'High Tor' Receives Praise From First Nighter Critic

Mueller, Albin Take Acting Honors in University Players Fantasy.

By Fern Steuteville. "High Tor" is a confusing play. It is listed as a comedy, but it remains a mystery. When the Players presented the show last night, miraculously minus most of the usual first night boners...

Jenks Plays Indian Role. An open stage, the lower half the rugged peak of the mountain Tor and above, the blue-black sky between sunset and sunrise...

phantom Dutchmen of the sixteenth century, too healthy to be good spooks, crept around thru the rocks; three bank robbers appeared as from a dime novel...

Dutchmen Bowl Fireballs. It is a noble effort for student actors to try to give a convincing characterization of the old crew of the Onrust. The Dutchmen have lived on the same mountain for 300 years...

tain of the Onrust, with Waldemar Mueller, who is the rugged, civilization loathing owner of the mountain, standing together on the peak at dawn just before the phantom crew leaves on the phantom ship...

Audience Feels Sympathy. Save for the Indian who wisely says, "Nothing is made by men but makes in end good ruins..." and for the shadowy Dutch crew...

REGENTS WEIGH CHOIR ALLIANCE WITH UNIVERSITY

Barb Council Supports. Further student support in favor of the proposal was advanced when the Barb council met last Thursday afternoon and unanimously voted to extend a "hearty approval of the action of the Student Council in regard to encouraging the Board of Regents to accept the Choir as a university organization."

The petition presented by the Student Council with the signature of every member attached asked that the board do one thing for the Great Cathedral Choir; provide a room that it can definitely call its own. The Choir, under the direction of John Rosborough, has offered to pay any expense that it will incur outside of its upkeep of its room.

First Big Thing. "This is the first big thing that the university has been offered for some time," William Clayton, student council member in charge of the petition, stated. "This Choir, if we can say that it is part of the university, will really put this institution on the map. Right now the Choir is singing material that only three or four other famous choirs in the country are singing."

"We must make it clear that the Choir is not asking to be taken into the university," Clayton added. "It is asking whether or not the university would like to have it. Members of the Student Council feel that the Choir has more to offer the university in the form of publicity and fame than the university has to offer it."

Extended Eastern Tours. The Lincoln Cathedral Choir for a time sang at a large church in Lincoln. When too many people began to believe that the Choir was composed entirely of members of that sect, it became the organization of its present form. Last year the Choir took an extended trip thru the East, singing before the most cultured in that part of the country. Last Christmas vacation its itinerary which included appearances on the Ford Sunday Evening hour and Rudy Valle's program, fell thru when another of its sponsors postponed the appearance.

The organization is considered to be one of the three or four best in the country at the present time.

at least 27 hours credit in the university, and must be in good standing in all hours this semester.

Henpecked Husband in Hell. "Hades Ladies" is a two act fantasy, concerning Elmer Smithers, a henpecked husband who earns his living writing bedtime stories for children.

After quarrelling one evening with his wife, he falls asleep and dreams of the place his wife told him he could go.

Elmer wakes up in the reception room of Satan's palace on a festive evening. A plot to overthrow Satan, in which Elmer becomes involved, is included in the story.

A complete cast of speaking characters as given in the script.

which was written by John Edwards is as follows:

- Flotsam and Jetsam, two spirits, as spirits go. Elmer Smithers, a husband, as husband go. Key Smithers, a wife, as wives go. Junior Smithers, a boy, as boys go. Charon, the old ferryman on the river Styx. Satan, ruler of the underworld. Jingo, a radical devil. Rezebub, the prince of the devils. Nicodemus, (the old Nick), a gentleman's gentleman, and Satan's servant. Jonathan O'Hara Appletree, another husband. Harold Smooch, a young man, as young men go. Patience Darling, a sweet young thing. Persephone, a lady of Hades and queen of the Netherworld. April, May and June, three ladies of Hades. Old Scratch, a bailiff, as bailiffs go.

Dr. H. K. Schilling of Union college will address the university society of Sigma Xi Feb. 21 at 7:30 p. m. in the lecture room of the physics building "On the Properties of Waves."

Musical Footnotes

The university symphony orchestra, climaxing a period of unusual musical activity, will be heard this morning on the Charter Day program, along with Dorothy Canfield Fisher, one of Nebraska's distinguished contributions to the field of literary art.

For today's musical program, the orchestra will open with the overture "Euryanthe," by Von Weber, the German composer. Two Slavonic dances by Dvorak, in A flat and C major, will serve to liven up the proceedings...

We hope that a large number will take advantage of the opportunities to be enjoyed by participation in "Billy" Quick's University Players orchestra. In addition to seeing all Players productions without cost, you will find that this group offers excellent chances for ensemble work, since it is small enough for each musician to re-avail in larger organizations.

The recital program for tomorrow will be presented by Doris Foreman, piano student of Herbert Schmidt, who is giving her senior recital at this time. Reflecting the apparent local preference for Bach, Miss Foreman will open her program with his Fantasy in C minor.
