

Student Pulse

UNION SOCIAL WHIRL INCLUDES GREEKS,

To the Editor:
Now that the Student Union building is more than just a student's pipe dream, several of the boys on the campus are inclined to speak somewhat sarcastically of the new Union. "Hell, now that we got it, what are we going to do with it?" is the attitude of some. Another moans, "We still need a library."

The Union building represents a lot of work on the part of some half hundred student leaders over the past 10 or 15 years; it has had the backing of nearly all the student body. Several Nebraskans believe there was need for a Union on the campus, went out after the building, and with a little work and a few breaks finally got it. Regardless of what's being said, the new structure stands at 14th and R and in a few months the campus can move in.

Probably some of the contempt, if it is contempt, is coming from the Greek population. The Union essentially is supposed to be a social center, more or less serving the student in the same capacity as do fraternity and sorority houses.

Some of the frat boys, no doubt, have a wrong slant on the Student Union building and feel like a recent "inquiring reporter" commentator who said the building would be of greatest use to the barbs. Altho the union will be of great service to the barb, it will also have something to offer the affiliate.

The Union will center extra-curricular activities on the campus under one roof and bring the activities' workers together in one group. The majority of those participating in activities are the Greeks.

Judging from the success other colleges have had in drawing the students to their Unions, Nebraska with its some 6,000 would be scholars, should experience no difficulty in attracting student "cokers." Those who find favor with wasting an hour or so between classes by sucking a non-alcoholic beverage thru a straw should o. k. the Union's lunch and "coke" room. And the Greeks like their "cokes."

A ballroom, of suitable size for any fraternity or sorority party, is located in the building. It will be available for student parties, for the Greeks as well as the barbs. The Greeks do approve dancing and can't blackball the Union on that point.

As other pro-Unionists have written, the personality and social development of the student will be facilitated, and extra-curricular activities are in for a boost.

All in all, the new three story building will become the campus social center. And where there's something "social" going on, it is there that a good number of fraternity and sorority affiliates will be found.

See you at the Union building.
A GREEK.

A PLEA FOR BARB SUPPORT OF UNION

To the Editor:
I hope no barb has raised his voice in protest against the Student Union. If he has, I hope he will not admit it. For the majority of students on this campus are barbs, barbs without any central meeting place, and place for social contact.

We barbs who are attempting to make for ourselves on this campus a happier social life, both in relationships between barb men and women and in activities watch the rise of the Student Union with satisfaction. What more logical place could there be for barbs to gather and realize their common interests and become more strongly united? Student Union as being conceived by petty political ambition until he sees how successful the barb members on the Student Union board of control are in gaining privileges for barbs in the use of the building.

We barbs are not so foolish as to set up our hue and cry for decent housing on the campus at the same time that a building is being erected that will solve many of our problems of organization. But when a protest is made against the housing conditions on this campus, the barbs will be the first to make a protest, "en masse." For they are the ones who are obliged to live in certain university approved houses and they know what living conditions can be like. "Let them eat cake"—all right, we barbs can eat cake if we make use of the Student Union.
