

EXPLAINING REASONS FOR LITTLE GREEK PUBLICITY.

Once again the Greeks squeak because we do not speak of their play unique. In fact they seek the publicity leak. (What about that raise?)

It seems that the intramural department, a smooth functioning office, has built up interest higher than the proverbial kite. Every fan who belongs to a fraternity in the running, looks first for the intramural summaries and then at the major sports, and that's a fact.

Already one sport has been completed, another will be over tonight, and a third started this week. Football came to an end several weeks ago as Sigma Nu topped the Sig Eps. The finals of water polo, one of the toughest sports in the realm, will be played tonight between the Sig Alpha's and the Sigma Nu's.

The explanation for the lack of publicity is juvenile, but true. The water polo games are played, as are volleyball and basketball and the poor fresher who is responsible for compounding the dissertations on the sports, sometimes cannot afford to desert his Caesar or math long enough to cover and then write them all in one night.

Explanation two includes the final completion of the story. It then goes to the Journal, where this sheet is printed. The sports page is made up at approximately 2 a. m. in the morning and the news editor responsible thinks only of that soft and luscious feather-bed at home.

Caging is underway and the Husker court really looks professional. The cagers are decked out in little red riding hood hues.

By means of a central power unit carried on the carriage of the big bass drum, the entire band of 100 pieces is lighted up with neon and bulb lights for night marching.

With the football stadium dark, the band makes a startling appearance—trombones outlined with red neon and bass horns circled in blue neon, the college colors.

Centered in the marching unit is the big drum, with a neon circle enclosing a neon "Fresno State" on top.

COLLEGIATE WRITERS LIST SHIREY, HOWELL, DOHRMANN ON BIG SIX

Brock, Dodd Make Berths On Mythical Second String Team.

Elmer Dohrman, Fred Shirey and Johnny Howell earned berths on the annual Intercollegiate Writers' All-Big Six football team.

Charley Brock and Jack Dodd ranked on the second squad while Paul Amen, Bob Mehring, Lowell English and Ted Doyle received honorable mention.

Fred Shirey and Pete Smith, the latter of Oklahoma, each received 30 votes to lead team aspirants. Points were awarded on the basis of 5 for first team, 3 for the second, and 1 for honorable mention.

Those on the first outfit are Pete Smith, Oklahoma, and Elmer Dohrman, ends; Fred Shirey, Nebraska, and Tony Kreuger, Kansas State, tackles; Ed Bock, Iowa State, and Maurice Kirk, Missouri, guards; Mickey Parks, Oklahoma, center; Johnny Howell, Nebraska, quarterback; Jack Baer, Oklahoma, and Edward Cleveland, Kansas State, halfbacks; Clarence Douglass, Kansas, fullback.

Second Team Strong. The second eleven is composed of Waddy Young, Oklahoma, and Clyde Nelson, Missouri, ends; Louis Ward, Kansas, and Frank Heidel, Missouri, tackles; Clarence Dee, Iowa State, and George Stapleton, Kansas, guards; Charley Brock, Nebraska, center; Everett Kischer, Iowa State, quarterback; Jack Dodd, Nebraska, and Woody Huddleston, Oklahoma, halfbacks, and Elmer Hackney, Kansas State, fullback.

Vic Lundemo, sports editor of the Missouri Student, official student publication at the University of Missouri, was in charge of this year's poll. Sports scribes from all Big Six school publications were asked to submit their first and second teams.

DR. SHUSTERMAN LAUDS PROPHETS FOR MORAL ORDER (Continued from Page 1.)

Israel who, thru their writings in the Old Testament, laid a foundation for the building of a moral, social order. Paraphrasing a line from the film, "Emile Zola," he said, "Israel has been a moment in the conscience of each era of mankind."

"Why," he asked, "have the Hittites, the Babylonians, the Caledonians, the Persians and the Greeks become only memories, while tiny Israel alone has survived to become one of the most enigmatic facts of human history?" Israel lived because it produced great prophets. While other nations passed from periods of growth and maturity to decay and extinction, Israel produced prophets who brought about a moral restoration and rejuvenation of the people and they were able to survive many periods of decline and seeming disintegration.

Referring to deal with the psychological rather than the metaphysical aspects of prophecy, Shusterman described the main types of prophets and their methods of influencing the race. "The early prophets characterized by Moses and Samuel were purely mechanical. They thought of God as external to man and acted merely as instruments of the state in conveying to the people what had been revealed to them as the word of God.

Speakersmen of Truth. "The later prophets were not instruments of the state but spokesmen of the truth as they saw it. They were advocates of self denial and sounded the first moral note into Jewish prophecy. In this group were both false prophets and true prophets. The former were opportunists or "success prophets." Their philosophies were one-sided, for they told the kings what they wished to know regardless of moral implications.

"The true prophets, on the other hand, preached the doctrine that 'God will bring destruction not only on our enemies but also on us for our immorality and dishonesty.' They advocated that the Israelites forsake the civilized life of Palestine and return to the simpler, pastoral type of existence. The prophecies of Amos, Isaiah, and Jeremiah made immense moral contributions to human life.

Kansas State Approves Commercial Broadcasts

The Kansas State College athletic council recently approved the plan of permitting commercial companies to broadcast Kaggie home football games for a small fee. However, the council reserved the right to fix the number and length of commercials to be used during the course of the contests.

GREEKS OPEN PLAY IN VOLLEY BALL TOURNEY

22 Teams See Action as First Round Playoffs Begin in Coliseum.

The inter-fraternity volley ball round robin got under way at the coliseum Tuesday night. This year there are five leagues and all are composed of five teams with the exception of league five which has six teams. Teams in all leagues saw action Tuesday night.

In league one Phi Kappa Alpha won the first two of three games from Lambda Chi Alpha to win. In the other league one tilt, Alpha Gamma Rho defeated the Chi Phi's. In league two Sigma Alpha Epsilon defeated Phi Delta Theta and Alpha Sigma Phi defeated Delta Tau Delta. Phi Gamma Delta came from behind to win the last two games and decision Sigma Alpha Mu in one league three tilt. The A. T. O.'s defeated Delta Upsilon in the other league three contest. In league four Phi Kappa Psi defeated Sigma Chi and Beta Sigma Psi downed the Farm House crew. The three contestants played in league five saw Phi Sigma Kappa win over Zeta Beta Tau, the Kappa Sigs edge the Betas, and Sigma Nu decision the Acadians.

Sacha Guitry, French Star, Leads Life of Sensations

There the great French actor put his son on the stage almost as soon as he could talk. Sacha's rise was not meteoric. He attended 12 schools and was considered backward in all of them. "At his last school, the master wanted to expel him, but could not because the 17 year old boy had not been at home or at school for five years."

A few hours before his first important part in a play (one produced by his father) Sacha became interested in reading a new play and let the time slip by. His costume required time to be put on; but the time was gone. Losing his wig, he rushed onto the stage out of breath, in half costume and with his helmet dropping down over his eyes and ears, just in time to be greeted by Helen. "Here comes my beautiful Paris." Actors, audience and all burst into laughter. His father was furious and a quarrel followed.

Laughed Off Stages.

Sacha then took his own separate way, leaving his father. Overanxious to please he failed miserably and was laughed off the Parisian and continental stages. He countered with a stage hit when he was 20 and slowly climbed up the rungs of success. He married the famous actress Yvonne Printemps and with her as his leading lady he played triumphantly between 1919 and 1932. Then came the divorce. At present Sacha's leading lady, who does not play in "Pasteur," is Jacquiline Delubac, his "lovely, dark haired" third wife.

In 1918 his 13 year quarrel with his father was patched up and at last he believed he had found an actor capable of incarnating such a character as Pasteur—his father. The idea of writing the play had been haunting him for two years and when it was at last possible he sat down and wrote it, an act a day, in five days. It is this play, which was a great success with his father in the title role, that Sacha Guitry is sending to America in film form.

Blum Praises Ability.

About the great actor-producer-playwright Leon Blum says in the Theater Arts Monthly: "Nothing constrains him. But his audacity is tranquil, and never admits of challenge. He has aplomb, but not insolence. He is never frightened, never halted by the subject which he broaches, by the types he perceives, by the words that come spontaneously to his mind...and it is thanks to this unconsciousness of difficulty or danger that his freedom is never affected or cynical. Nothing is rarer than such a gift, not only in a playwright, but in any artist... He has gone as far as it is possible to go, because he is a man who follows his subject just as far as it chooses to carry him."

Fifty-two year old world famous Sacha Guitry, writer, producer and actor is the man who takes the part of Pasteur in the film which he wrote and which he produced. It is this picture that the French department is sponsoring Dec. 11 at the Varsity theater. The picture contains subtitles in English to help the beginning French student and the person who does not speak French.

Johnston Snipes Scoops With Doomed Squad Story

(Continued from Page 1.) barracks where 150 doomed Chinese soldiers were holding out. Covering retreat of the Chinese from that area, they had been trapped in the warehouse practically in the British defense sector on Chapel border.

Curfew at Ten-Thirty. "We have really not been in any grave danger at any time," Snipes wrote his fraternity brothers Oct. 31, via China Clipper, "because we always stay inside when any Chinese planes fly in to bomb the Japanese warships in the Whangpoo. We don't trust the Japanese any more than the Chinese, tho, as both are rotten marksmen."

He told of curfew ringing at 10:30 every night as a signal for rooftop and garden cabarets to close down, of watching air raids and cannonading from the glass windowed walls of the Park hotel bar, and standing on the verandah of the Country club to see Japanese fliers die down on Nantao and drop their load of "eggs."

Escape from Death.

Later letters relate the steady advance of the Japanese troops, firing upon British Tommies guarding the settlement, the blasting of the Cathay hotel by stray shells, the fall of Nantao. Describing the fall of Nantao, Snipes tells of careening thru cobblestoned streets into the danger zone, of following a Twentieth Century Fox newsreel man down backalleys past crowds of beggars and refugees, thru a hole ploughed in a brick wall. He saw the fighting from the sidelines, behind a sand-bag barricade. It was when he was climbing to the top of a water tower to join other reporters there that machine gun fire was turned on the tower and his newshawk friend killed.

Elsewhere in his letters, Snipes recounts a 36 hour stretch at the cable desk, a night spent in jail for violating the curfew laws, and the meeting of such journalistic celebrities as Knickerbocker and Collier's Jim Marshall.

America Too Often Duped.

"I read with cynical amusement that Japanese and Russian troops have clashed on the Manchoukuan border and that Italy has recalled her ambassador at Paris," Snipes concludes a letter to his fraternity brothers in Lincoln. "It appears that the whole world has gone beserk."

"If it is within the power of any of you to do just a little to keep our country out of war which will bring us neither glory nor profit, for all that is precious to you, do it. America has been the goat in this sort of scrap too often."

He will be announced at the first annual Associated Women Students ball. All girls in the university were asked to list four men in order of preference as escorts for the evening. The man whose name was listed most times as "preferred" will be "king" of the ball.

WAA NEBRASKA BALL ALL-STARS CLASH FOR SUPREMACY TONIGHT

Two Teams Composed of 20 Best Players Meet At 7 in Armory.

Scarlet will meet cream in a battle of all-stars Thursday night at 7 p. m. when the two varsity Nebraska ball teams selected by the W. A. A. play for the championship.

The two teams, scarlet and cream, are each made up of ten W. A. A. members who stood out as outstanding in the recent Nebraska ball tourney. They were chosen from all individuals and groups participating on a three-fold basis of skill, sportsmanship, and sports modishness.

The game tonight promises to be exciting since both teams are evenly divided with good net and service players. Any spectators wishing to see the game are invited to do so. It will begin promptly at 7 in Grant Memorial.

Each musician has a red or blue light on his cap and movable lights at the hip which swing as he marches to light up bright red trouser legs.

Famed as a Golden Gloves boxing champion, Charles Miegel returns to defend laurels he won at last season's all-school wrestling tourney. Miegel won a gold medal in the lightweight division by edging out his crosby, Leland Clare, who will also be back in harness this Friday.

Ned Anderson Returns. Ned Anderson, runner-up last year in the 165 pound division, is well prepared to meet all competition, of which there will be plenty. Anderson is making a strong bid for the 165 pound berth on the varsity team which has been vacated by Don "Flash" Flanick, who completed his competition last spring and is now in the pro ranks.

Gold medals will be given to winners and silver awards to runners-up. There is no admission for this one-day program and everyone is welcome to watch the neophytes in action.

The queen situation became so complicated at Kent State college that the student council took matters in hand and abolished three queens. Henceforth the only legal titles are those of Homecoming Queen, Queen of the May, and Miss Kent State.

SIG NU, SIG ALF FIGHT FOR POLO CROWN TONIGHT

Both Teams Possess Many Vets, Strong Offensive Attack.

Two strong stroking water polo teams, Sig Alf and Sigma Nu, will take the coliseum tank to battle for the intramural aquatic supremacy of the university tonight at 8 p. m.

Having eliminated all other foes in their path, the two houses have churned their way into the finals of one of the most competitive water polo tourneys in the history of the department. Both teams are comprised of three year veterans and both have been finalists during the last two years.

In their semi-final engagement, Sig Alf disposed of Phi Kappa Psi with a 12 to 8 dunking. In that tussle Chet Fleishbaugh, Bill Lowwick, and Bob Burruss stood out. Their punch appears mostly in a powerful offensive drive.

Sigma Nu, the other finalist, floored Aecia in their last game 18 to 4 as Howard Austin and Everett Deger scintillated. The white star merman feature a well oiled attack that is deadly on touch goals.

BULLETIN Archery Club. Archery club will meet in Grant Memorial hall at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon. All members are urged to be present for the start of the shooting tourney.

Barb Interclub Council. Members of the Barb Interclub council are urged to attend an important meeting Monday at 7:30 in University hall. The new constitution for the Barb council will come up for final vote.
