in the Nebraska Course of Study. Allyn and Bacon exhibit.

Elizabeth Ferguson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. J. Ferguson, has joined the staff of the Ryerson library at the Chicago Art Institute for the summer months. Miss Ferguson just completed a year's work in the library school at the University of Illinois.

A recent visitor to Dean Ferguson's office of the college of engineering was Henry E. Winter, now a junior engineer with the Lago Oil & Transport Co. at Aruba, Netherland West Indies.

"Building Citizenship," puts the pupil into all kinds of social, economic, and industrial thinking situations where he figures out the right thing to do. Allyn and Bacon exhibit.

E. C. Reed, assistant state geologist and Dr. G. E. Condra, dean of the conservation and survey division, are authors of a new bulletin entitled "Correlation of the Members of the Shawnee Group in Southeastern Nebraska and Adjacent Areas of Iowa, Missouri, and Kansas." This is another in a series of publications from the Nebraska geological survey.

Dr. C. W. Scott, of teachers college, will give two lectures during the summer session of the University of North Carolina. His subjects are "Common Sense Guidance" and "Protective Teacher Tenure."

"Ten minus eight leaves two. Is that so? It is good mathematics but may be rotten economics." The New Mathematics Series for grades seven, eight, and nine teaches the pupil to "think mathematically." Allyn and Bacon exhibit.

Dr. J. O. Hertzler, chairman of the department of sociology, is a contributing author to a recently published volume entitled "Man and Society." An authority on social institutions, Dr. Hertzler developed this phase of the subject matter for the new publication.

"Do you use good English because you know the rules or because you have word sense, sentence sense, and paragraph sense?" The Center and Holmes English Series. Allyn and Bacon exhibit.

HELEN STOWELL MANAGES GIRLS DORM 5 SEASONS

Characterizing the all-state high school music course as "a stepping stone between high school and college," Miss Helen Stowell, for five years manager of the girls dormitory, points out that "It teaches the girls how to live with a group and gives them a taste of college life." Miss Stowell, whose home is at Colorado Springs, is optimistic over benefits of the weekly musicals for girls only being held each Wednesday at the dormitory. She feels they will bring to light much talent of which participants might otherwise not become aware. Lila Mae Jackson is physical education director.

STUDENTS TAKE PART IN SUMMER THEATER

Five Speech Majors Work During Vacation in Connecticut.

Five university students are turning their University Players experience to good use this summer and have joined Charles H. Rogers, of the dramatics department faculty, at the Plymouth Playhouse, Milford, Connecticut.

Mr. Rogers, one of the founders of the troupe which operates the Playhouse, once more resumed his duties as director of technical production last Monday with the opening performance of three from Noel Coward's series of one-act plays entitled "Tonight at 8:30." His able assistant is Donald Giffin, Nebraska junior, who has been made a regular member of the production staff.

As apprentices, Jack Aeschbacher, Waldemar Mueller, Margaret Carpenter, and Marjorie Bannister, before the season is over, will have done all the backstage work connected with the theater. Mr. Aeschbacher specializes in technical production, whereas the others will be cast in plays whenever they are needed.

The troupe was founded three years ago as an anti-depression measure by a number of Yale dramatics students. They proceeded to give summer entertainment to vacationists throughout northern Michigan. Later, permission was obtained for the use of the "Old Congregational Church" of Milford (built in the early 1800's) from which the congregation had moved to newer quarters. Since then, the Plymouth Playhouse has become one of the most popular of eastern summer theaters.

The university's representatives have distinguished themselves during the past season in their work on campus productions. Donald Giffin was in complete charge of technical production on "The Senator's Husband." Miss Carpenter's work in "The Shining Hour" and "The Bishop Misbehaves" was outstanding, and Miss Bannister's characterizations in "Personal Appearance" and "As You Like It" were equally well done. As Petruchio in "The Taming of the Shrew," Mr. Mueller did some excellent work.

The Milford group does not run a school in connection with their professional company, and the Nebraskans along with young dramatists from other parts of the country will be merely apprentices.

Besides the Noel Coward series, the following productions are scheduled for the 1937 season at the Playhouse: "Cradle Snatcher," "The 13th Chair" with Mrs. Patrick Campbell and Hal Conklin, "Twentieth Century," "Accent on Youth," "Label" with Walter Greaza, "Broadway" with Hal LeRoy, "The Vinegar Tree," and "Heroes Don't Care" with Claudia Morgan.

Wilbur Chenoweth will present an organ recital for the church and choral music school of Northwestern university at Evanston in July. Mr. Chenoweth will dedicate a new organ in the new First Congregational church of Alexandria, Minn., this summer. He is editing and writing a series of piano books for an eastern publisher together with a practical organ book especially designed for the church organist.

Miss Louise Snapp, Lincoln, who received her M. A. degree in English here recently, and who has been teaching English and dramatics at Mc Cook junior college, has purchased the Prairie Schooner Book shop, according to word received by Miss Mamie Meredith of the English faculty.

Dr. W. H. Morton of teachers college was one of the speakers at the dinner held Friday night in Fremont in honor of Supt. A. H. Waterhouse in recognition of his 50 years of service as an educator.
