NEW DIRECTORIES TO GO ON STANDS TUESDAY MORNING

New Scarlet, Cream Covers Make 1937-38 Edition Most Colorful.

Resplendent in bright new scarlet and cream covers, 1,600 copies of the 1937-38 edition of the Student Directory go on sale in campus bookstores Tuesday morning. Listing the names, addresses, and phone numbers of every student and faculty member of the university, the directories appear almost a week earlier this year than last.

Sales on the Ag campus will begin Wednesday morning and will be handled by Ward Bauder in the Activities building. Price of the directories is 50 cents. According to editor Jerry Williams, 200 more copies of the book were printed this year to accommodate an anticipated increase in demand. Last year the entire 1,400 copies of the book were sold and there were still buyers, Williams said.

The directory makes use of Nebraska's school colors for the first time this year, having a scarlet cover with silver-white lettering. "It is a colorful book, one you will want to have around as a decoration as well as for its practical value," Williams declared. In addition to the names and university address and phone numbers of all students, the directory also lists rank in school, home towns, and fraternity or sorority affiliations. Each sorority and fraternity on the campus has a special section in the directory on which are listed its house mother and membership.

An annual publication of the Y. M. C. A., the directory was managed this year by Jerry Williams, editor, and Joy Richardson, business manager.

RAMSAY TO PRESIDE OVER KOSMET REVUE

Alumni Secretary Named Master of Ceremonies For Klub Show.

Ray Ramsay, well known humorist and sage-about-the-campus, will act as master of ceremonies at the Kosmet Klub fall revue a week from next Saturday morning, and the Beck-Jungbluth orchestra will play for the affair, according to announcement made today by the Klub.

Mr. Ramsay, who is secretary of the alumni association when not tenant colonel, Howard H. Nutenberger, Wakefield, will be the battalion adjutant with the rank of captain.

Robert Beaver, Yankton, S. D., and William Clayton, Grand Island, will be the grand marshals.

BILL CLAYTON BECOMES FIRST PHARMACY COLLEGE B.M.O.C.

Lieutenant Colonel, Annual Editor Uses Camera For Trademark.

Not in a blaze of glory, but in the flash of a camera bulb did William Clayton, editor of the 1938 Cornhusker, become first pharmacy college student to reach the top in campus activities. Clayton, who ranks as one of the B. M. O. C. (Big Men on Campus), is the first man to rise to yearbook editorship via the camera route.

Until two years ago he had never used a flash camera; today his own picture box is an elaborate and well equipped as those on most metropolitan newspapers. The 1936 Cornhusker, of which Clayton was camera editor, had the largest collection of pictures and informal snapshots ever used in a Nebraska

Dr. J. P. Guilford, professor of psychology at the University of Nebraska, received word that he has been appointed to membership in the National Institute of Psychology. This organization is composed of 25 of the nation's most eminent psychologists who are actively engaged in psychological research, and who hope to establish a national research center for this field of science with a bureau of standards on psychological methods and measurements.

1937 COLL-AGRI-FUN REVUE SKIT FILINGS WILL CLOSE OCT. 26

Al Nore Urges Organized Groups to Prepare Acts by Tuesday.

Tuesday, Oct. 26, marks the deadline for filing Coll-Agri-Fun Revue skits. Al Nore, manager of this year's ag show reminded organized ag groups today. Skit entries may be made at Dean Burr's office any time before 5 o'clock Tuesday.

Selection of skits and curtain acts which will compose the 1937 Revue will be made at tryouts scheduled by members of the Coll-Agri-Fun board. Members of the board who will make up the judging committee include: Al Nore, chairman; Pauline Walters, Ray Kruse, Lois Lichter, Peggy Pascoe, and Carroll Garey.

Urging that organizations have plans well under way by the time of the filing deadline, Nore commented, "In order that acts may be as complete as possible when tryouts begin, we are asking that skits be organized immediately."

As has been the custom in former years, a trophy will be presented to the first place winner and $30 in prizes will be given to the runnersup who excel in the show Nov. 19.

NOTED ECONOMIST TO ADDRESS CONVO IN TEMPLE NOV. 4

William Trufant Foster Will Discuss Current Problems.

For its second convocation of the year, the university is bringing to Lincoln William Trufant Foster, one of the country's outstanding economists, educators and authors. This program is scheduled for Nov. 4 at 11 o'clock in the Temple. As director of the Pollak foundation for economic research since 1920, Dr. Foster has been in charge of a great many research projects which are known throughout the country.

A fluent speaker and a man of wide knowledge, the university speaker is expected to attract another large audience not only of students and faculty members but of many townspeople who are acquainted with his works. Dr. Foster received his A. B. and M. A. degrees from Harvard in 1901 and 1904 respectively and his Ph. D. degree from Columbia in 1911. A doctor of letters degree was awarded him by both Western Reserve university and Colorado college. He was an instructor in English in Bates college; later becoming professor of English and argumentation at Bowdoin college and still later president of Reed college in Portland, Ore., from 1910 to 1920.

Because of his eminence in the field of education, the economist was invited to lecture on principles of education at Harvard the summers of 1909 and 1919 and at Columbia in 1911. While at Columbia, he was also lecturer in educational administration. In 1917 he was appointed inspector in the European service for the American Red Cross.

PICTURE ON SYPHILIS APPEARS WEDNESDAY

YMCA Schedules 'For All Our Sakes' in Temple Theater at 7:30.

"For All Our Sakes," a sound film of syphilis, will be shown in Temple theater Wednesday night, taking the place of the regularly scheduled Y. M. C. A. meeting. Sponsored by the U. S. public health service and the American Social Hygiene association, the film is part of a national educational movement on syphilis.

The film is not a movie, but consists of 170 still pictures synchronized with the voices of professional actors who give scientific facts about the disease. It is brought to Lincoln under the auspices of the city health department and the University Y. M. C. A. Dr. M. F. Arnold, Lincoln health superintendent, will present the pictures and afterwards will hold a "question box" session. Various aspects of the disease will be discussed such as where it is contracted, how many cases there are in existence, and the methods which are used in curing it.

Brought here last year, the film is being repeated for the benefit of freshmen and others who had no opportunity to attend. Held in Social Science auditorium, over 400 university men attended the meeting last year, and hence a larger auditorium is being used this year.

Charm School to Hold Style Revue Tuesday

Second session of Charm School will be held Tuesday night at Hevland-Swanson's when 15 freshman women will model winter styles of sports and date frocks and formals. Virginia Griswold, leader of Charm School this year, will preside at the meeting.

Bill Crittenden To Head R.O.T.C. Unit as Colonel

GADET COMMANDER NAMED

Bill Crittenden.

John Bottorf, Ben Cook Named Executive, Adjutant.

William C. Crittenden was today promoted to the rank of Cadet Colonel and commanding officer of the University R. O. T. C. unit. His appointment was announced by Col. W. H. Oury, commandant of cadets, whose executive order also raised Ben F. Cook, Scribner, and John A. Bottorf, Omaha, to the positions of executive officer and adjutant respectively.

The new colonel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Crittenden of 3047 R street. He was national commander of Phalanx, honorary military organization, a member of Corn Cobs, men's pep organization, and has been active in student affairs on the campus.

Majors Named.
Seniors who have been promoted to the rank of major include Raymond Hershner, Lincoln; Howard Linch, Lincoln; Glenn J. Ayers, Lincoln; Herman Brooker, Lincoln; Harry Haynie, Lincoln; Ralph E. Miegall, Lincoln, and Glenn Leymaster, Aurora. Haynie, Miegall and Leymaster will serve as first, second and third battalion commanders respectively. Battalion captains are Arthur Voss, Lincoln, adjutant of the first battalion; Fred Webster, Lincoln, the second, and Elmer Bauer, Lincoln, adjutant of the third battalion.

Promotions in the engineer battalion include the appointment of Jay King, Lincoln, as battalion commander and John E. Pease, Lincoln, as battalion executive. Both will have the rank of lieutenant.

RENOVATED AWGWAN TO RELEASE OCTOBER NUMBER ON FRIDAY

'Colossal' Issue Features Biff Jones Article, Revised Gore.

Featuring Biff Jones in an article "Keeping Up With the Jones," written and illustrated by Ed Steeves, the October issue of the Awgwan, campus humor magazine, will be released Friday, announces Editor Bruce Campbell.

"Colossal is the word for the October issue of the Awgwan," states Campbell. "Its cover design will be done by an artist of such repute that we dare not divulge his name until the issue comes out, lest it would not be believed."

Three new features have been added in this issue. The gore column is no more—instead is its renovated successor, a rose by another name, "Stuff About People." The editorial column has been revised and captioned "Chips Off the Old Blockhead."

A page of letters, under the title "The Reader Speaks," will also appear in this issue, as will "You're Darn Tootin'," an article devoted to the university band. In addition, there will be a full page of cartoons, with others scattered throughout the issue.

"The Awgwan will come out Friday for sure," asserts Editor Campbell. "There will be absolutely, positively no delay. We merely postponed the issue of last month to test campus desire for the publication. We found that

GENIAL POSTMASTER GENERAL DRAWS LARGE LINCOLN CROWD

'Man Behind Roosevelt' Talks About Anything But Himself.

By Harold Niemann.

That same man that led the democratic party to a sweeping victory in 1936, that same "man behind Roosevelt" swept thru Lincoln last night. His name, almost one of magic in Maine and Vermont, is James A. Farley. His appearance in Lincoln, like that of all celebrities, only affirms the thought that men are men and nothing more.

Scheduled to speak before an audience of democrats and interested postal workers, General Farley's coming was quiet and peaceful. As 350 people, including Governor Cochran and Mayor Bryan, stood patiently inside the hotel waiting for the banquet doors to open, General Farley arrived by car outside.

Hunts for Lawrence.

Four reporters, including Grant Parr, from the Lincoln State Journal and one photographer hired for the occasion, found it their duty to comprise the welcoming line for the general. As the photographer fumbled thru that long, embarrassing moment which always seems to accompany a celebrity, General Farley searched the small crowd for Lincoln's James Lawrence in order to have "more than one celebrity in the picture."
