Editorially Speaking

The Political Pot Boils

It's another day full of significance for the campus's politically minded persons. It is a day of consternation, of regret, of high hopes, and, to some, of victory. When students go to the polls today they will mark their choice for Ivy day orator, list the men whom they believe eligible for Innocents, and put either their favor or condemnation on the men's point system plan introduced by the student council.

Who the recipients of the election laurels are will not be nearly as significant as the student turnout at the polls and the energy with which this spring's political pot has boiled. Those elected represent either the backing of a large portion of the student body or will merely signify the success of a political faction. The former representation would be the most ideal and truly democratic result, but previous elections have shown a trend toward letting the political factions dominate the situation. Political parties may be necessary, but they should not be the qualifications on which candidates may ride into office.

It is a bit idealistic to even suggest that caudidates should be elected by what could actually be called the popular vote of the student body, especially when only about onesixth of the student body ever takes enough interest in an election to bother to go to the polls. Of the students who do go to the polls it would be safe to guess that a portion of these go poorly prepared and vote purely on personal prejudice or with little thought. The Daily Nebraskan in past years has always maintained that the basis for, voting should be a man's merit. It is time again to affirm that idea. For after Ivy day students will have the opportunity to observe the candidates for Innocents and Ivy day orator and determine for themselves which are the most qualified for positions

The larger portion of the student body reflects the opinion that "you can't get around politics anyway you look at it so why bother to even go to the polls." As long as that sentiment is allowed to hold sway and is accepted in the usual lackadaisical manner, students can't hope to change the political situation on the campus. Only when the majority of students maintain and display enough interest to go to the polls will the political pot cease to boil with such vigor.

It may sound a bit inane to try to offer a few suggestions to follow in casting your votes at the polls, but the suggestions still remain valid in spite of the way they are constantly ignored. Bringing student thought to center on a few of these suggestions might arouse at least a moment's concentration on candidate's qualifications before the ballot is marked haphazardly. Good student government and administration are dependent upon a proper realization by the electorate of the issues involved. It is therefore the duty of the student to investigate each candulate and vote for the most qualified. In consideration they should seek intelliger ansible leaders who have not only shown themselves to be leaders in the last three years but who have definite ideas that they stand for.

The settlement of this important question remains up to the student body. Will the political pot boil merrily on or will a large turnout at the polls quench the fire under the pot and ruin the results of the political mixture?

the musical organizations

Men Cast Ballots Today

(Continued From Fage 1.)

favor a men's activity point sys-tem "." This does not mean that if it passes, some system will be

From the 25 with the high

ENTRIES FOR IVY DAY SING BY APRIL 21ST

SORORITIES TO FILE

Houses by A.W.S. Board, Sponsors of Event.

Preliminary plans for the intersorority sing, a traditional feature of Ivy day, were revealed inst. night in letters sent to organized women's houses.

Irene Sellers, A. W. S. board member in charge of the sing, announced Thursday, April 21, as the deadline for entries in the contest. All entries must reach Mrs. Westover's desk in Ellen Smith hall by noon on that date, accompanied by a fee of $1, which will go toward defraying expenses of out of town judges. The names of those who will direct the various entrants must also be included in the fil-ing, said Miss Sellers.

Rules Given.

Rules effective in this year's contest Rules effective in this year's content are:

Each girl participating most be carrying 12 hours in the university.
Alturation of the university.
Annual cannot take networks part but may avoid in the preparation.
Berefor and accompanying most be maintened.
Each screenity and runshed in the university.
Each screenity and runshed in the movement.
A majority of the control in the group, instant of a quarter or order.
A movement is immediate in the group, instant of a quarter or order.
A movement of the screening and hand, ready then their ture contex.
A contribute most be lined as an and the group.
A movement ture contex.
A contribute most be lined as an and the start of the university.

In the intersorority sing of last Kappa Alpha Theta was deemed best by the judges.

Eighty-four students from five high schools of the University of Nebraska school region will be entertained by the chamber of commerce today. Miltonvale, Kas, Letters Sent to Organized leads with a group of 32; Miller, Neb., sends 18, Blair, 10, Blanchard, Ia., 10, and Gravity, Ia., 14, Monday, representatives from Poif, Ia., Modale, Ia., Homer, Neb., and Herman, Neb. ate their lunch in the Chamber of Commerces building where they got acquainted with songs and cheers.

FIVE HIGH SCHOOLS 'SNEAK'

84 Senior Students Visit

Capitol, University.

The groups come to Lincoln on their senior "sneak days" to get acquainted with Nebraska's capital city and its educational plants. The begins in February in reflow sponse to letters of invitation sent out by the chamber of commerce, and ends only with the closing of school for the summer. Two weeks ago the visits became daily.

CAPITAL CITY NEWS" · ORPHE Saturday! Edw. G. ROBINSON in "A Slight Case of Murder"

Student Pulse

Here's How Wishbone

To the Editor

Until Friday this looked like the annual pre-election squabble over tion as Barb leaders. Earbs, doomed to traditional fail-ure. But Friday something hap-pened! Definite questions were pened! Definite questions were tryman, the Ag College Boarding noked- definite action taken. Here club, the Ag cafeteria board, and at last was that measure of defi-on the Farmer's Fair board are the niteness which has been so lacking in Barb movements.

Eager Barbs assembled Friday. whipped into shape a plan. Friend-ly Greeks offered suggestions. Farticular attention was paid to these questions, asked by Wish-tone last Friday:

How should Barbs organize? Will Barb votes get Barb recogmition 1

Who are the Barb leaders?

The Barbe are organizing with the Barb Inter-Club council as the nucleus. Calling committees, to keep the Barbe informed on matters of interest, have been named and are acting. When the Barbs were affiliated with a faction, many barb votes helped put that faction's candi-dates into office. Organized inde-been a member of the Chicago faculty. Prior to that date he had

Daily Nebraskan Entered as second-class matter at the Entered as second-class matter at the Entered as second-class matter at the postorfice in Lincoln. Nubrasan, under act of congress March 3. 1876 and at superal mate of postinge provides for in section 1203, act of October 3, 1917, authorized Janu-iry 20, 1022 tivities reveals more Barbs are prominent than is generally realized. Without naming names, at-tention may be called to Barb leaders prominent on the city cam-pus on the publications board, the Student Union board, and the Student Council,

Leaders in Barb Inter-Club council and Barb council deserve men-

On the Ag campus, unaffiliated students on the Cornhusker Coun-Barb leaders,

Wishbone, this is in part the answer to your challenge of last The rest of the answer is Friday. that every Barb eligible to vote in Tuesday's "primary" will be per-sonally urged to select a slate of eandidates anating. impromptu meeting. Tim Parker, candidates drawn up in Friday's

Honor Ranking Students

(Continued From Page 1.)

est vote the active chapter of In-nocents will elect the new membership and tap the members on Ivy day, May 5. The student council urges all men students to vote at the election today in order to assure an adequate representation of voters.

adopted.

class.

CHIPS

(Continued From Page 1.) days on whom you know rather than what you know, so I'm building up some pretty good social contacts. I think learning how to get along with other people is about the most im-University of Texas from which he received his A.B. and A.M. de-grees in 1915 and 1916. He was He was awarded his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Chiportant thing you get out of college, don't you?. And If I spend all my time studying, it cago in 1922 and since 1927 has isn't going to do me any good. So I wouldn't regard that hon-pendently, it is different. Every Barb vote gives direct support for the barb candidates, and for them alone. For every 125 votes the bs get a representative on the St. 'ent Council.

PAGE TWO

1 non-political organizations, such as the Innocents, the Barbs must have faith in the organization's sense of fair play. The Barbs recognize the independence of such organizations, but believe a favorable Barb vote in the "primary" will be respected.

An examination of student ac-

WANTED: Alto sox player for dance work. Call L-8025 after six.

been professor of English literature at Texas Christian and still later professor of philosophy at the University of Texas.

The University Symphony or-chestra, conducted by Don A. Lentz, will play the overture to "Oberon" by von Weber and "Valse Triste" by Sibelius. Rev. Fred Wiegman of the Salem Evangelical Lutheran church of Frameou will Lutheran church of Fremont will give the invocation.

Following Dr. Smith's address will be the announcement of prizes and awards, and the students' organizations recognized for high scholarship. Prof. Linus Burr Smith, chairman of the department of architecture, is chairman in charge of the convocation. The orchestra will close the program with the presentation of "Espana" by Chabrier.

Members of the Mortar Board society and Innocents, senior honoraries, will usher at the convocation.

Musicians Give Spring Concert (Continued From Page 1.)

coln junior chamber of commerce. members of all of the university musical organizations will participate in the program, one of the largest ever to be offered by the university.

Tickets for the affair are on sale at the school of music and may also be obtained at the coliseum. Admission price is 40 cents ors convocation as being too important.

> Lovingly yours. Bill.

P. S. Don't forget that cake you promised to send.

An auto, stolen in New York, is found in South America. It might have happened to us on our last if we had followed all the directions given us.

Hurry! Ends Thursday! "Mr. Beeda" Always a 250

BLUEBEARD'S EIGHTH WIFE Extra VISUAL MUSIC "AN OPTICAL POEM" "MARCH OF TIME"

COLBERT - COOPER

BILLY SYMPHONY IN COLOR LATEST NEW'S

UBB