

Huskers End Season Tomorrow

Kosmet Klub Set for 1938 Fall Revue

Ticket Sales Increase For Show; Presentation At 9 Thursday Morning

Lights! Action! Music! Tomorrow morning promptly at 9 o'clock the curtain of the Stuart theater rises on the 1938 Kosmet Klub fall revue, featuring 13 variety acts of fraternity and sorority groups, and the presentation of the new Nebraska Sweetheart.

Advance ticket sales for the show have been unusually brisk, according to Bob Gannon, Klub business manager, and with the added sales always made at the theater box office the morning of the revue, he hopes to fill the 1,900 seat house.

Three silver loving cups will be awarded to the best fraternity full-stage act, best sorority full-stage act, and best curtain act, respectively. Judging will be conducted on the basis of audience applause.

In a Frat Dorm. Sigma Alpha Epsilon will present a skit entitled "From Bed to Worse" offering an inside look at What Goes on in Fraternity Dormitories. Those who have seen the act in rehearsal rate it as hilarious stuff with much action.

"Frosted Swing," is the offering of Alpha Omicron Pi, and features penguins Marian Miller and Marjorie Bannister. There is also a high-stepping, trucking, shagging chorus that manages to warm up the cold, cold north pole locale of the act. Josephine Ley and Ruby McGee lead the chorus.

Father Divine and his colored brethren are lampooned by the Alpha Sigma Phi's in their skit, "God's Gift to Humanity." Walt Cropper plays Father Delight, and other black-faced members of the cast keep busy with songs and crap games.

In the Good Old Days. Sigma Kappa's present a curtain act, in which Betty Lehman and Emma Marie Schuttloff portray an old married couple reminiscing over the good old days they spent at dear old Nebraska U.

The struggle of university students to get past St. Peter's gate is the dramatic business of "For Heaven's Sake," Phi Mu skit. Lorraine Elmborg takes the role of St. Peter, and among those seeking entrance are Kay Lindblad and Eleanor Grousel as B. M. O. C.'s, and Eleanor Beth and Lucille Fry as Independent Barbs. There is also a chorus.

Sigma Chi's will amuse the Thanksgiving morning audience with a takeoff on Fred Allen's radio show, with plenty of wisecracks and impersonations promised.

Other skits in the show are Kappa Kappa Gamma's "Flub Matinee," the Betas' "Shades of Blue," Delta Gamma's "Awgwan," Alpha Tau Omega's "Tobacco Row," Phi Psi's "Swig-time in the Rockies, or Trail of the Lonesome Pine," Kappa Delta's "Everybody Swing," and Zeta Beta Tau's "Minstrel Show."

Union Plans Gay Vacation Program

Dining Room to Serve Thanksgiving Dinners

Thanksgiving will be celebrated in the Union tomorrow with traditional turkey day dinners served in the dining rooms, a log fire in the reception room fireplace and games, ping pong and a radio for those not attending the football game in the afternoon.

The Union will be open the entire weekend and a varied program is being planned for those students staying in Lincoln during the three day vacation. The grill and the game rooms will be open at the same times as when classes are in session.

An extra-long matinee dance from 3:30 to 6 o'clock is scheduled for Friday afternoon, and in the evening the university "night spot" in the cafeteria will feature something new in the way of games when a bingo stand is set up with coles and food given away for prizes.

Saturday evening there will be a dance in the Union ballroom with the music starting at 8 o'clock. The dining rooms, which will be closed on Friday and Saturday will open again Sunday.

Y.W. Groups Elect Heads

Freshman Officers To Pack Gift Boxes

Forming the Freshman Y. W. C. A. cabinet which is the nucleus of freshman Y. W. workers, the nine freshman commission groups elected their presidents and secretaries during last week with the results announced yesterday.

Newly chosen presidents of the commission groups are: Florence Moll, Ruby Buscham, Phyllis Curtis, Natalie Burn, Marian Cramer, Ruth Somberg, Gail Ferguson, Mary Ellen McKee and Ben Alice Day.

Secretaries for the groups include Deloris Hansen, Katherine Hansen, Alice Steinmeyer, Lois Lea Billebach, Evelyn Paepfer, Jane Allen, Lorraine Grant, Betty Fosbury and Viona Huder.

These 18 girls form the freshman cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. Now under way is their first project, a collection of funds from all organized houses, with the money used for Thanksgiving gift boxes which will be distributed by the Lincoln Social Welfare society to needy families on Thanksgiving day.

Members of the group made dinner speeches in the various houses Monday evening, and the money boxes were then distributed to be collected again today. On the speakers' committee were Jane Allen, Ruby Buscham and Alice Steinmeyer. In charge of distribution the money boxes were Betty Fosbury and Natalie Burn, and in charge of picking up the boxes are Florence Moll, Marian Cramer and Betty Fosbury.

Further plans for the service program of the group include a vesper program to collect funds for the welfare society. Between now and Christmas vacation, the cabinet expects to co-operate with the commission groups in planning a Christmas program for the Y. W. C. A.

Also in their schedule is a study of the organization and purposes of the Y. W. C. A., practice sessions in parliamentary procedure, and the planning of the annual May morning breakfast, given each year on the morning of Mothers' day for Y. W. members and their mothers.

Now Comes the Season For All-Star Selections

Scribe Offers Hints On Picking Pigskinners

By Brus Kamel.

The time has come, the walrus said, to scribble many names on linemen, halfbacks, fullbacks, too, of All-American teams. Thus parroting Lewis Carroll, the sage of nonsense rhymes, we launch into a philippic on modern sporting times.

Castling all meter and caution to the four winds, the tripe writer clicks haltingly on its way on a discussion of "How to Pick an All-Star Team." Around Thanksgiving day practically every sports-writer retires to his padded cell with a batch of newspaper headlines, autoum mummies, personal prejudices, and delusions of "expertism," and emerges sometime later with a headache, misgivings, and some kind of an All-Star team, be it All-American, All-Western, All Big Six, All-State or All-City.

Every sports-writer disagrees with everyone else. He has to in order to keep his individuality. Accuse a newspaperman, especially, a sports reporter, of being regimented and you have hurled the dirtiest insult this side of you know what. Every newspaper reader also disagrees with every all-star selection. That's why he reads the newspaper—so he can privately cuss the article and write a vitriolic complaint about how come Ole Svenson wasn't given due consideration.

It's Very Easy.

It is easy to pick an "all" team. And yet perhaps a few hints on how to go about selecting one would be in order for the few who don't know the difference between a goal post and a hitching post. This takes in about everybody, however, since in this machine age, very few know what a hitching post is, let alone the difference. Okay, let's let the difference alone.

The first step in selecting an all-star aggregation is to emphasize the fact that yours is the only official selection, with the big red letters on the box score, and all imitations should be disregarded, together with the top of a breakfast food box or a reasonable fac-

Tassels Sell 664 Yearbooks

Misses Wicks, Davis, Husted Top Sales

Tassels completed their 1938 Cornhusker sales campaign last evening with a total of 664 subscriptions for the yearbook.

Winning the prize of $10 for selling the most annuals was Priscilla Wicks who sold 43, a greater number by three than the most sold by one girl last year, Dixie Davis placed second with 37 Cornhuskers sold, and Ann Husted third with 34 sales. The Tassels winning second and third were awarded prizes of $5.00 and $3.50 by the Cornhusker staff.

The reckoning of sales followed a five week drive waged by the girls pep organization.

Fry's Wildcats Face Jonesmen in Grid Finale

Classes Dismissed at 11 For Huge Indoor Rally In the Union Ballroom

Highlighting the spirit session, Virginia Nolte, Tassel president will present scrolls to senior grid-diers.

Bill Andreson, Charley Brock, Bill Callihan, Jack Dodd, Lloyd Grimm, Bob Mills, Vernon Neprud, Thurston Pheles, Marvin Plock, Ken Shindo.

Corn Cob Sponsor C. J. Frankforter will address the gathering and laud the freshman team, and Dean T. J. Thompson will speak on "Student Spirit." Master of ceremonies at the affair, will be Bob Leadley, head cheer leader.

Both the freshman and varsity bands will be used in the demonstration. Tassels and Corn Cobs will be lined up along the stage.

Ellen Smith To Receive Holiday Garb

Hanging of the Greens Dinner Calls Activity Women November 30

The time honored ceremony of the Hanging of the Greens will be observed this year Wednesday, Nov. 30 at 5:30 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall at the traditional Hanging of the Greens dinner.

Fullback Duel Takes Spotlight As Ten Uni Gridders End Careers

BY NORMAN HARNS.

King football's three month reign over the University of Nebraska campus will end tomorrow, when Nebraska's red-shirted Cornhuskers meet Wes Fry's young men from Manhattan, Kansas, in the season's finale in Memorial stadium.

With both the Huskers and the Wildcats out of the running for any Big Six honors, the two squads will present just a football game, which promises to be the closest of the home season.

Wildcat fury was savage enough to conquer Missouri, with Tiger Paul Christmas's passes accounting for most of the Tiger yardage. That same Master Christmas turned Tiger defeat into victory when he passed Mizou into a 13 to 10 victory after Nebraska had taken a 10 to 7 lead at the start of the second half.

16 Play Last Game.

Reversal of form saw the Wildcats' claws trimmed when K.U.'s Jayhawkers flashed their best form of the season to tame Fry's Cats, 27 to 7. Then, along came the Huskers, figured by Mount Oreadians as another K.U. victim, to snipe the Jayhawks in Lawrence, 16 to 7, in the last five minutes.

Tomorrow marks the final appearance of ten Cornhusker seniors and a sextet of Manhattan fourth year men.

Nebraska seniors will be honored this morning in the Union ballroom at 11 o'clock. Further details of the ceremonies and accompanying rally can be read in other Nebraska columns.

Betting odds on tomorrow's game have downtown sharks skeptical about taking either team. Records of the year divulge nothing to them. Both teams will be at full strength, altho Husker Harry Hopp will not be used unless necessary. His kicking, always a factor in Nebraska's play, plus his passing and line bucking may be missed, but able Bus Knight, sophomore co-first stringer with Harry should be able to handle all these assignments with comparative ease.

Postseason Tilt Unlikely

Advocates Undertake No Definite Action

Major L. M. Jones stated yesterday afternoon that he had not been approached concerning a suggested Nebraska-Creighton post-season game.

Omaha's Exchange club advocated the post-season tilt between the two schools, with the proceeds to go to Omaha and Lincoln Community Chests. Walter A. Jensen, the club's president, has been empowered to approach athletic directors of both universities on the question, but as yet no statement has been made by him to indicate whether he has acted.

Club speakers advocated the game on the basis that the two teams are nearer matched this year than at any other time, with Creighton having one of its best years, and the Huskers in the midst of a rather unsuccessful season.

38's Modern Miss Violates 1850's 'Ladies Book' Rules

'Ballroom Is a Pitfall Covered With Flowers' Warns Ancient Volume

Ladies of 1938, you have something to be thankful for this year. When Thanksgiving day arrives remember the girls of 1850 and rejoice. They didn't take the "Ladies Book of Etiquette" lightly but used its staid advice day and night. Slang in their day was taboo. "What-ly-ye call it?" "Thingummy." "What's his name," or any such substitutes for a proper name were ill-bred. Unless your companion was a French scholar, it was a mark of ill breeding to use French phrases or words. People who conversed in sentences of double meaning were to be ignored. Affectation was a sure sign of a deceitful, vulgar mind.

"The Flowery Pitfall."

Dancing was not considered immoral but the rules to be obeyed ran on for pages. "No lady will refuse an introduction to a gentleman. It is an insult to her hostess, implying that her guests are not gentlemen. And no lady of taste will carry on a flirtation in a ballroom, so as to attract remark." A piano, violin, and violoncello were considered enough music for a private ball, while the most popular dance of the day was the quadrille with
