Huskers Start Intensive Drill For Pittsburgh

Line Receives Attention Of Lyman To Prepare For Mighty Panthers

Intensive drills to prepare the Cornhusker footballers for what is probably their toughest assignment of the year got under way yesterday, with stress being placed upon linemen. Link Lyman spent almost an hour and a quarter explaining line assignments that must be carried out against Pitt if Nebraska is to have any success at all Saturday.

Charging in against a frosh line-up, the line received few compliments from Link. Pointing out the mistakes and demonstrating the method of hitting opposing linemen was the rule.

Active scrimmage against frosh offense saw varsity linemen plus line backers run up against what is probably the best freshman line.

This is composed of Fred Linsteadt and Vernon Braasch, ends; Vic Seich and Wayne Blue, tackles; Hub Monsky and Sam Feunning, guards; Howard Kelly, center; backs, Hartley, Sid Bradley, Bob DeFruiter and Henry Rohn.

The frosh offenders had enough success against the varsity first string to indicate that there is plenty of work left this week. Harold Browne's report of Pitt's strength show plainly that the Panthers' loss to Carnegie Tech will make them all the tougher for the Huskers, come Saturday.

The first string remained the same as it has been for the past two weeks with the exception of Dobson replacing Muskin at left guard. The two will probably alternate Saturday, as guard play is likely to spell the difference between an overwhelming defeat and a stunning upset.

Bruising Pitt.

On the shoulders of Bill Hermann, Leonard Muskin, Arlo Klum and Dobson will rest probably half the line burden. Pitt's bruising smashes have accounted for plenty of yardage this year, and there are no indications pointing to a letup of this practice.

Kicking, passing, blocking and dummy tackling were also worked over last night. Squad spirit is somewhat skeptical concerning the chances for victory. As soon as the roughest spots are ironed out today and tomorrow, morale probably go up.

Dr. Rosenquist To Address Y.M.

Meeting Tonight Hears Evolution, Religion Talk

"Evolution and Religion—Do They Conflict?" will be the subject of the address of Dr. Carl E. Rosenquist, who will speak at the Temple tonight at 7:15 before the University Y. M. C. A.

Basing his talk on his own experiences with students here at the university, Dr. Rosenquist will discuss the bewilderment of students caused by apparent conflict between their religious and scientific training in regard to the subject of evolution.

Warren Lewis, chairman of the meeting committee, will introduce Dr. Rosenquist. Preceding the address the Ocarina trio, composed of Will Reedy, Harold Buxton, and Dick Leask, will play several numbers. All university men are invited to attend the meeting.

Correction.

It was erroneously stated in the Daily Nebraskan yesterday that political science professor Lane W. Lancaster was against the short ballot. Professor Lancaster wishes to state that he is in favor of the short ballot amendment and is also definitely against the slot machine amendment.

Mythical All-Conference Team Casts Shadow Ahead

Fans, Writers Puzzle Over Probable Choices

By Norman Harris.

Those hectic days will soon be upon football fans and sport writers when they pick mythical all-conference and All America and other kinds of all-stuff football teams.

Right here in the Big Six conference, there's going to be one tough assignment to pick an all-conference squad. For instance, at quarterback, there are Paul Christman, Missouri; Everett Kischer, Iowa State, and "Red" McCarty, Oklahoma, all standouts, with Knight of Nebraska rapidly closing whatever gap there are between his ability and the aforementioned three.

Halfbacks Hermie Rohrig, Nebraska; Jack Dodd, Nebraska; Jim Starmer, Missouri; Ralph Miller, Kansas; Amerline of K. U.; Reupke, Iowa State; Corrotto, Oklahoma; Jennings, Oklahoma, and Munzer, Kansas State are all potential "alls" with enviable records.

Fullback Position Full.

For a fullback, pickers wish there was room for three or four on the team. Callihan of Nebraska, recognized as the conference's best line backer and one of the best blockers; Wilder, Iowa State, whose ball carrying average is over 5 yards per try on over 120 tries and whose line backing work is one of Jim Yeager's happiest thoughts; McCullough of Oklahoma whose power has decimated opposing lines, Hackney, Kansas State, who is touted as the real Big Six all-American; Porter Robb of Mizou, who takes no back seats. Plenty of headaches here. Ends Shirks, one from K. U. and the other from Oklahoma, Waddy Young of the Sooners; Heileman and Boswell of Iowa State; Seeman of Nebraska, are all considered good material for all conference ends.

At tackles, Bob Mills, Husker senior; Iowa State's Shugart and Morin; Oklahoma's Bowers and Dugan; K. U.'s Bosilevac; Missouri's Haas would all be in place on a mythical selection.

Bock Leads Guards.

Guard Bock of Iowa State leads all guard candidates, with Nebraska's Muskin and Hermann capable material for any selection. Kansas' Anderson is no slouch as he demonstrated Saturday. Oklahoma's guards are as good as they come.

Center Brock of Nebraska and Warren of Kansas will be on first and second or second and first teams. Charlie's work has received notable attention from many of the nation's leading writers.

Anyway, it's too big a job to attempt right now. The best bet would be to wait until next February, then go back and pick all the picks, and make up a consensus.

Huskers Drop From Lead In Big Six Scoring Race

Dodd Paces Scarlet But Starmer Tops List

Husker scorers do not dominate the list of Big Six touchdowns and field goal makers as they have for the past few years. Scoring for the Scarlet has been pretty well dispersed all along the line, with six men having figured in point making so far.

Jack Dodd leads the Huskers with two touchdowns, result of his 38 yard sprint at Minneapolis and his 65 yard criss-cross punt return at Kansas. Hermie Rohrig has one touchdown, a 96 yard kickoff return against Missouri, plus two points after touchdowns. Bob Mills has six points for his pass interception score, Ray Prochaska has six for his 30 yard pass catch against Iowa State, Bill Andreson and Marvin Plock each have scored on fieldgoal and an extra point.

Starmer Leads.

Jim Starmer, Missouri half, leads all Big Six scoring with five touchdowns and four points after for 34 points. Ev Kischer, Cyclone quarter, is close behind with 4 scores and 8 conversions for 32 points and Paul Christman, Tiger flash, has five touchdowns and one conversion for 31 points. Other leaders are Wilder of Iowa State, 30; McCullough of Oklahoma, 28; Bunsen, K. U., 20; Amerline, K. U., 18, and McCarty, Oklahoma 18.

Gibbons of the Jayhawks and Boudreau of Oklahoma, both extra point specialists, have each scored five points with their specialties. Gibbons is a drop kicker who almost pulled the N. U.-K. U. game out of the fire for Ad Lindsay.

Sooners Score.

Thirteen Sooners have scored this year, 11 Jayhawkers have hit pay dirt, while 8 Iowa State men have scored for Jim Yeager. Kansas State has sent seven men into the scoring columns, Nebraska six and Missouri only four.

Sorry news from Kansas is a report telling of a broken jaw suffered by Senior Max Replogle Jayhawk sparkplug, whose football career received its knockout blow with the injury. Also, the fact that Ralph Miller, flashy halfback re-injured his knee was sorely received here. The boys played well against the Huskers and deserved a better break than those injuries.
