

Huskers, Indiana Seek First Win Of Year--But 0-0

reached the line of scrimmage. On a triple reverse, Hopp lost 2 and a pass from Hopp to Prochaska was broken up by Clasen. On fourth down, Hermie Rohrig missed an attempted field goal, his first miss of four during the afternoon.

Chance No. 2.

Again, toward the end of the third quarter Graham, Hoosier captain and fullback, fumbled on his own 21 where Husker Charlie Brock recovered. Rohrig was stopped at right tackle for no gain, but on the next play Harry Hopp drove 9 yards over the same spot, then drove 2 more for a first down on the Hoosier 10... goal to go. Rohrig made four on a full spinner on the right side and Callihan picked up one thru the middle. Hopp was knocked out of bounds by Oliver on the six, then completed a pass to Rohrig... which lost four yards, the ball, and ended the best chance of the afternoon for a score.

Chance No. 3.

Two and one-half minutes after the start of the second half, after Bill Callihan picked up the Indiana kickoff on his own 25 and had run it clear to the Indiana 24, another Husker offense fizzled. Rohrig lost one, Callihan fumbled but recovered, and Dodd lost three on a reverse. Rohrig failed on an attempted field goal... another Husker chance blown.

Chance No. 4.

Early in the final period, center Bob Burruss intercepted one of Mr. Nicholson's passes on the Hoosier 30 and ran to the 20, giving the Huskers another chance for gold. Luther picked up one on a half spinner, Phelps drove for two, then was held to no gain on a right end try. Phelps' pass to Grimm was incomplete in the end zone... goodbye scoring chance.

Chance No. 5.

Four minutes later, Harry Hopp intercepted another one of the versatile Nicholson passes and ran to the Indiana 23. The Huskers were penalized 5 for too many times out as Hopp was hurt on the play.

Rohrig punched the line for 6 on a full spinner. Fans began to vision 6 points. Hopp made one over right tackle. Hopp carried again, this time for 4. Fourth down and 4 to go. What to do about it? Rohrig missed his fourth try at a field goal, kicking into the wind at an angle. All of his kicks had been from more or less of an angle and were extremely difficult. Altho the wind was at his back on his first attempts, it was a cross wind, hindering instead of aiding the kick.

HERM ROHRIG

The Huskers gained 129 yards net to the Hoosiers' 59. Hopp's kicking average was especially good, considering his kicking into the wind half the game. He averaged 36 yards, with one kick made short to keep from rolling over the goal line, five of them into the wind. Indiana's kicking average was a fraction over 30 yards.

Outdown Hoosiers.

Five to four was the Husker margin in first downs. Three passes did fleet and awake red shirted backs nip from the ozone to stop Hoosier threats.

For the Huskers, Hopp, Rohrig, Dodd and Callihan proved their worth as the Biffer's first stringers by playing almost the whole game, being out about half the fourth quarter. Bus Knight looked slick for the few minutes he played.

On the line, Brock, Mills and Muskin stood out on defense, with Behm and Mills combining on offense to open holes for Husker backs.

SPORT NOTES

By Norman Harris

Many are the betters, the "wise guys" who are moaning tonight because they gave six, seven, or ten points and took the Hoosiers. Few are those who favored the Huskers.

Nebraska outplayed Indiana, came so close to winning that it isn't even funny, held the Hoosiers completely at bay throughout the afternoon. The closest McMullinmen came to the Husker goal line was to the Scarlet 32, where a fumble ended the threat. Nebraska's pass defense clicked nicely. Punting was good. Passing was a fizzle, with only one pass being completed and that one lost four yards.

The Huskers' scoring punch was sitting up on top of the press box yesterday, or else wandered up to sit with the Tassels. Anyway, it wasn't on the field. Every time the redshirts would shift into high gear and come down the field, the clutch slipped and the machine started to back-peddle... just like last week.

But Indiana had been favored, Indiana outweighed Nebraska, Nebraska fans were betting against Nebraska, sportswriters were wary of picking a winner, but favored Indiana a little... so under the conditions, I think Husker fans can ask no more. Nebraska didn't lose... they did outplay the Hoosiers... they played college football yesterday... they made mistakes, but so did anyone who bet on Indiana.

Next week the Huskers face the strongest team in this part of the country, perhaps excepting Nebraska... so, until then... all we can do is hope... and please let's not give points and take Oklahoma without first thinking of Hopp, Rohrig, Callihan, Dodd, Brock, Muskin, Behm, Seaman, Mills... and the rest of them... they're good and you know it... last week they were mediocre... but yesterday they were good.

Oklahoma beat Kansas, 19 to 0... three straight wins... Rice, Texas, Kansas... but Sooners, here we come!

Student pep sections yesterday resembled a true collegiate student section at a college football game. Gone were the lackadaisical spirits and the lazy, half dead semblance of enthusiasm. The awakening came when fans and students alike saw that Nebraska did have a football team. Cheer leaders sweated and yelled themselves hoarse. If they got to see much of the game, they were lucky.

The new yells went across with a bang. The cards during the half were neat. The big apple with Herbie Kay was swell. All of which went together to finish up a perfect afternoon, even though Indiana tied the Huskers.

The brisk wind that blew reminded one of Gabby Harrigan's State college team in its stadium in "Hold That Coed"... but the Huskers didn't have a female fullback to buck the wind!

Jayhawks Outrun N.U. Two-Milers

Mitchell, Hofsess Pace Winners; Weir Plans Sooner Jaunt

Led by the cinder burners Mitchell and Hofsess, Ward Haylett's Kansas State two milers handed the Cornhusker cross country team their first defeat of the season, taking them by a score of 36 to 19. Mitchell and Hofsess, who finished one-two in the Big Six meet last spring, led the field from the start to finish in a dead heat in the fast time of 9:57.6.

Al Kuper, running the distance for the first time this year, was nosed out only six inches by Leland of Kansas State in the fight for third place. Del Moore, a sophomore from Bartley, running his first race for the varsity pulled in with fifth well ahead of High and Clingman of the Aggies who crossed the line in another dead heat for 6th and 7th places. Jim Knight took eighth for Nebraska with Butler and Walker finishing in the third dead heat of the race for 9th and 10th positions. Butler had been with the leaders earlier in the race, but sore feet forced him to fall back.

Next Saturday Coach Ed Weir takes his Scarlet and Cream runners to Norman, Oklahoma, for a meet with the Sooners. They will return to the Memorial stadium track for a race with the Missouri distance men Oct. 29. John Brownlee expects to be back on the squad for that meet.

Finishing order: First and second, Mitchell and Hofsess (KS); third, Leland (KS); fourth, Kuper (N); fifth, Moore (N); sixth and seventh, Clingman and High (KS); eighth, Knight (N); ninth and tenth, Walker and Butler (N).

A new fabric enters the suit field, and it's a honey! It's Covert, a sturdy weave of woolen yarns that originated among the fox-hunters of England for protection from briars and brambles as they rode to covert. The model shown is one of the newer drapes, styled so well that they match the new material in distinction. It's full in the chest and blades, slimly fitting at the hips. You'll like it!
