AS JOHNNY SEES IT.

Holding the social spot light this week end will be the Varsity Hop at the Coliseum with Ken Nelson beating out the swing. It's the last big informal party, they tell me, and it should draw a fair sized gathering because the price has dropped back into the common man's bracket.

It looks like the Huskers are going to have to do without Guard Lowell English next Saturday against the Iowa Hawkeyes. Every day this week, some sweet young thing has been dropping in at the infirmary to visit with English. The entertainment that takes place is usually the reading of several nursery rhymes and fairy tales. As she reads to the crippled Lowell, he amuses himself by shaking rattles or playing with a doll. Every day she brings a new toy to please the Prince Charming of the infirmary. Lloyd Grimm, varsity end who was injured in the Pitt game, lays idly by and jealously watches Lowell have his fun.

Worried indeed are the gals along sorority row today after hearing the news of the Turnpike fire. When the panic is over they can settle down to figure out a new excuse for being late on week end nights. The old stand by of flat tires at the Turnpike is definitely out for a while at least.

Blooming more and more each successive week end of late is the Virginia Geister-Bob Van Norman combination. It's getting to the point now where things are pretty well lined up for several weeks in advance. I can't tell how far this one will go because wise guys tell me that there is a Sigma Nu who could rate top position on the Geister list if he wasn't tied up at present.

AS MARY ANNA SEES IT

This business of being fashion conscious is fast becoming catching. This morning on the campus noticed Annette Bierbohn who sports a gorgeous grey squirrel. Turned green with jealousy when Leone Wilson whipped around the corner in a knock-out black caracul sort of on the order of Jane Walcott's latest. I even started checking up on color schemes and found that three Chi O's may be distinguished by their Kelly green three piece suits. Jean Simonson, Mary Eisler, and tiny Margaret Mungler from the trio, Betty Van Horne sets off her golden hair with the last word in chic, a black velvet costume suit with gold satin blouse.

section, have been quite swamped with offers ever since. Some of the little gals were not received so well as Bill informed one, "We're quite able to get our own dates." The rub is that both young men were all dated up for that big event and were only having a little fun, so break up the waiting list girls.

THERE'S SOMETHING ABOUT A SOLDIER.

A date to the ball with an officer might not turn out what it's cracked up to be. You see the officers' new uniforms haven't arrived yet so they might have to trip down the aisle in monkey suit—awfully impressive, don't you think?

Some girl still has a chance for a date to the ball. Dick DeBrown just discovered yesterday that this event is fast approaching, and confessed that he thought it was a couple of months away.

BOY SCOUT MERRILL.

Mildred Kruse is so tiny that her feet won't touch the floor at dinner table. Merrill Englund, Kappa Sig who waits tables at the Chi O house evidently thought something ought to be done about the situation. So, a large fancy box was brought to the table. The girls, always on the outlook for a candy passing screamed in surprise when the big tag addressed to Mildred revealed the purpose of the box—a footstool for her itty bitty feet.

Unchecked Kosmet Klub Workers Meet Today

All Kosmet Klub workers who have not completed checking their ticket sales for the Fall Revue will meet in the Kosmet Klub rooms at 5 p. m. today.

Phi pledge Mary Stoddart one night last week and asked if he might come out to see her after study hours. The little gal statted with the excuse that that would be way past her bedtime. A few minutes later, Beta pledge, Herb Glover, called Mary with the same request and received a hearty invitation to "come right out." A pledge beating an active's time is really something.

You may think that this is where the story ended, but not at all. Doug clad in pajamas climbed into the car with Herb and they both turned up at Mary's house. It ought to be much easier for her to get together on her stories next time.

MASON TALKS AT CIVIL ENGINEERS' MEETING

Bridges Executive Explains New Responsibility Of Profession.

It will be the obligation of the generation of engineers now in universities to help secure and maintain harmony among labor, industry, and government in the years to come according to John G. Mason, state bridge engineer. Mason spoke last night before members of the Nebraska chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

"In the past, the engineering profession has played a leading part in the securing of sanitation and good health for the masses," stated Mr. Mason. "Now it must use its influence to secure comfort and happiness for them."

Lincoln Peace Council Secretary to Address Baptist Dinner Forum

"Pitfalls in Peace Thinking" will be the subject of the discussion for the Dinner Forum to be held Friday, November 19th, at the Baptist Student House, 1440 Que. Mr. Leon Thompson, Secretary of the Lincoln Peace Council, is the speaker. Dinner will be served at 6:00 p. m. and any interested student is invited to call Miss Grace Spacht, B-4862, for reservations.

Highlights On the Air

By Elwood Randol.

Jane Cowl, famous actress of the legitimate stage, will bring her artistry to the Kate Smith Variety Hour when she will be heard in the Maxwell Anderson drama, "Elizabeth, the Queen," this evening at 7 over KFAB.

George McNamera, custodian and guardian of the Constitution of the United States, and Anauta, an Eskimo woman and mother of three children, will be the featured guests of the We, the People program which is under direction of Gabriel Heatter. McNamera will tell many interesting facts regarding the historic document he guards, and will relate several anecdotes of the people who view the famous parchment. Anauta will tell stories of her people and of the amazing chain of circumstances which finally brought her to the United States.

Gags must be getting a little scarce in radio. At least this department noted that the same "joke" was pulled on two programs within an hour. Edward Everett Horton got it off first when he appeared as a guest on Al Jolson's show Tuesday night. Then, immediately following, Al Pearce got the gag off the second time. The joke? Well it was that old one about beating a man's liver with a stick.

Dave Elman, originator of Columbia's Hobby Lobby heard Wednesday evenings at 9:30 over KFAB, is five feet, six inches tall; weighs 153 pounds, has black hair and brown eyes. Hates women who are clinging vines. Doesn't like subways. Admires the works of Mark Twain, Longfellow and James Whitcomb Riley. He likes to fish whenever he gets a day off.

Senator Edward R. Burke of Nebraska will be one of the three speakers who will discuss "Whose Constitution?" during the American Town Meeting of the Air broadcast this evening at 8:30. No local station will carry the program which will be on the NBC Blue network, but it is likely that WENR, WLS, or WREN will have it. Others to speak on the broadcast are U. S. Solicitor General Stanley Reed, a staunch supporter of President Roosevelt's plan of court reorganization, and Norman Thomas, socialist, who favors an even more liberal policy than that advocated by the administration forces.

Skylines.

The newest lines on evening gowns are skylines, according to the latest fashion sensation introduced by Betty Winkler, NBC actress.

Miss Winkler designed and created a new flouncy, white chiffon evening gown with a photographic reproduction of the Chicago skyline, ten inches high, around the hem. The hem was sensitized with a photographic solution and the pictures printed on it in the same manner as regular photographic prints are made.

Fashion's newest designer is heard weekdays on the Girl Alone serial over the NBC red at 11 o'clock.

Code Letter.

Dear Mr. Cohan (Saturday Night Swing Session): "Well, a man has sure got to be high and solid in order to lay some powerful jive like I'm about to write you. I've been blowing my top and putting myself out and have been told I was a solid sender and a killer. I've been laying jive and talking viper talk since way back I'll bet I'll send the Swing club so high I'll break it up, if you only give me a chance. As I've told you before I've been told I was a solid sender who kills." J. B., Hoboken, N. J.

Translation.

J. B.'s letter, translated into the King's English, says: "Dear Mr. Cohan: A man must assuredly be possessed of a considerable faith in his own inability before recommending himself as unattingedly as I intend recommending myself in this letter. I have long been associated with jazz music, and as a result of indefatigable labors in this field I have earned the reputation of thrilling my audiences and of being, myself, a consummate master of improvisation. I have been actively engaged in swing music for many years now, and have always prided myself on the fact that I speak pure swing vernacular. I am willing to wager that if you should be so kind as to accord me an opportunity, I could play so sensationally that the Swing club audience would be transported and enraptured. To recapitulate, I should like once more to remind you that I have often been complimented on being a thorough musician who plays with ineffable virtuosity."

ADVANCED MUSIC GROUP PRESENTS CONVOCATION

Students Offer Selections By Eleven Noted Artists At Eighth Program.

The eighth music convocation held yesterday afternoon featured numbers by a group of advanced students. Perry Beach presented Brahms Sonata, Op. 5, Allegro Maestoso (first movement) and June Meek played Concerto in G major, Goltzman, and Cantilena's Allegro.

For the benefit of young fathers, the University of California has completed a schedule of baby's carrying habits which may enable parents to arrange their away-from-home programs. After the first month there is a four month lull when father may safely stay at home. After that there is about a year when baby's vocal cords get plenty of exercise.
