Iowa State	1	4	0	200	33 86

Games This Week.
 Thursday: Missouri vs. Kansas at Lawrence.
 Saturday: Nebraska vs. Kansas State at Manhattan; Missouri vs. U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles.

Results Last Week.
 Nebraska 28, Iowa 6.
 Iowa State 15, Kansas 7.
 Missouri 8, Washington (St. Louis) 0.
 Arizona 9, Kansas 7.
 Oklahoma 16, Oklahoma A. & M. 0.

Manhattan will be the center of grid hostilities this Saturday as Nebraska's gridmen drop the curtain on the 1937 season by tangling with the Kansas State Wildcats in a game that will decide the final outcome of the jumbled Big Six race.

As a result of its two wins, no defeats and two ties, Nebraska is leading the chase at 750 and is trailed by Oklahoma at 700. A triumph over the Kaggies this weekend will give the Huskers their third consecutive Big Six crown.

However, there are four other possibilities in which the battle for the conference diadem may terminate. Coach Tom Stidham's Sooners, who held the Huskers to a scoreless tie here, can have sole ownership of the flag if Kansas State reverses Nebraska and Missouri beats Kansas.

Sooners, Huskers Can Share.
 If Mentor Adrian Lindsey's Jayhawks, who battled Nebraska to a 13-13 tie, lose to Missouri this Thursday at Lawrence and the Huskers tie Kansas State, the Jonesmen and the Oklahoma Sooners will share the title.

Kansas and Oklahoma will be co-champs if Kansas wins and Nebraska loses. Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska will own the championship if Kansas triumphs over Missouri and Kansas State has a deadlock with the Cornhuskers.

Monday's practice was devoted to perfecting pass defense and offense as Major Jones ushered out three full teams on the varsity field. The aerial heaves, which worked so effectively in last Saturday's 28-0 rout of Iowa, were propelled by Thurston Phelps and Johnny Howell.

Squad Sees Pictures.
 After the practice, Coach Jones hid the graders to the conference room where they were shown pictures of last year's Nebraska-Kansas State game, which the Huskers won handily, 40-0.

UNsung GRID HEROES GET PLAUDITS.

BY MORRIS LIPP.

That perpetually grinning guard, Lowell English, whose forward wall activities pass unnoticed by those grid-goofs who have eyes only for the man with the pig-skin, lost his Cheshire cat countenance once this season. That was when he failed to split the up-rights with a point after touchdown in the 13-13 Kansas stalemate.

Eight other times, thrice last Saturday, he booted perfectly to swall the Cornhusker. From Lincoln Journal score by eight points. Placekicking is but one of his gifts. Those close to the midweek scrimmages and Saturday pleups know full well how effective his blocking and tackling can be when injuries aren't slowing him down. It takes a lot of grit to come out of one of those muscle massaging dopplies with a grin.

Scrapping and submerging his way thru rival lines to get at the ball totter, Guard Bobby Mehring merits orchids for his work as Nebraska's watch charm guard, not in one particular game but for his courageous play all season.

If you've been watching those line pleups this season, you have noticed that about the last man to pick himself up from the mass of legs and arms is a tiny lad with a grimy number 11 on his back.

Old Man Graduation, the grim reaper of grid acad, may put a crimp into the 1938 Husker aggregation. Thurston Phelps, slated to take Johnny Howell's field general post next year, may lose out on a year's varsity competition, if he passes his freshman law subjects this year as he's been passing that inflated leather into the arms of receivers. The Exeter forward pass expert got thru his requirements in the sciences college in his first two years of Nebraska while playing frosh football.

The Big Six rulebook says that when you're eligible for a degree—as Phelps will be if he gets thru his first year in law school—you are ineligible for football, even if the degree is not accepted. The rule may be circumvented if Phelps flunks (which this heady man won't do) or if he just fails to take enough hours to get that A. B. degree. 'Tis a sorrowful rub when education and athletics conflict like this, but methinks the call to both duties is equally strong and will result in seeing Phelps back in the mole-skins, worrying over law case utterances that will escape the Brown Derby award.

K-State Fullbacks Groom for Huskers

Four ambitious young fullbacks have been spending the whole season at Kansas State trying to fill the shoes of Maurice "Red" Elder, for three years an all-star Big Six fullback. Head Coach Wes Fry, former All-American from Iowa, has been working in all four at the spot. Fred Klemp, Bob Briggs, Elmer Hackney and James Brock have given Coach Fry a formidable quartet from which to draw. They'll all probably see action Saturday against Biff Jones' Cornhuskers who have only the Manhattanites to conquer for a Big Six title championship.

Husker Chances for Supremacy In Big Six Conference Will Hinge On Saturday Fray at Manhattan with 700, the result of three wins, one defeat and a like number of stalemates.

Twelve Seniors Lost.
 In the Manhattan game will be 12 seniors attired for the last time in Husker mole-skins. Those who will make the bon voyage are Elmer Dohrmann, Staplehurst; Paul Amen, Lincoln, and John Richardson, Eau Claire, Wis., ends; Ted Doyle, Curtis, and Fred Shirey, Latrobe, Pa., tackles; Bob Mehring, Grand Island; Lowell English, Lincoln; Perry Franks, Hamburg, Ia., and Gus Peters, Lexington, guards; Art Ball, Fremont; John Howell, Omaha, and Harris Andrews, Beatrice, backs.

With the exception of Charley Brock, who has another season of competition remaining, the '37 line will be riddled by the surge of graduation, six members of the forward wall being lost after Saturday's title game.

The Nebraska gridmen, perched atop the Big Six conference with two triumphs, no defeats and two ties, face Kansas State Nov. 27 at Manhattan in their finale. The Huskers' chances of winning their third consecutive conference title hinge on Saturday's fray.

At present, the Nebraska pace the loop with a percentage of 750 and are followed by Oklahoma

FIRST ROUND WATER POLO ENDS TONIGHT

Sig Nu-Phi Gam, DU-S. A. E. Splashes Inaugurate Second Matches.

The first round of the interfraternity water polo tournament will be completed tonight in the varsity pool when Sigma Nu, who won their first game over Phi Delta Theta 10 to 4, will meet Phi Gamma Delta who drew a first round bye. This game will start at 7 o'clock. The other game scheduled for tonight is the Delta Upsilon-Sigma Alpha Epsilon tilt. The Sig Alphas won their first game by defeating Kappa Sigma 10 to 3 while the DU's drew a first round bye. The only other first round game left to be played is the Delta Tau Delta-Phi Kappa Alpha tilt, which has been postponed indefinitely.

In the other first round games played last week, the Acadians romped Alpha Gamma Rho 23 to 5, the Chi Eps decided Sigma Chi 14 to 1, Phi Kappa Psi defeated Sigma Phi Epsilon 12 to 4, and Alpha Tau Omega nipped Theta Xi 7 to 3. In the other scheduled game, Beta Theta Pi won by forfeit from Xi Psi Phi.

Lipseom Begins Index Cornhusker Pictures: Deadline Set at Dec. 1

Bob Lipscomb, index editor of the Cornhusker, has started the index of all the names of the students whose pictures will appear in the annual. The deadline for the pictures has been set for Dec. 1. All members of the sororities and fraternities who have not had their pictures taken will be called indefinitely.

Statistics at the University of Wisconsin extension division show that persons from 4 to 49 years of age are better students than youths of 15 to 19. The older students received 24 A's and three D's in college courses, compared to 17 A's and 12 D's for the younger group.
