tramural sports program, an- will come out the small end of the nounced yesterday that there were victory horn as none have shown no radical changes in the rules of enough stuff on the ball to adthe intramural games this year.

The changes made were climination of soccer from the pro-gram, the adding of ping pong as a minor sport, and the demoting of track from a major to a minor sport.

The system of scoring for the three classes of sports is based on the number of men involved in the game, the number of games in the tournament, and the popularity of the sport.

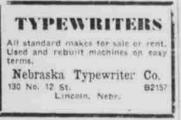

Majors Count More,

Athletic events that rank high in these three qualifications are classed as major sports, such as touch football, softball and Class A basketball. Other athletic events such as bowling, water polo, rifle shooting, volley ball, Class B basketball and track are ranked as intermediate sports, Ping pong, hand ball, tennis, golf, and horseshoes are classed as minor sports, Major events score 150 for winning the tournament, intermediate 100 and minor events score 50.

Track was demoted because it involved too few men and lasts for only a few days in the spring. Fing pong was added because it. makes more athletic events during the winter, and soccer was eliminated because of lack of interest.

"A woman's college is not concerned with the war between men and women, . .The notion that women's colleges were designed to gear women to fight men is out of date." Wellesley college's youthful president, Mildred H. McAfee, discusses her hope of training young women to take their places in society, not militantly, but intelligently aware of their responsibilities as citizens.

were heading for a counterpart performance of the first three periods. A tie and a moral victory was in sight for Nebraska.

A neon clock atop the Minnesota fieldhouse showed but 68 seconds of play left. At this juncture, All American Sam Francis was re-moved from his fullback post because of an injured ankle. Taking his place at the kicking position was Ron Douglas.

Finds Campus Favoring Vikings

It is now the zero hour! Within 24 hours the skies over Huskerland will be packed with footballs, pennants, hoarse cheers, and enthusiasm. Nebraska will be playing its first grid encounter of the year against the mighty Minnesota Gophers, defending national football champs.

The campus has finally been iolted from its doldrums and realizes that there is a football game abrewing and it begins to rise and cheer.

Who will win when Leif Bier-man brings his 40 mighties to Lincoln tomorrow?

In answer to this we prepared a few student testimonials: Virginia Stalder, Arts and Science junior, was selected at ran-dom and she, in her loyal manner declared, "Nebraska will win tomorrow, of course; how much, I don't know.

Turning the tables on Merrill Englund, Nebraska's one and only inquiring reporter till we snatched his thunder, we asked for his con-victions. "T'll say Minnesota, by 6-0.

"Minnesota, 26-6, is my guess," said Smith Davis, Esquire man of this man's campus, after a long ponder.

Herman Rohrig, stalwart halfback slated for varsity laurels next year, mused, "Minnesota ought to win, but not over two Sig Nu Beats Beta, Sammies er than most people think; they may come out on top."

Biff Blerman1

From a varsity standpoint we get a more optimistic prediction, "I'm not saying what I think, but most of the fellows on the squad are confident that we can take 'em this year. All that betting against them down helps us, because it makes the boys mad,"

Student Manager Curt Carlson takes the visitors by 12 points, but he sends his loyalty to the Huskers as do all the others.

There you have it: a coed from randow selection, a reporter, a college joe, a gridder on the sidelines, a gridder on the active side, and a munager who watches them practice.

This corner picks the Vikings by 13-0, but we hope we're wrong. The Jones boys have an excellent chance to reach deep into their bag of tricks and uncork some things in the way of aerials and reverses that we have not yet seen.
