

Sod Broken For Girls' Dorm Today

Ceremony Opens Work on Annex To Raymond Hall

Chancellor Boucher, Chancellor Emeritus Burnett, Donor Love Break Ground at 11:30

Students, faculty members, and Lincolnites will gather this morning to witness the ground breaking ceremonies which will open construction work on the Julia Love Memorial hall, dormitory and residence for University girls. The program will begin at 11:30 with Chancellor C. S. Boucher presiding. Dr. E. A. Burnett, chancellor emeritus, and Don L. Love, former mayor of Lincoln, will co-operate in digging the first spadeful of earth.

It was Love who donated the $55,000 necessary to start construction of the hall. A grant from the PWA of $101,250 made up the biggest part of an estimated $250,000 cost for the building of Love hall and another dormitory, not yet named.

Chancellor Opens Program. Today's program will be opened by Chancellor Boucher presenting Chancellor Emeritus Burnett, who was instrumental in obtaining the new residence halls. Dr. Burnett will speak briefly and then present Mr. Love. Chancellor Boucher will say a few words in conclusion.

Among those who will be present are representatives of the administration of the University delegates from various women's organizations and others who are connected with the erection of the building.

Erected as a suitable memorial to Mrs. Love, who died a year and a half ago, the new residence will front on 16th st. just north of Carrie Belle Raymond hall. It will house 96 girls. It will be distinctive from the larger unit of Carrie Belle and a large bronze plaque will be erected in honor of Mrs. Love.

A contract for the excavation for the two dormitories was awarded to the A. T. Stewart company of Lincoln last Wednesday. The excavation will be completed on Love hall first.

According to the dormitory council, bids on general heating and plumbing will be let later. Announcements concerning the lettings will be made later.

The school residence hall will be erected at the northeast corner of Raymond hall, according to architects' drawings.

Dr. Hamilton Leads Forum

Chemist Discusses Vocation This Evening

Dr. C. S. Hamilton, professor of chemistry, will discuss the various fields of chemistry and problems relating to the training and entry into these fields in the fifth of a series of vocational forums at 7:30 this evening. The forum will be held in room 102 of the Avery laboratory of chemistry.

Dr. Hamilton will also conduct a discussion on questions that students should consider before they decide to enter chemistry. According to Dr. C. S. Gregory, freshman advisor, any freshman who is considering chemistry as his vocation will find the forum informative, and worthwhile as well as interesting.

The forum is not closed. Any student in the university may attend. However, they are conducted primarily in an effort to aid freshmen in the choosing of a vocation.

Coeds to Study Table Etiquette

Mrs. Hill to Present Service Demonstration

Members of charm school will assemble at 7 o'clock tonight in Ellen Smith to hear Mrs. Ruth Davis Hill discuss and demonstrate table service and table etiquette.

Mrs. Hill attended the university where she majored in home economics and was awarded a bachelor of arts and a bachelor of science degree. Mrs. Hill is still very interested in the activities of the girls on the campus having been a president of the campus Y. W. C. A., a member of Mortar Board and an Alpha Delta Theta.

All girls are invited to attend charm school, which is sponsored by the Coed Counselor board and is directed by Helen Catherine Davis. All who attend are requested to come to the meeting on time that the school can comply with 8 o'clock rule for freshmen.

The Klub has again secured the Stuart theater for the revue, which will be held on Thanksgiving morning, Thursday, Nov. 24, at 9 o'clock. This is the morning of the Nebraska-Kansas State football game.

Competing acts will be expected to perform at the tryouts with the approximate costumes and props which they will use if given a place on the Thanksgiving program. Only in event that the Klub has difficulty in deciding the specific skits to be used will a third tryout be conducted.

Tickets on Sale

Climax of the show will come with the presentation of the new Nebraska Sweetheart as elected by new students this fall. Also featured will be the awarding of three cups to the three best acts presented by fraternity and sorority groups, merit to be judged on the basis of audience applause. The fraternity cup was won last year by the combination skit of Zeta Beta Tau and Pi Kappa Alpha. The sorority cup last fall went to Alpha Phi, and honors for best curtain act were awarded to Chi Omega.

Tickets for the revue have been distributed to Klub workers and may now be purchased for 50 cents apiece.

Publication Heads Return

Miss Lahr, Lipp Report Cincinnati Conclave

Morris Lipp, Patricia Lahr, Max Horn, Frank Johnson and Professor Gayle Walker returned Monday from Cincinnati, O., where they represented the university at the Associated Collegiate Press conference. The conclave was attended by 460 delegates from 155 colleges.

One of the most interesting of the round table discussions of the conference was headed by Professor Walker. His topic was "Special Departments of College Newspapers and How They Should Be Handled."

The feature address of the meeting was given by Raymond Clapper, Washington columnist and former head of the United Press bureau in Washington. He talked of his experiences as a Washington columnist under the title of "The Confessions of a Washington Columnist."

According to Morris Lipp the convention was interesting and educational. Pat Lahr in looking over the yearbook display said "the trend was toward the informal with more photography which is to be followed here." She further stated "The eastern yearbooks were traditional style, the Pacific schools followed a radical form, while the middle west was a compromise between the two."

Nebraska was represented at the conference by five schools: University of Nebraska, Wayne, Peru, Hastings, and York.

Medical School Asks WPA Grant

Funds Would Improve Grounds, Class Rooms

District Director McCauley forwarded to Washington Monday a WPA project for an $108,957 improvement of the University college of medicine building and grounds at Omaha. Included were plans for acoustical improvement of class rooms and auditoriums, sidewalks for the campus, equipment for the medical school, re-amping of heating equipment and general landscaping, according to R. B. Saxon, operating superintendent of the medical school. The new project would bring the total of WPA improvement at the school to approximately $250,000.

Sigma Delta Chi Meets At Noon Today in Union

Members of Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism fraternity, will meet for luncheon this noon in parlor C of the Union. Inasmuch as some important business will be taken up, Morris Lipp, president of the group, urges all members to attend.

Tassels Sell Cornhuskers This Week

Pepsters Extend Drive To Reach 1,000 Goal

Tassels will extend their annual Cornhusker drive for one week during which time every effort will be made to contact the entire campus as well as the Lincoln business section for year book subscriptions, according to an announcement made yesterday by Virginia Nolte, Tassel president and Max Horn, the Cornhusker business manager.

To reach their goal of 1,000, Tassels will strain every nerve, canvassing all of the organized houses near the city and agricultural campuses, and encouraging them to find 20 subscribers that they may enter a beauty queen in the Nebraska pulchritude contest.

At a meeting this evening in 316 of the Union, Tassels will check in the money and receipts of those students who have already purchased subscriptions and be given new books with which to make more sales.

Prizes will be given by the Cornhusker to the Tassel who makes the most sales at the close of the drive, according to the annual sales manager who spoke to the group at the beginning of the campaign four weeks ago.

Combination Armistice Football Affair Planned

With Nebraska hopes for a Pitt victory kindled by the Panthers' loss Saturday, students will gather Friday evening at 7 o'clock on the Student Union steps for a combination Armistice day-rally celebration.

Thru co-operation of the military department, the rally committee has obtained the Pershing Rifle unit to participate in the rally. The Pershing Rifles will march in the rally parade and will play the leading roll in the Armistice part of the program, firing the traditional salute.

Same Route

As usual, the university band, Corn Cobs, Tassels, and the cheer leaders will make up the nucleus of the parade, which will follow the same route as all other home game rallies.

Students who have slogans which they think are good enough to command printing on the cards for the Pitt game are requested by Ralph Reed, member of the rally committee to hand them in at the Daily Nebraskan office before Thursday noon.

Fireworks will be a feature of the Pitt pre-game rally, with plans being made to include a 12 foot American flag in the display.

"Algie," the old model T used in rallies to carry the cheer leaders, will be on hand again. The old car has been donated for the rallies by Max Lake, and has been put to valuable use.

"As Friday is Armistice day, there will be many spontaneous rallies springing up during school hours," Reed stated. He went on to say that "No Corn Cobs or Tassels should take part in any of these unorthodox rallies, and should discourage them. Students should save their lungs for the Friday night affair, when there will be plenty to yell for."

James Hand Dies From Exhaust Gas

Caretaker Finds Youth Dead in Garage at Vacant Property

James L. Hand, jr., freshman student in the college of business administration, was found dead Monday morning in a car parked in the garage of a vacant house at 2330 Van Dorn st. Dr. P. S. Cannon, examining physician, stated that death was caused by carbon monoxide poisoning, placing the time of death between 2 and 3 o'clock Monday morning.

County Sheriff James Davis, acting as coroner, told the Daily Nebraskan that he found no evidence of foul play. The garage doors were closed and the windows of the car tightly rolled up when the body was discovered. Sheriff Davis further said that although the case is closed, he is continuing the investigation to follow up several leads.

Hand was the 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hand, sr., 1531 Van Dorn st., and had pledged Phi Delta Theta fraternity this year.

The body was found about 9 o'clock by Guy B. Porter, caretaker for Culbertson, Roe & Bell, who own the vacant house. Porter called Mr. Roe, who in turn called police. It was believed that Hand had forced the locked garage door open by breaking the lock. When police arrived, they found the ignition on, although the motor was silent. The auto battery was still well charged and Hand's wrist watch was still running.

Hand had lived in Lincoln only a few months, coming from Sidney, Nebraska, where he was graduated from high school in 1938. The body is at Wadlow's Mortuary.

Youth to Vie With Oratory

Contest Observes 160 Years of Constitution

In observance of the Sesquicentennial Anniversary of the formation of the Constitution a nationwide contest is being held the middle of December in virtually all the universities and high schools of the nation. Nebraska university students are offered an opportunity to enter the original oratorical contest which is expected to be held on the campus about Dec. 15.

This nationwide celebration under the auspices of the United States Constitution Sesquicentennial Commission is to build in each generation a strong foundation under popular representative government. "The critical situation faced by representative government in many countries just now makes this a particularly opportune time to stress the study of our greatest governmental document," says J. W. Studebaker, commissioner of the United States office of education.

100 GUESTS ATTEND CAMPUS CLUB DINNER

Approximately one hundred were present at the Campus Club banquet at Ellen Smith hall last evening. Among the guests were Mrs. Samuel Avery and Mrs. E. A. Burnett, both wives of former chancellors, and Mrs. C. S. Boucher, wife of Chancellor Boucher.

A short talk was given by Miss Margaret Hale, blind student. Miss Lenore Alway, of the Physical Education Department, planned an informal evening so that all guests had an opportunity to get acquainted.

Fellman, Lancaster Predict Slot Machine Defeat Today

Professors Disagree On Short Ballot Merits

Commenting on the slot machine and short ballot amendments, both of which will be voted on today by Nebraska citizens, Prof. David Fellman of the political science department, stated in regard to the election: "The slot machine amendment will be defeated but the short ballot bill should pass. I am against the slot machine issue but I hope the short ballot passes as it should be a good thing for the state."

Prof. Lane Lancaster of the political science department stated yesterday: "Both issues will be defeated by large margins, in my opinion. I am opposed to both amendments, especially the slot machine bill." Although few students will be eligible to vote in the election the results of it will be of special interest to many.

The slot machine amendment would legalize slot machines in Nebraska and the money derived from them in taxes and other revenue would be expended for old age assistance in the state. The short ballot amendment would give the governor power to appoint the secretary of state, the attorney general and the state treasurer. These offices at the present time are elective. The idea of the amendment is to shorten the ballot so that the voter will not have to struggle thru long lists of candidates at election time.

SPURR WRITES ARTICLE

Prof. W. A. Spurr, member of the college of business administration faculty, has reviews appearing in the current number of the American Economic Review. One is an analysis of Savvy's "Business Cycles and Forecasting," another is a review of Stockton's "An Introduction to Business Statistics" and the latter author's laboratory manual dealing with business statistics.

N.U. Summer School Seeks Eduard Benes

Moritz Invites Former Czech President Here

Former President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia is being sought as an instructor during the University summer school session of 1939. Prof. R. B. Moritz, director of summer school has announced.

Speaking for his brother, Vojta Benes, who was here Friday on a speaking tour, said that the former Czech president was at present unimpaired by the crisis in Europe and would probably be unable to consider the matter at present. However, he said that his brother had already consented to lecture at the University of Chicago.

Dean C. H. Oldfather has sent Benes a cablegram inviting him to come to Nebraska this summer but no reply has been received. Benes would probably lecture in the social sciences department.

Social Workers Attend Luncheon

Noon Program Centers Around Work for Blind

Ninety-two reservations have been made by students and faculty to attend the luncheon of the Association of Social Workers in the Union this noon where they will hear J. F. Chumk, of the department of interior, speak on his work for the blind.

Mr. Chumk is in Lincoln to establish public news stands in federal buildings for the blind and his speech to the social workers will be centered around his work. He will be introduced to the group by Harold Saiter, chairman of the board of control of the Nebraska state institutions.

The Association of Social Workers is a new group on the campus composed of students in the graduate school for social workers. Edward Cant is president of the organization and Ruth Thygeson is chairman of the luncheon committee.

Theater Seeks All-American Girl

Lincoln Invites Student Entries in New Contest

What girl on the Nebraska campus comes closest to being the "All American type?" In an effort to find out, the Lincoln theater is conducting a contest, the ballot for which will be found in the advertisement appearing in today's Daily Nebraskan.

All students are invited to write in the name of their choice on the ballot, and bring it to the Daily Nebraskan office in the basement of the Union today or tomorrow. The winner of the contest, which is being sponsored by the Lincoln in conjunction with its showing of "Three Loves Has Nancy," will be announced from the stage at that theater sometime between 9 and 10 o'clock, Thursday evening. Thursday evening has been designated by theater officials as all college night.

Winner of the contest will be given her choice of a $30 coat out of the Lincoln department stores. "Three Loves Has Nancy," stars Janet Gaynor, Robert Montgomery, and Franchot Tone, opens at the Lincoln Thursday.

Chem Group To Honor Top Scholarship

Phi Lambda Upsilon To Give Freshman Cup For Highest Average

Awarding of the scholarship cup to the outstanding freshman in last year's chemistry course will feature the fall banquet of the Phi Lambda Upsilon honorary chemical fraternity, at the Cornhusker hotel, Thursday evening.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Dr. Walter A. Miltzer, from the university chemical department. He will address the group on "150 Years of Truth," a talk which concerns itself with substantial chemical developments during that period.

Another feature of the evening will be the initiating of five graduate students and two seniors into the fraternity. The initiation will take place before the banquet. Graduate students who are to be initiated are Henry Smith, Chadron; Ruelston Olston, Columbus; Clark McCarty, Kansas City; Paul Schultz, Wichita and Jean Jack of Tekamah.

The two seniors who are to be initiated are Clemet Theobald of Lincoln and Byron Miller of Clinton. This is the first time in the history of the fraternity that new members have been initiated in the fall.

According to Jack Clem, president of the fraternity, the annual cup award was first made in 1928 to Homer R. Deadman. In order to be eligible for the award, a (Continued on Page 2.)

Firm Offers Scholarship

Graduate Engineers Seek 4-Year Award

A four year scholarship for graduate engineering students who wish to specialize in the field of paper production has been offered by the American Institute of Paper Chemistry according to an announcement posted yesterday by Dean Ferguson of the college of engineering.

The institute, which is associated with Lawrence college, will award a master degree to any scholarship winner completing two year's work. Winners completing four years work at the institute will be awarded a doctor of philosophy degree.

Work at the institute is composed of nine months of classroom work and three months, work in a paper or pulp mill where the principles studied in the classroom are applied. Applicants for the scholarship must possess a reading knowledge of German to be eligible to compete for the scholarship.

Blue Print Wins Contest Award

Publication Recognized For Promotion Work

Nebraska Blue Print, official publication of the engineering college, has been awarded the second prize in a self-promotion contest sponsored by Lutell-Murray-Barnhill, inc., national advertising agency, according to word received by L. A. Curtis, business manager of the publication.

First place went to the Michigan Technic, publication of the University of Michigan. The contest was participated in by the publications of the various engineering colleges of the leading universities, which hold membership in the associated engineering college magazines. Awards were given to the magazines which, in the opinion of the judges, did the best job of selling themselves to their readers. Jay L. King of Lincoln was business manager of the Blue Print last year, and it was the issues of a year ago that were entered in the contest.

Fine Arts Group To Hear Alumni

Dorothy Dropp, Helen McMonies Give Talks

Members of Delta Phi Delta, honorary fine arts organization, will hear two former Nebraska students just returned from Paris at their monthly dinner this evening at 6 o'clock in the Union.

Miss Dorothy Dropp and Helen McMonies will speak to the fine arts students on their work in Paris, where they studied after winning the Parsons scholarship. Miss Dropp, '36, was the first Nebraska student to receive the Parsons award which she won in the field of interior decoration. Miss McMonies, '37, studied fashion illustration on the Parsons scholarship last year.
