Charlotte Utt, Alpha Phi, has returned from her recent illness of mumps and is as well as ever. She really had it bad. Delirious part of the time and tied up in a pretty bow, so aforesaid mumps wouldn't fall, the rest of the time. And the boy friend came to see her when she was in this condition, which didn't help the mumps much.

A Tri Delta has broken a date with a Sigma Nu, believe it or not, Bob Zoesch had a date with La Donna Grudige for this Saturday night. But the lady sent Robin a letter yesterday to tell him that she was very sorry but she is engaged now but maybe they could do it next time.

The Kappas have taken up a new pastime—that newest of games called jacks. Very interesting game I guess because the guys are sitting on the porch trying to help. A big display of knees are being shown right along with the ball bouncing.

Marian Inhelder, Tri Delta, has a new bonnet at last. She wore the old model for five months. It was one of the devil types, you know, with things on it that look like horns. And from the back one might say it really looked like the devil! But now she has something new. It is one of those streamlined jobs, all ribbed with a white tassel on the back attached to the crown. It hangs on the back of the head. Her English teacher complimented her on it but it is reported that somebody took up a collection to help out the cause.

In the spring you're likely to see almost anything. For instance, we're not surprised at the sight of a number of Beta's scantily clad, sunning on their roof, or we don't just gasp any more when the Phi Delta's turn out for one of those early morning pajama parties right on their front lawn, but what did amaze us, shock us, and even arouse our ire, was the little group of Phi Psi's doing trapeze acts on the Phi Kappa Psi roof, armed with a telescope. Let this be a warning to their neighbors.

'Tis rumored that Rita Aiger is going steady with Jo Stephens. Perhaps that is the rumor, but those who know her best report that last weekend when Jo left his car in her keeping while he was away for a couple of days, two or three other men shared the convenience. Now you can't blame us, because we only heard.

When Hal Halstead and Pat Prime stopped going steady, Jack Gellately was right there to step in, and he has proceeded to do so in a very thorough manner. Hal, though, is still definitely in the running. It ought to be a close race.

Mention should by all means be made of the aspiring athletes this school is turning out. For instance in the baseball class are such notables as Lucille Anderson, Anne Hoffman, Suzy Bradford (who by the way swings a wicked right), and tiny Jeanne Newell, who doesn't do so badly at pitching (baseballs).

And then there are the three Beta's who decided to evade blue Monday by starting very early in the afternoon to have themselves a time, which they continued to do far into the night. They probably did something about as radical as cutting a class to attend the cinema, but anyhow it was a good story before we told all.

Ed Segrist, we're told, took the straight and narrow last weekend when he ordered a glass of milk at King's. It might have been all right if he'd been used to the stuff, but Ed's milk days date back to his infancy and there they ended. Unaccustomed as he was, it was almost too much. The brothers didn't have to carry him home, but they came in handy.

SOCIETY

BY DIXIE DAVIS.

There has been quite a change in plans for Field Day. Instead of making it a local affair, the boys have chartered a train to take everyone to Crete for a picnic. From the station everyone will get to Tuxedo park as best they can for the feed.

During the afternoon, there will be a baseball game, but the rotten egg fight will be staged before lunch in Lincoln. That evening they will dance in Crete and finally come home on the train a little the worse for wear.

Alpha Xi Delta Founders Day banquet will take place Saturday at the University club. The club will be decorated in spring flowers. The toastmistress will be Mrs. John Deering of Onawa, Ia. The toasts will be given by Dee Schill, freshman; Rilla Mae Nevin, sophomore; Martha Long, junior, and Florence Steuteville, senior. Mrs. Ralph Rawson of the Philippine islands will be a special guest. After the banquet, the actives will be entertained by skits given by alumnae and freshmen.

Last Monday night, Alpha Gamma Rho installed the following officers: Glenn Thacker, president; Harold Schudle, vice president; Dennis Clark, secretary, and Harley Dold, treasurer. Alpha Gamma Rho is holding a closed house party at the chapter house Saturday, April 23. A barn dance motif is to be carried out in decorations and entertainment.

One of the devoted couples on the campus said it with candy and stogies Monday night. Helen Ann Howie and Willard Jeffery led some Raymond Hall girls and Kappa Sigs down to the dorm ballroom where the singing troubadours and troubadettes did their best, then lined up to get candy and offer congratulations.

Not an alarm clock but a piece of flying chalk awoke Karl Bamemberger in physics class Wednesday afternoon. The bull's eye was scored by Professor Jergensen, who did his Dixie Dean act from the front of the classroom.

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love. Present affairs over at the Sig Epsilon house seem to be running contradictory to this well known and generally accepted phrase. No less than six within the past two weeks have found their affairs with their one and only suddenly severed. Just ask Verne Rewalt, Julian Borz, Gene Walters, Ivan May, Sammy Morris and Don Durfee. The latter, however, we are not definitely sure of. We understand he has been spending the last couple of week ends alone—wonder what Claire Husted, Pi Phi, has been doing these evenings?

Farm House fellows had a birthday celebration last night, and the lady of the evening was their housemother, Mrs. Frances Pelton. Seniors living outside the house and several alums turned up to make the affair a really festive occasion, with a birthday gift, a huge cake, and ice cream in the form of a large candle.

AG-GRAVATIONS

Things are really getting serious with Ruthe Brown and Ward Henderson. Finance is the big bug-aboo standing in the way of an early pin hanging. You see when the Farm House pledges were initiated Ward gave his jeweled shield to Marvin Krausz. So far Marvin has not been able to scrape enough shekels together to get one for himself and Ruthe goes down out a pin and the boys from down by the bakery go without cigars. We might suggest the R. F. C. as a possible way out.

Carl Royer is in the market for timber of the variety known as paddles. He prefers the kind that look bad but inflict no bad punishment because those Acacia boys really know how to "swing" it.

Saturday night the A. G. R.'s are putting on an old fashioned barn dance at the chapter house. It ought to be a taste of the real

Students Offer Soldiers, Steed To Czech Cause

WASHINGTON, Pa. (ACP). Odd antics of a pair of Washington and Jefferson college students recently brought the eyes of the nation to rest on this 145 year old school.

The students phoned the Czechoslovakian embassy in Washington late one night and offered the services of the "Thomas Jefferson Brigade," to the Czechs for the purpose of "repelling the invasion of the Huns."

They claimed to have raised 200 men and 60 horses. Needless to say, they had not. Next day they were confronted by a telegram signed by the Czechoslovakian embassy, which read: "Offer greatly appreciated. Can you come here to discuss plans?"

At first rather bewildered, the pair immediately went to work to raise their regiment, and had little difficulty in obtaining the signatures of nearly 150 other students, most of whom signed up as officers.

Dr. J. M. Reinhardt of the university sociology staff, will address delegates to the Nebraska Tuberculosis association convention at a noon luncheon when that group meets in Lincoln on Monday, April 25. He is to speak on the cost of tuberculosis to the individual and to the community.

Dr. W. W. Bauer of the American Medical association, Chicago, will be the guest speaker at the evening session. Christmas Seal sales and the program will be the theme of the convention.

thing, as Ed Rusik is helping to put it on and he is a real sandhill man. Who ever heard of a sandhill man who couldn't stage a show-nuff barn dance? Harness and hay have already started to arrive for decorations. They had better be careful or one of the farmers of the house will think he is back home and get up before noon and start to plow the lawn up. For floor show a milking contest will be held with Leo Hansmire and Eric Thor competing for top honors. Who wants to gather the eggs?

The 4-H club picnic coming up Sunday is going to be a good outlet for surplus steam which will be let off as soon as the six weeks are over. There are pretty good odds that Burniel Gingery and Francis Rehmler do their celebrating together. So far they have been rather shy about discussing themselves, but who knows? They may make an announcement next week.

The Farmers Fair pony chorus, starring Max Brown and the Messersmiths, is progressing rapidly, according to Marian Hoppert, committee chairman. It was originally intended that the boys should wear grass skirts, but due to the shortness of the grass it appears that they will have to do without costumes.

Highlights On the Air

About Eddie Cantor's Announcer.

Walter King is Eddie Cantor's new announcer stogie on Camel Caravan. King is a native of San Francisco, born there Nov. 2, 1902. He is a distant relative of Ben Bernie, and a cousin of Norma Taurog, moving picture director. When a child, Walter had an ambition, or rather two of them—to be a movie director or an electrician. He made his first singing appearance as a member of the Mormon church choir, where he fainted dead away when called upon to sing solo, and had to be carried out.

Ambitious later to enter on a theatrical career, Walter was up against the opposition of his father, although his mother favored his actions. When he was 13, King lost his father and became virtual head of the family. He left school and found a job as an errand boy.

PROSPECTIVE REPORTERS TO APPLY AT 'RAG' OFFICE

Meeting of Staff Set For This Saturday In U Hall Office.

Managing editors of the Daily Nebraskan issued a call yesterday for freshman and sophomore reporters to take over regular "beats" for the remainder of the school year. They pointed out that spring reporter work counts considerably when "beats" are permanently assigned next fall.

The editorial staff of the Daily Nebraskan will hold a staff meeting Saturday at 1 o'clock to make plans for the Nebraskan's offices in the Student Union, a Student Union edition, and the annual spring "Rag" banquet.

Further examination of the Awgwan showed excellent photography in the feature of "Candidramania." The photographer is widely known in campus circles as the "Tasty Pastry Man"—and continues to do justice in this publication. The publication gets technical when Norman Bolker attempts to describe "Metamorphosis" in a feature on scrap iron.

"Life in the Army" is described on page 12 by an anonymous reporter, who appears to know what he is talking about. This in itself is unusual in a publication of the type of the Awgwan. An excellent fashion feature and the usual jokes are included.

boys, will be housed in the student activities and animal husbandry buildings during the two days they are here. Awards in the contests will be made probably Friday evening at the close of the competition.

College of agriculture faculty members are to have charge of the various contests held during the two days. On the opening day, today, the boys will judge dairy cattle, grain, poultry and dairy products. The egg show will open to day also and future orators will compete in the public speaking contest of the Future Farmers of America.

Friday lists competition in livestock judging, crops and soils management, dairy management, farm mechanics, egg grading, grain grading and Babcock tests.

ANSWERS TO THE ELECTRICAL QUIZ

- 1. The horsepower of one type of electric clock motor is eleven millionths H.P. A dynamometer made in the Westinghouse Research Dept. has accurately measured and plotted this fact.
2. The first officially scheduled radio broadcast was that of the Harding-Cox presidential election returns, sent out over Westinghouse Station KDKA, Pittsburgh, Pa., on Nov. 2, 1920.
3. Modern high-efficiency Westinghouse-equipped generating stations produce a KWH of electricity on 1 lb. of coal, base load. The national average for 1937 was 1.43 lbs. In 1922 the figure was 2.5; in 1927, 1.75; in 1932, 1.5.
4. Some of the Westinghouse elevators in Radio City, believed to be the fastest in the world, travel at the speed of 1400 ft. per second.
5. The largest all-electric welded building (tonnage and floor space) is the 12-story Central Engineering Laboratory building of the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co. at East Pittsburgh, Pa.
6. The greatest advantage of alternating current, as recognized by Geo. Westinghouse more than 50 years ago, is the facility with which its voltages can be stepped up or down for various needs of transmission or use.
7. Oliver B. Shallenberger, a young engineer with the Westinghouse Electric Co., discovered the principle in 1888 and developed the first A.C. watt-hour meter. It has been basically unchanged to this day.
8. Micarta is a laminated synthetic resin material, developed by Westinghouse and having many desirable electrical and mechanical characteristics. It is used for insulation, bearings, bushings and many industrial purposes, as well as for decorative work of all kinds.
9. Electricity costs about 1/3 less today per KWH, on the national average, than it did in 1913. It is one of the few commodities that has steadily decreased in cost during these 25 years.
10. Hydrogen has been found to be a better cooling medium than air, and 10 out of the last 14 large 2-pole 3600 r.p.m. generators use it. Westinghouse pioneering led to this improvement.

Watch for another interesting "Electrical Quiz" in a coming issue of your college publication. Electricity is the greatest single force in this modern age. Learn more about it—and about the companies, like Westinghouse, that put it to doing the world's work. Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co. Pittsburgh, Pa.
