Coeds Show No Mercy For Vice Versa Dates

By Mary Anna.

Girls, the worm has turned and now it's time for us to brush up on our escorting technique. We'll probably have to do some hasty brushing though because by Friday night we're supposed to be old smoothies at the business, even though we have only one chance a year to strut our stuff. You may lay it to beginner's luck, but we expect to have a wheel of a time even though we are footing the bills.

You're most likely racking your brains just now for something original in the corsage line. Take a word of advice from the voice of experience and don't try garlic. Always remember that you have to dance with it (the garlic I mean) all evening. And for transportation you won't like roller skates. They are apt to get pretty chilly unless you have your love to keep you warm. In that case anything goes. Claudine Burt is even considering rolling Bill Sackett back home in a baby buggy.

Walking Never Crowded.

However, I kind of like the Theta pledges' idea of hiring a bus for the occasion. After the ball is over the little girls plan to have the driver serve refreshments so that the dates can't wreck their vengeance by ordering a lot of stuff. Dorothy Swoboda and Marjorie Schick are calling for their men via a taxi, but there's a catch to it. The girls are wearing hiking boots and ear muffs so the walk home won't be too cold.

Irene Sellers instead of coming in with the milkman will take him with her to spend the evening. She's borrowing a "bitter nutter" cart, and just in case they get thirsty they're bringing milk. And that little Chi O pledge, Dixie Davis, has a horse and buggy all dated up for the occasion with a cactus corsage for the man she's bringing.

Fragrant Corsages.

Hokey Weaver has a brilliant idea. Ned Anderson, who fairly haunts the hotel D, will receive a nice juicy wimpy pretty well garnished with grilled onions and pickles and topped by a veil of cheese cloth. This concoction, the young man is supposed to wear on his head, but it sounds sort of drippy to me. Speed Smyth sends her date a corsage of his favorite brand of cigarettes, and Helen Burnham, the ruthless, one of garlic. Frannie Boldman has chosen an anklet of posies instead of the usual wristlets. So when you see Adna Dobson, you'll know it's not just his garter coming down.

Alice Black, Ruth Minor, Dorothy Williams, and Evelyn Adams are carting Bob Mowbray, Piny Moodie, Bob Ammon and Marston Reed to the affair in an ambulance which was once used in an Armistice Day parade, and has no doubt seen better days.

Some bright persons suggested sending a clinging vine to the object of your affections, (or maybe I should say your date). And from another source we learned of the flower pot idea, the pot to be balanced on the head of the unlucky victim. But that, too, has its drawbacks. What if the thing fell off and conked the unlucky girl on the head. Yes, we have to be careful.

Take Your Choice.

And girls, there are some really very nice fellows left that don't have dates. I can't see why they aren't going because they simply reek of personality. Besides, they have just lots to offer and ought to be a wonderful date for some deserving girl. There's Ralph Reed who drives the most beautiful big Buick, and Orval Hager, whose Pontiac isn't bad at all, and

Ray Elliott's pin a couple of years ago, is expected to renew the siege. But Alpha Phi's fears were dispelled when the two burst into the house of late and elatedly announced that Nebraska representatives on the West team promised to come around while on the coast. Well, they can be assured that the girls will be around Lincoln for awhile next semester anyway.

AS JOHNNY SEES IT.

Come zero weather and those sympathetic souls who truly appreciate an occasional round of down-to-point conversation are wondering what will become of Charlie, the barber. To really appreciate Charlie's sparring wit they find that they must spend at least an hour and four bits with him to get the maximum benefit from the sitting. This usually means a cut which resembles a cue ball and deprives the boys of a little windbreak. Only Bob Wadhams, business manager of the rag, continues to spend the allotted time with Charlie and that is only because he usually has enough hair when he goes in that Charlie has to whack for an hour to make it look like Bob had been near a barber shop.

Girls of Kappag might be able to promote a little money if they would start a pool on the day when Betty Meyer will quit wearing anklets. Elder sister Sarah tells me that Betty sticks her head out the door each morning and then mumbles, "Gosh, it's cold! Whereupon she wraps a scarf around her head and wades through a couple of feet of snow in oxfords and anklets. I guess that makes ladies out of ski suit wearing toolies.

Members of Alpha Phi were worrying about the loss of a couple of their gals via the marriage route during Christmas vacation. Eva Jane Sinclair and Virginia Pederson have announced their intention of trekking to the west coast for vacation. Somewhere along the Pacific, Eva Jane has an old D. U. flame and Virginia, who was the proud bearer of Delt Expect Gordon Delegation.

The Gordon delegation will probably set an all time record for miles traveled to attend an all state football rally. Gordon is in the far western part of Nebraska. C. G. Hillyer, coach there, wrote in response to his invitation that he would attend, but was in doubt as to the number of men whom he would be allowed to bring. Emmet Junge, general chairman of the affair, wrote back that any man who would travel the whole length of the state to attend, was entitled to bring his entire team. Junge says that Gordon's team will probably be given honor places at the rally.

A complete program has been arranged to have something happening every minute from 11 a. m. until 10:30 p. m., the date of this rally. "We have a bang up program for the boys," said Junge, "and it is one that will fill every minute of their time during the day's rally with fun and profit to be long remembered."

Governor, Mayor, to Welcome.

The day's activities will begin with registration at the chamber of commerce building at 11 a. m. A luncheon will be served to all the delegates at noon at the commerce building. Governor Cochran, Mayor Copeland, and B. I. Noble, junior chamber of commerce president, will officially welcome the group at this time.

Coach Jones will introduce the Nebraska Wesleyan coaches and termen and Dwight Thomas will perform the same function for the Nebraska Wesleyan coaches and senior players. Miss Margaret McKay, Nebraska Sweetheart, will then be presented to the group. Several songs will be sung by the Wesleyan Girls Trio, and Bruce Wallace, university student, will play several bagpipe solos. Awards will be presented to all

THE WEATHER

Interest Mounts Yearly In Mortar Board Affairs

With the third party held Dec. 15, 1934, it was decided by the Mortar Boards to make the leap year party a traditional affair. Formal dress was given to dance until 12:00. The Mortar Boards and their dates held a dinner before the party at the University Club, and the table decorations were in the Christmas motif. The 1935 party was held on Dec. 14, and permission was granted by the Sub-committee on Social Functions to hire an out-of-state orchestra, which was to cost no more than $200. Paul Nielsen's orchestra was engaged to play.

Most Elaborate of the Mortar Board parties was the one held in 1935, when gorgeous corsages and favors were sent to the gentle dates, a tradition which is to be carried over into this year.

THE SCIENTIFIC APPROACH

To the long evening of studying should be made in one of MANGEL'S woolen or quilted house coats. It is simple to assure yourself of high grades at the end of the semester, if you do your studying feeling warm and contented. For the inevitable chat sessions, the pass-words are "house coat from MANGEL'S." And just a word of warning, be sure that your room-mate has one, too, or you'll be shivering in the cold if she comes up from dinner first. It's MANGEL'S for dresses, suits, coats, hosiery and lingerie.
