

SOCIAL LITES by Margaret Krause and Dixie Davis

Holiday of house parties, plus football enthusiasm... be sure to meet the train this morning at 10:25 to welcome the team...

Marion Boyer, Lucille McNeel, Alice Marian Holmes, Margaret Griggs, Eleanor Hyde, Mary Eva Huffman, Hazel Manning, Rita Krefels, Virginia Knox, Dorothy Stotts, Lucille Lambert, Ruth Miller, Margaret Watkins, Beverly Brown, Louise Matthews, and Jean Wagner.

Program: 1. "Sweetheart," Victor Herbert, "Kentucky Babe," Chorus, Ruth Chapman, Maxine Marshall, Virginia Sack, Ruth Grosvenor, Clara Malster, Marjorie Rouse, Evelyn Brown, Maurine Malster, Doris Woodford, Alice Churchill, director, Norma Johnson, accompanist.

Delta Delta Delta, held their Founders day banquet Friday evening at the University club. Over one hundred attended some of the out-of-town guests included Miss Clara Mackin, Omaha; Mrs. George Reeder, Miss Clara Reeder, Mrs. Harry Rex, Mrs. Lee Evans, all of Columbus, and Mrs. Robert Plattsmouth.

Phi Psi house party given by the pledges for the actives last evening carried with it quite a surprise. It was Bob Miller's birthday, so for Bobby, they had a birthday cake. The theme was Thanksgiving, best depicted by the gobbling of the turkey they had in captivity.

At the Tau house Friday night, their hillbilly house party ended the beard contest that had been going on. There was a tie between Ralph Wardon and Bud Cather, so they ducked for apples to decide the winner.

Phi Delt house party Friday evening looked very much like Madison Square with even the bartender in the proverbial boxing robe. Watching the girls trying to get on the dance floor by climbing between the ropes surrounding the floor proved quite amusing.

The Sig Alpha closed house party with surprise refreshments of lemonade and cookies. Confetti and serpentine helped to make the party a hilarious one.

Girls who will serve at the tea include Melva Kime, Helen Young, Lois Jeanne Harris, Betty Pierce, Grace Leaders Gloria Hanson.

"Fixer-Upper"

Yes, she's a regular little "fixer-upper," so say her sorority sisters about JEAN CARNAHAN, Chi O pledge... and we found out that Jean has fixed herself up for Thanksgiving vacation for a good old Lincoln high school formal... and besides Jean goes further back than high school... CUTTING OUT PAPER DOLLS and saving favors and programs, but Jean's interest in journalism certainly is not childish... writing feature stories isn't enough, Jean thinks WRITING AD COPY much more interesting... and profitable... and no one will dispute THAT... so Jean works at the "Rag" and spends the only remaining time she has for activities in the AWS... you'll see her running around the campus in her CINNAMON COLORED COAT that brings out the highlights in her auburn hair... don't run too fast or too far, Jean, but run down to the HOTEL CAPITAL COFFEE LOUNGE some Sunday and refresh yourself with Italian spaghetti... for 2 ON THE HOUSE!

Leaders Call Uni Religion Week Success

Response to Program Pleases Committee

"A full week of activities highlighted by the addresses and presence of famous Christian statesmen and leaders, promoted a very successful program," said R. E. Henry, chairman of Religion and Life Week activities, Saturday at the close of the annual religious emphasis week sponsored by the university's Council of Religious Welfare.

Largest Attendance. "The opening meeting was much greater than any ever held in a state university to date," he continued. "The seminar attendance has broken all past records and the sustained interest to the very last day has been better than in other places. The final convocation was another record breaker. And to top the climax, Nebraska had an extra seven o'clock breakfast with a larger attendance than at any of the other six days."

Addresses by E. Stanley Jones, volatile religious statesman officially opened and closed the five day convence.

Chairman Pleased. According to Rev. Henry, the whole campus community responded magnificently to the program. The Student Union is to be congratulated in caring for the numerous meetings, luncheons and seminars in such a thorough manner. Without the complete and wholehearted co-operation from all of the administration down to the last individual, the committee could not have hoped for a successful program.

In Henry's own words, "There is no place like Nebraska." Students had opportunities to meet the various leaders during last Sunday's reception in the Union and at the many teas and dinners held by the various Lincoln churches.

Delegations from a number of Nebraska colleges attended the meet. Doane, Hastings and Wesleyan sent the largest delegations. Helen Pascoe Praises Leaders. According to Helen Pascoe, the committee member, good attendance combined with interesting, up to date addresses by all of the leaders marked the definite success of the lectures.

In a number of cases, conferences with the individual students were arranged by the various leaders. Said Henry, "Nineteen outstanding leaders of religion, many known around the world for their work, here on the Nebraska campus all at once and for a week, made up a company which we would ordinarily only expect to dream of entertaining."

Notable Team. Sixteen men and three women made up the company. They were Dr. Jesse M. Bader, E. Stanley Jones, T. Z. Koo, Sam Higginbottom, Benjamin E. Mays, Theodore O. Wedel, Albert M. Palmer, Herrick B. Young, Harold C. Case, Frank C. McCulloch, Joseph Sittler, Heil D. Bollinger, Father Malachy Sullivan, Rabbi Samuel S. Mayberg, Stephen E. Bayne, Charles Schwieso, Mrs. Grace Sloane Overton, Miss Frances Greenough and Miss Evelyn O'Connor. McCulloch returned Friday to Chicago, recalled by the demands of his position as a prominent Chicago lawyer. Sixteen of nineteen members of the team remaining left yesterday evening for the campus of Manhattan, Kas.

A special meeting of all Religion and Life week committee chairmen, Religious Welfare council and the famous team was held early Saturday morning in the Union for the purpose of outlining plans for a carry-over program of the past week's activities and creating campus organs for its perpetuation.

Consul Gives Italian Books

Language Library Receives 11 Volumes

At a luncheon in the Union Friday, R. D. Grillo, royal Italian consul for this area with headquarters at Denver, gave eleven leather bound volumes of material on Italian cultural advancement to the department of romance languages of the university. Mr. Grillo and V. P. Chiozo, Italian consular agent at Omaha were guests of that department.

An additional 10 volumes which will complete the set will come by mail according to Mr. Grillo. A publication of the Italian government, the set will be kept in the library of the romance language department.

The set deals in particular with the work of Italians who have done outstanding work in other countries than their homeland. Mr. Grillo is on his way to Rome for a month's vacation following which he will return to his duties in Denver. Presiding at the luncheon was Dr. James R. Wadsworth, acting chairman of the department.

N.U. Opponents Score Victories

Kansas State Takes Washburn 41 to 14

Following Nebraska's lead for the most part, the Huskers' opponents won four and lost two of their contests yesterday. Kansas State, Nebraska's opponents in their Turkey Day tilt walked all over a Washburn team to the tune of 41 to 14.

Oklahoma took undisputed hold of the Big Six title by its 10 to 0 conquest of Iowa State in the big game of the middle west. Another of the Cornhuskers' early season opponents bagged a title today as Minnesota walloped Wisconsin 21 to 0 to retain the Big Ten title it shared with Purdue last year. Missouri took St. Louis university into camp by a 26 to 0 margin, while Indiana fell to a superior Purdue team, 13 to 6.

Smith Host to Architects

Yearly Conclave Draws 40 Outstate Guests

Between 35 and 40 Nebraska architects were guests of Prof. L. B. Smith and the department of architecture, when members of the Nebraska Architects association met for an informal gathering in Lincoln, Saturday. Professor Smith is vice-president of the group.

The meeting was opened at 10 o'clock Saturday morning when Charles W. Steinbaugh, president of the group are an Omaha architect, who explained the recently enacted engineers' licensing bill and its effect on architectural engineering. The meeting was held in the architectural laboratories in the basement of Temple.

Part of the morning was spent in passing judgment and making constructive criticisms on architectural designs drawn by students. The architects also heard a report from an appointed board of examiners on the school and library facilities.

A round-table discussion on various problems which the organization will encounter for the coming year and how they are to be handled, preceded a luncheon at the Union.

Activities for the afternoon consisted of the showing of a group of slides on outstanding architectural designs and applications. This was the third meeting of the group. The first one was held in Omaha and the 1937 conference here at the University.

'Get Your Awgwans At Stands'—McGinnis

"Awgwan subscribers will assure themselves of receiving a copy of the November issue before Thanksgiving vacation by calling for their copies at the distribution stands in Social Science, Andrews and the Union Monday and Tuesday," stated Business Manager Dick McGinnis, waving a November Awgwan, just off the press. "If copies are not picked up at the stands, they will not be mailed out until after Thanksgiving vacation."

Detoneers Join National Society

Drawing up and accepting a constitution at their first meeting of the year last Thursday evening, Detoneers became members of the National Society of American Military Engineers. The Detoneers, formerly a local organization, was formed last year.

Under the new constitution all officers of the regular army, national guard, and the reserves are eligible for membership.

Officers elected for the year are: Dale Wolvin, president; Francis Loetterle, vice president; Harold Sampson, secretary; and Earl Maurer, treasurer. Sterling Dobbs was elected as the junior member of the executive committee. Captain Cruise is the sponsor of the organization.
