

Petz Announces Newly Enlarged Interfrat Slate

It was a case of good to better as intramural director Harold G. Petz announced today that the 1937 program will completely eclipse the already well rounded intrafrat outlay of last year.

In addition to the competition of fraternal organizations and heretofore the intramural department will this year collaborate with the R. O. T. C. in the holding of athletic competition for all school army units.

"We feel that the recreational, healthful, social and other benefits to be derived from such a program are of value to every student and that such one will take full advantage of this opportunity to be a part of an organized athletic program," declared Petz.

The basis of competition will be the respective R. O. T. C. units. It is believed that such a program will create more interest within the units.

E. REYNOLDS SUCCEEDS MILLER AS GYM COACH

New Tumbling Instructor Issues Call for Men; All Vets Gone.

Holding the reigns of the Nebraska U. gymnastic team this year is Eddie Reynolds, a freshman at the job of coaching, but a wizard in his line. Reynolds succeeds Charley Miller who is now athletic director at the Y. M. C. A. in Denver, Colo.

The new coach, who graduated from Nebraska last June, holds the Fourth All-Around Eastern Intercollegiate National Championship title. At Nebraska he amply displayed his skill on the parallel bars, spring-board, and mat tumbling. Eddie is an all-around gym athlete and if he is as good a coach as he is a participant the team's future looks bright indeed.

Besides having a new coach, the team will also consist entirely of new men. There will be a few, however, who were outstanding during the team practices last year, but were unable to participate because of freshman standing.

The squad held its first practice last night in the basement of the coliseum. Coach Reynolds issued a general call to all students who have had training or possess skill in gymnastics to see him about trying out for the team.

Round Robins.

Round robins will comprise the preliminary play just as former intramurals, and finals will be in the form of tournaments. Scoring will be nearly identical to the Greek program. Since entrance points will be given to each team, it will be to each company's advantage to enter many teams.

All men competing in two sports and two contests on the winning company team will be awarded a gold intramural medal.

Eligibility of fraternity play will also apply to the R. O. T. C. programs. No member of a varsity, "B" team, or freshman squad is eligible to compete, nor will any man who has ever made a varsity award.

Managers to Meet.

Petz issued a call yesterday for all fraternity athletic managers to meet for the first Greek convocation in the "N" club rooms at the coliseum, Thursday, Sept. 23 at 7:15 p. m. Plans, schedules and sports for the coming year, will be discussed then.

Tentative plans propose an intramural calendar of touch football, soccer, water polo, swimming,

97 HUSKER FROSH OPEN DRILL WITH MINNESOTA PLAYS

Weir Plans Scrimmages in Preparation for Varsity Tussle.

Temporarily skipping fundamental drills, 97 Husker frosh footballers launched their 1937 grid season Wednesday learning Minnesota formations and plays which they will use against the varsity when the two meet on Sept. 25 for the annual frosh- varsity game.

Freshman Coach Ed Weir stated yesterday that two teams were running through Gopher plays and will scrimmage soon against other frosh elevens. "The first two teams are no indication of the starting lineup which will face the varsity on Sept. 25," Weir said.

As soon as the frosh have learned Minnesota plays, Coach Weir plans scrimmages with the varsity using cards on the backs of freshmen to denote various Gopher gridsets.

Frosh Boast Stars.

The roster for this year's freshman squad includes such notables as George "Baz" Knight, three year all-state back from Jackson high school, Lincoln; Vile Francis, brother of Sam Francis, former Husker star, and all-state man from both Colorado and Nebraska; Ray Prochaska, all-state from Ulysses; Edsel Wibbles, Wolfach weight champion; Floyd Newton, North Platte all-state back for two years and state 440 champ for three years; and Leonard Muskin, all-state tackle from Omaha.

Huskers Loosen Passing Attack to Fret Vikings

Active, as well as dummy, scrimmaging was the chief dish served to the Cornhusker gridmen yesterday afternoon at Memorial stadium.

Coach Biff Jones drove three complete elevens through their paces in preparation for the Minnesota game here Oct. 2.

Major Jones, realizing that the Gophers have an almost impregnable line, called upon his pass- Thurston Phelps and Bill Anderson, to unleash its attack. The ing triumvirate, Johnny Howell, backs caught 18 consecutive short flips before one finally struck the earth.

Belief that the Husker mentor would employ a great many "powerhouse" plays was quickly dispelled at yesterday's rehearsal as the Scarlet and Cream wearers were put through a lengthy pass quiz. The Biff's ends and backs looked exceptionally good at grabbing the short passes but still they need polishing on the longer ones.

Squad No. 1 remained intact and had Dohrmann and Richardson, ends; Doyle and Shirey, tackles; Mehring and English, guards; Brock, center; Howell, quarterback; Dodd and Andrews, half-backs, and McIlvray, fullback.

Several Surprises.

Yesterday's program revealed several surprising things. First of all, it was discovered that Eldon McIlvray, Tecumseh lad who is being trained for Sam Francis' fullback post, and Alma Dobson, hefty tackle from Lincoln, are capable placekickers. Both of them sent many kicks zooming through the uprights.

Second, Johnny Howell and, above all, Paul Amen put on a kicking exhibition that was worth watching. Howell had been known to be a good kicker but it was tidings to everyone to find that Amen can boot long spirals that are hard to handle.

Six Hefty Tackles.

Blocking took most of the linemen's time. Line Coach Link Lyman stepped his husky tackles and guards thru a bruising workout as did End Coach Browne with his flankmen. Mentor Lyman has six tackles who are over the 200 pound mark and soar 6 feet or better.

A sour note was struck in the training camp with the announcement that Gus Peters' ailing back has taken a turn for the worse. The guard, complaining of a kink

Shucks

Once again this pillar, appellation "Shucks" a long time ago, will appear in this sheet daily. The purpose, in theory at least, will be to present the sports of Huskerland and vicinity in a state of nudity. The kind of quips that are, we hope, entertaining and perhaps enlightening.

From time to time predictions may be made; should they go astray, we plead on bended knee that you will cast another glance our way and refrain from tossing late-picked missiles of vegetation.

If the fan would like our sketch, much more in the rough than our usual golf drive, on the 1937 outlook of the very rugged Husker schedule, here tis:

Shucks Here We Come, Again.

By Ed Steeves.

Introduced as Coach Lawrence McEney Jones is riding the stadium range just as if he were born with the reins in his mouth. The squad which he inherited from the little colonel wasn't much stronger on paper than pink lemonade, but time has dealt too kindly with that bunch of lads. With two man sized workouts each day since last Friday, the boys have really learned the literal meaning of "condition." If the spectator wants to know what his gridiron idol is undergoing these days, we would advise that he wrap himself up in three or four quilts, drive nails in his shoes, put a pan on his head and run around in the hottest part of the afternoon, then he'll know. These preseason workouts are no fun.

Biff gets in the middle of the scarlet jerseyed boys and sweats right with them and his army-trained commanding voice keeps four teams hopping continually. Link the Lyman is nearly a dead ringer for Jones on the practice field, both in tactics and silhouette.

The first eleven to date has included Dohrmann and Richardson, ends; Doyle and Shirey, tackles; Mehring and English, guards; Brock, center; Howell, Andrews, Dodd, and McIlvray, backs. This bunch is looking sturdier, smoother and faster each day. The line is better than that handed out during rush week; in fact, probably one of the best since 1922, but the backfield is low on replacements.

Looking over the schedule, this corner sees no good breathers for the boys. Minnesota has a good chance to dim the Husker scarlet no difficulty with the twins. They both registered in teachers college and plan to be kindergarten instructors when they graduate, but they won't be in the same classes. There is very little diversity in opinion concerning clothes in the Ray family. They agree perfectly in the selection of their twin wardrobes. They have never dated the same fellow, but think it would be fun to switch dates some time. When asked what unusual experiences they had had, Betty said the funniest thing that ever happened to her was to find herself talking to the mirror instead of her twin, and this in a crowded Omaha store, too.

NEBRASKA U'S TWIN POPULATION TAKES UP WARD SPURT AS BRANT, RAY SISTERS MAKE APPEARANCE

Two Returning Pairs.

Of our two sets of twins who were new last year, much has been said already. Close friends of Bill and Corvin Moore are still afraid to attempt addressing them by their first names. The Alpha Xi Delta twins, Fern and Mary Steuterville graciously offered that after seeing this year's crop of twins, they will have no end of competition. But to go back to our statistics just once more, we're wondering where the rest of the twins are. According to our numbers there should be more in a school this size.
