

SPORT NOTES

By Norman Harris

Even though the rumor that Iowa university's football team would travel to Lincoln next Saturday has been stopped officially by Mr. Selleck, many Cornhusker followers are inclined to think that the idea was a good one.

Figuring that the Cornhusker guarantee at Iowa would have been more than the gate receipts, the trip would undoubtedly help Iowa university's athletic financial problems. Nebraska's share of a home gate would probably be twice as much as their guarantee when they do go to Iowa. However, there's a lot of difficult problems that would have to be tackled if the Hawkeyes came here.

First, student activity tickets of course include no tickets for the Iowa game and tickets for the contest would probably be sold to students through the athletic office. The cost wouldn't be exorbitant but probably enough to keep hundreds of activity ticket holders away from the game.

Then too, there are no tickets printed as yet, reserved seat sales would be a rush on the athletic office, and the red tape entanglement all around would put John K. Selleck and staff into the infirmary after a couple of days.

The idea is practical from one standpoint, impractical from another. Anyway, the rumors were spiked and the Huskers will, unless something happens awfully sudden-like, travel to Iowa this week-end.

Chances for a victory over Kansas State seem quite remote since the Wildcats' moral victory over Iowa State Saturday. The Wildcats should have won that game, but the sparkling Kischer was a little too much to keep capped down for the entire 60 minutes. The Husker showing against Pitt wasn't too discomfoting, and it seems that the Biffer really has found his best combination. Even though they have been playing together for the last three or four games, fans weren't sure that the selections were the right ones. But they are.

T. C. U.'s Davey O'Brien accomplished probably the greatest passing feat pulled off this year Saturday, pitching 17 strikes in 24 throws for a total of nearly 230 yards. Davey has passed for 15 touchdowns this year which is another miracle of football in itself. Weighing only 150 pounds, he ranks as a triple-threatener, besides doing the signal calling for the Christians. He's an All-American, if there is such a thing.

Rice's 232 pound Ernie Lain may be an All-American this year through all the publicity he has received both before the season

Uncle "NEB" Says

"A couple of home town girls were in Lincoln visiting "Tiny" Teich, Chi Phi Casanova. Came the night and the girls discovered that they had forgotten their pajamas—or something—but "Tiny", always ready to help maidens in distress or without nightdress came to the rescue by loaning them one of his "super" pajamas. After flipping a coin for the possession of the coveted top part—equivalent to a nightshirt—they retired to stay with friends at the A. O. Pi house.

Saturday's game against Pittsburgh's football machine.

Pictures of the game and a lecture by Major Jones occupied most of the afternoon. The Major pointed out individual weaknesses and the strong points of the Pittsburgh offense and defense.

The lineups remained the same that started last Saturday, Lloyd Grimm and George Seeman at ends, Forrie Behm and Bob Mills at tackles, Ad Dobson and Bill Herrmann at guards, Charlie Brock at center, and Hermie Rohrig, Jack Dodd, Bill Callihan and Harry Hopp in the backfield. This will probably be the starting lineup for the Iowa university game at Iowa City Saturday.

What Can Iowa Do?

Iowa's record is far from impressive altho it does include a tie with Purdue and a win from Chicago, both Big Ten teams. The game with Purdue was the best effort of the season as they out-downed and out yarded one of the best teams in the Big Ten. In every game, with the exception of Minnesota, Kinnick and Balazs, Iowa's punters have been on the long end of the kicking yardage.

Iowa's team boasts five men who weigh over the 200 pound mark and the heavyweight prima donna of college football in Henry Luebcke, a 300 pound tackle. The men to watch will probably be Frank Balazs, 210 pound fullback a line plunger deluxe as well as a passer and kicker and Nile Kinnick, last year's choice for all Big Ten honors at quarterback.

and during it; but, he hasn't been playing a lot of football and doesn't deserve all the credit he's getting.

Rice's record this year isn't any too astonishing, and Lain has been on the bench too much to qualify as one of the nation's best.

Sooners, Cyclones Battle For Loop Crown This Week

NU, Mizzou, Jayhawks Seek Basament Honors

BIG SIX STANDINGS.

	w	l	pts.	op.	pts.
Oklahoma	4	0	70	2	1000
Iowa State	3	0	68	40	.875
Kansas State	2	1	41	79	.375
Nebraska	1	3	33	42	.350
Missouri	1	3	30	68	.250
Kansas	1	3	41	65	.250

Oklahoma and Iowa State will battle this weekend to decide the Big Six conference championship. It will be the first time the Cyclones have ever threatened to cart off the conference crown, while the Sooners have once before come pretty close, but not close enough. Kansas took the title from the other five schools back in 1928, as the Sooners put Nebraska out of the picture with a 20 to 7 defeat. The Huskers licked Kansas that year anyway, 16 to 0.

Iowa State weakened a little last Saturday, after coming thru seven games without a defeat, barely gaining a tie with the Wildcats from Manhattan.

Odds Favor Sooners.

Oklahoma is a decided favorite to take the title, having scored 70 points against four conference opponents and holding the four enemies scoreless. The Cyclones have hit the mark for 58 points while allowing 40 to be chalked up against them. The Sooners licked Kansas State 26 to 0 and Wes Fry's charges almost beat the Cyclones in their 13 to 13 tie. Iowa State topped Missouri by 16 to 13 and Oklahoma whitewashed the Tigers 21 to 0. Comparative scores don't mean much, but when they show so much of a difference, they are likely to be reliable.

Hugh McCullough, 200 pound Oklahoma fullback pounced up to the top of Big Six scoring records last week, scoring against Missouri. McCullough has accounted for five touchdowns and five extra points for 35 points. Closely behind him are Starmer of Missouri with 34, Kischer of Iowa State with 33, Missouri's Christman, 31; Cyclone Hank Wilder with 30.

Marv Plock and Bill Andreson of the Huskers are the only two kickers who have accounted for field goals this year. Everett Kischer has accounted for nine points after touchdowns to lead in this department.

SDT's, Phi Mu Win Games

Girl's Nebraska ball intra-mural tournament is in its first round of play. Two games were played yesterday afternoon at Grant Memorial. Sigma Delta Tau, with 28 scores defeated Raymond hall, who chalked up 18 tallies. The Chi Omega team dropped their game to the Phi Mu's by a score of 43 to 8.

Only a few teams still remain in the deck tennis tournament, and the remaining games will soon be played off.

Cagers Need 'C' at Kansas

Coach Allen Announces Revised Average Ruling

"Anti-flunk insurance" is the term applied to a requirement for all basketball players, Dr. F. C. Allen, basketball coach has announced. The rule is that all players, to be eligible for competition, must maintain a "C" average in their academic work.

Dr. Allen added that basketball is one sport that is likely to suffer from ineligibility rules, since its playing season extends from one school semester into another. The "C" average rule applies to freshmen who will compete in the varsity-fresh game, Nov. 29, and to varsity men who hope to make the Texas trip during the Christmas holidays.

Starting Monday, the varsity will practice every day at 3:30 and the freshmen four nights a week from 6:30 to 8.

The freshman-varsity game of Nov. 29, and a double header, Dec. 3, at the time of the Warrensburg Teachers game, bringing in some stars of other years, have just been announced as additions to the non-conference schedule.

will meet Moore-Moore, Trump-Kreischer will play the Buker-McMichael team. The team of Fairman-Fox will play the team of Pitney-Alexis and Jones-Rottman will play Tolfaen-Younger. Smith-Reed will meet the winner of the Janicek-Delang vs. Delfs-Dutcher match.

3 Lettermen Spark K-State Hoop Drills

22 Cagesters Report To Coach Frank Root For Fundamentals

MANHATTAN, Kas.—While king football is receiving the attention on the Kansas State campus, Coach Frank P. Root is supervising daily workouts for his Wildcat basketball team in preparation for the opening game of the season Dec. 3.

Twenty-two men are taking part in the drills on fundamentals and ball handling as Coach Root attempts to get preliminary work out of the way and get down to hard practice. Following eight tough non-conference games, opening with Southwestern at Winfield, the Wildcats start the Big Six schedule against Iowa State at Ames, Jan. 7.

With but three lettermen returning from last year's squad, the K-State mentor is forced to start from the ground up in building an aggregation capable of standing the fast pace played in the Big Six. Leading the trio of K wearers is Homer Wesche, all-conference center who is one of the loop's sharpshooters, and Ervin Reid, a high scoring sophomore last season. Both are former Manhattan High performers. With these two offensive powers Root has George Kramer, Mankato, a small but very efficient guard who played brilliant ball at times during the last campaign.
