AS JOHNNY SEES IT.

Corn Cobs and Tassels took me to task yesterday after reading a crack in the column about a very dry weekend. It seems this weekend will be far from dead with the Corn Cob-Tassel Truckin' Carnival on the books for Saturday eve. Between six or seven indignant pepsters have convinced me that the affair will be top-flight. Among the several games of skill will be a baseball booth at which the object is to throw balls at the head of your favorite prof. The only catch is that the heads are pictures. Anyway, the time is ripe to get even. Yea, that's right, down slips.

Vexed no end were members of Kappa Alpha Theta by the dry weekend crack. That makes me batting about .272 for yesterday. The Thetas are house-partying this weekend and extend the usual.

New material for padding-swinging Soph's of Delta is found in Don Bayles, Charles West, Walt Schlichting and Leo Benson.

Dean H. H. Foster, dean of law college, gets my compliments along with a host of others for his iron constitution. One day this week we saw the cigar-smoking dean at lunch. With the perpetual stogie clamped securely between his teeth, the dean proceeded to whack the victuals into small bits. Then, holding a fork in one hand and his cigar in the other he would take a bit and then chew the food and the cigar combined. After the meal, Dean Foster arose with a satisfied look and went back to the department of justice smoking a cigar, odd as it may seem.

Will somebody please take Miss Cockle into a corner and explain some of the intricacies of this brutal world. Mary Anna, still trying to blot my character, took a line of choice baloney about me from dead-panned footballers and as usual forgot to check up. Ah well, the good must suffer.

No cracks will be forthcoming from Wise Guy Paul "Larry Kelley" Amen this week. If he doesn't pick up pretty soon we'll have to fall back on that old dependable, Charles Brock.

AS MARY ANNA SEES IT

Let me tell you about the people who drive out to Antelope to see if the Park is closed yet. It seems to be one of the better lines of the season. In fact, it worked so well for one Phi Gam that he spent three evenings successfully at the quest. But his Waterloo came when he slipped and asked the same girl twice. His date, a Pi Phi, reminded him that they'd settled the matter the week before.

HER SHADOW.

Alpha Phi pledge, Mary Stoddard, seems to be following directly in Betty Groth's footsteps. Betty dated D. U. Max Lake almost constantly, now Mary's seen with him occasionally. Betty had no sooner started going with Bill Kinnaman than Mary picked up where she left off. "It's all in good clean fun, of course," says Betty. "But some day I'm going to find her a man of her own."

DEDICATED TO.

When the Kappa Sig's sneaked Monday, they took all the silverware and bedclothing in the house and hit out for parts unknown. The rest of the evening, correspondence was carried on via KFOR broadcasting station. The pledges had the studio dedicate "Alone" and "I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm" for the sole benefit of the actives, who by that time were getting very burned up or should I say pretty chilly toward their freshmen, so they countered with dedications to the pledges of "That Old Feeling" and "Until Tomorrow."

HUSK THE HOOSIERS

Sorority girls will be racking their brains Friday to outdress everyone else on the campus, but this time it's their cars they'll be decorating. It doesn't matter whether the body's by Fisher or not, but the gayest hacks will be awarded prizes for the Corn Cob-Tassel Truckin' Carnival, and you don't want to miss that. It's to be one of the biggest Coliseum parties of the year.

NOW SHE WEARS THE DIAMOND.

Kay Huwaldt wore a very plain boat neck sweater yesterday. It was black, just the kind that shows a pin off best, and it wasn't just her D. G. anchor that she looked so proud about, but the latest addition, Bing Crosby's Beta pin. She's had it ever since Monday night.

KEEP YOUR FINGERS CROSSED

When you turn out for the Chi O house party Friday night, you'd better watch your step. There'll be ladders to walk under, broken mirrors and all other manner of evil omen. They're planning to trip people up with all the old superstitions that even their grandmothers can remember, so you'd better be careful.

AT LAST

Finally the rumpus raised by the D. G. pledges has been headed. A certain sign that winter is definitely upon us and almost a Christmas present were the pledge pins which the 20 girls from a block east of the silo now so proudly display. After midnight serenades and constant griping about being the last sorority on the campus to be pledged, the actives finally came across.
