

COLD WEATHER PUTS FIGHT INTO HUSKERS FOR OKLAHOMA FRAY

Frigid breezes, sweeping across Memorial stadium yesterday, failed to put a crimp in the Husker gridmen's lengthy workout on pass offense in preparation for the game with Coach Tom Stidham's rampant Oklahoma Sooners here Saturday.

MARVIN PLOCK Courtesy State Journal

The ozone was literally filled with aerial heaves as the Biffer attempted to iron out rough spots which were so evident in the Husker's passing game at Iowa State last week. Field-footed Marvin Plock, diminutive halfback, snagged pass after pass, and received compliments from Major Jones.

With Quarterback Johnny Howell back in harness, the Cornhuskers' passing attack should be back to par. Howell sat on the bench last week at Ames, and his absence showed its effects as the Jonesmen encountered trouble in having their passes find receivers.

Grantland Rice, dean of sports writers, penned a few words of praise about Center Charley Brock and Tackle Fred Shirey for their splendid work in the Minnesota game. Scribe Rice said it was their showing that spelled defeat for the Vikings.

Dame Misfortune claimed a victim at the University of Oklahoma football camp as she put Fullback Jack Baer on the inactive list. Baer, in aiding his teammates pummel Rice, 6-0, broke his face bone and was unable to play against Texas last Saturday.

Sooner Losses Baer. Coach Stidham loses the spearhead of his passing attack in Jack Baer's absence. When it came to slinging passes, Baer was the second Sammy Baugh, famed quarterback at T. C. U. last season.

In the Rice game, the Sooners caught 12 of 17 aerial flips, most of which were pegged by Baer. With Baer on the sidelines during the Texas fracas, the Sooners completed but two out of 11 passes. He is to Oklahoma's flipping game what Charley Brock is to Nebraska's line.

From the sunny climes of Norman, home of Oklahoma U, comes a dispatch telling of Al Corrotto, Sooner back. Weighing 185 pounds Corrotto is the key blocker on the Oklahoma team.

Corrotto Fine Blocker. A carbon copy of Mickey Walker's stature, Corrotto is usually assigned the task of taking out the enemy's 190 pound flankman, and, according to Scout Harold Browne, who saw the Oklahoma-Texas game, he does a mighty good job of brushing ends from plays.

Injuries do not mean a thing to Baer, as can be attested by the fact that he played with a broken vertebrae against Oklahoma A. & M. in '35. Last year he saw 492

CORNHUSKER TWO MILERS COMPETE IN TRIANGULAR

Schulte Pins Victory Hopes On Brownlee, Winner At Ames Saturday.

Nebraska's two-mile team is booked to take part in a triangular meet with Kansas State and Oklahoma Saturday at Wesleyan Bowl. The race will get under way at 10:30 o'clock in the morning.

Coach Henry Schulte is pinning his hopes of a victory on the shoulders of John Brownlee, junior from Omaha. In the meet with Iowa State at Ames last week, Brownlee coasted in for a first.

Charles Mitchell, outdoor two-mile conference king this year, will be here to show his wares. It is he who edged out Brownlee for the two-mile crown here last spring.

minutes of playing time, or 90 percent of the total time. This week end finds Coach Brownlee scouting the Michigan State-Missouri fray at Columbia. Adolph Lewandowski, fresh mentor, has been assigned to watch Indiana tanglie with Illinois at Bloomington, Ind. This will be the third consecutive week end that Lew has seen the Hoosiers in action.

Tanksterettes Plan Business Meet, Swim At Coliseum Tonight

Mixing business with pleasure the Tanksterettes will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the coliseum. All members are urged to be present.

Directly at 7:30 a business meeting is scheduled to be followed by a group swim in the coliseum pool at 8 p. m.

The meeting is being held to conclude the business of tryouts for new members. Members on the tryout committee report that an overly enthusiastic group of women are interested in joining the club.

Tryouts will continue until Friday at 5 o'clock. "Four years in the classroom and on the campus should engender confidence in the authority of your intellect while enabling you to judge between the valid emotional life which sustains reason, and the opposite, which drags it down," Princeton's president, Dr. Harold W. Doods, tells his students that they must learn how to control their emotions with reason if mankind is not to experience a new dark age.

A special committee appointed by President Ernest M. Hopkins of Dartmouth will study the organization and procedures of student publications and make recommendations for their improved administration.

OKLAHOMA REGARDS CORNHUSKERS AS 'PASSING' FANCY.

The Sooners will probably come sooner than Nebraska wants. Of course, the above has nothing to do with the column, but it was such an irresistible opening statement.

Oklahoma, however, is coming to town Saturday afternoon, bringing to this town a game that will have more angles than a geometry class. First of all, Oklahoma is the old camp grounds of our reigning Biff Jones. There he was ogled at by Oklahoma as he added trophy after trophy to the Sooner collection.

He was well liked by the Oil Staters as a man and as a coach, but the Army came up to him one day and said, "Biff, you must choose between us."

Major Takes Army. So, to make a short story brief, the big major chose the "old army game" and Oklahoma wept. Those tears were soon dried and transformed into the smoke of anger last year, when a queer quirk of fate brought Biff to Huskerland as chief mentor. Thus, you see the Sooners will have one conspicuous motive for the Husker homicide they plot.

Secondly, they, like all the others, will be out for a taste of the blood of the Husker who stopped the Mighty Gopher.

Thirdly, Oklahoma is rated as the best of the other five Big Six teams. It has often been said that Nebraska is too big for the Big Six and too small for the Big T. E. N.

Both Nebraska and other members of its conference look in immediate offense to this statement. Thus all this season, the Huskers will be out trying to prove they are grown up enough for the Big Ten, while the Husker opponents will be trying to shrink Nebraska down to Big Six size. See the conflict?

Passing Teams Clash. Still another reason that no bleacher should go unused Saturday is that both Nebraska and Oklahoma are passing teams. The Sooners had some sort of a record of completing 82% of their forward passes in their first game. Everyone knows what Nebraska has done with the passing attack. They have changed it from a luxury to a gridiron necessity, scoring most of their tallies by long and short tosses.

In the season thus far Tom Stidham's Sooners have done well, but are not recognized as the scarlet spangled team which the Huskers are on paper. While the home boys were belittling Minnesota 14-9, Oklahoma took Rice college 6-0. Last Saturday as the Huskers triumphed Ames, the Tommie knotted the count with Bible's Longhorns 7-7.

Howell Scares Stidham. A bulletin from Norman finds Stidham moaning about Nebraska's John Howell and his passing. He recalls that Howell passed for five touchdowns outright an he's expecting the same thing this Saturday. Evidently he hasn't heard about Harris Andrews, Nebraska may not be as successful in their aerials as they have been, however, if the Norman mentor patrols his passing zones as he intends.

Quarterback Howell calls it to our attention that Nebraska scored from within 5 yards of Crack Candid Cameraman Turns Lens Loose On Nebraska.

With the same rapid strides that the "Life" magazine itself grew in popularity, the Cornhuskers have risen to the acme of national football fame.

With the winning of the history-making Minnesota game, the popular Life staff took note of the Huskers. Last Saturday they sent two of their crack photographers to Ames to catch all the possible shots they could of the mighty team from Nebraska that is now bidding for the national crown.

Eisenstadt, Life Cameraman. Alfred Eisenstadt, the cameraman who took the pictures of the Missouri spread, published last summer, was the man chosen to follow Nebraska with film and lens. He had been in Ames only a short time Saturday when Nebraska players recognized him as the most persistent photographer they had ever seen.

He was all over the stadium and gridiron at once winding under people's feet, taking shots from low, high and intermediate positions. Once he had to be had to be chased by Sec Taylor from a Nebraska huddle, where he was trying to get a trick pose.

Wednesday's Slate Presents Hard Fought Battles Between Greeks.

Alpha Tau Omega in league one and Sigma Phi Epsilon in league two, remained the only unbeaten teams in their respective leagues following Wednesday evening's touch football games. The ATO's remained undefeated by virtue of their 6 to 6 victory over Phi Gamma Delta and the Sig Eps kept their slate clear of defeat by defeating Phi Delta Theta, 13 to 0.

The ATO-Phi Gam game was hard fought thruout. The ATO's pass defense was outstanding and prevented the completion of many Phi Gam passes. The ATO's scored in the first quarter on a 35 yard pass from Gist to Vierzig. John and Newman were outstanding in the Phi Gam lineup. In the other games played in league one, Beta Sigma Psi defeated Pi Kappa Alpha 6 to 0, and the Chi Psi beat the Farm House 13 to 0.

Sigma Phi Epsilon won their third game of the season by tagging a 13 to 0 defeat on the Phi Deltis, Kavonda and Zuspamm were the key men in the Sig Ep lineup. The other league two contests saw Delta Tau Delta wallop Kappa Sigma 40 to 0, and the Acacias defeated a tripled Alpha Sigma Phi team 27 to 0, Wilson, a back in the Delta Tau Delta lineup accounted for 18 of his team's points.

Ruth Green, B-2360, will have as her little sisters, Mildred Heck, Mayme Michelson, Genevieve George and Claudia Blair. Frances Vaughn, Roma Sinclair, Margaret Holeman and Leola Schaper will be assisted by their big sister, Harriet Pugsley, B-2219.

Gwendoline Hurley, telephone B-6653, has in her group Helen Eversman, Virginia McCarty, Louise Homer and Hazel Wisner. Harriette Smith, Hazel Ray, Gladys Davis and Ivy Otley will compose the group of Betty Ann Duff, telephone number, B-3649.

Rita Rist, B-1926, has two little sisters, Della Rose Titus and Virginia Meisinger. Mary Arbitman, B-4521, has Avlona Moyer, Enid Hoffman, June Preece, Betty Jean Ferguson, Margaret Hartz and Frances Kennedy compose the group of Helen Danner, B-2184.

In Faith Medlar's group are Phyllis Roberts and Margaret Hedstrom, who may reach their counselor by calling M-3539.

Some girls have not been assigned coed counselors yet because the counselor staff has been unable to do so. In publishing the names of the little and big sisters, it is hoped that little sisters who have not been reached by their counselors will get in touch with them. The entire list will be published in the Nebraskaan, and unaffiliated freshmen are requested to look for their names.

Annual Convention of Omaha Zone Reveals Features Of New Model.

The 1938 Chevrolet was unveiled yesterday during the annual convention of the Omaha zone of the Chevrolet Motor Division held in the university coliseum.

K. E. Staley and S. P. Emmert, assistant zone managers, and F. H. Weilmann, commercial car manager spoke on the features of the new model. Ivan X. Sarvis unveiled the model after speaking on the dealer's sales of the past year and the future outlook.

Over 1,000 dealers from Nebraska, western Iowa, and southern South Dakota were present at the convention. Music was furnished by Freddie Edman and his orchestra. Several numbers were presented by the university glee club. The True Cafeteria served lunch in the coliseum.

An advertising program, exhibits of various phases of dealer's work as the parts booth, and displays of all the new models made up the afternoon program.
