Creation of a senate committee on educational policies and practices designed to improve the instructional program of the university was announced Saturday by Chancellor C. S. Boucher. The newly-formed committee will study changes in program and procedure at other institutions and will present reports of their survey at least once a semester.

Dean C. H. Oldfather of the arts college will serve as chairman. The balance of the committee will be Dr. N. A. Bengtson, chairman of the department of geography; Dr. H. E. Bradford, chairman of the department of vocational education; Dr. Dr. W. L. DeBaufre, chairman of the department of engineering mechanics; Dr. J. P. Guilford, professor of psychology; Dr. C. S. Hamilton, professor of chemistry; Dr. C. O. Swayze, associate professor of personnel and labor relations; Dr. T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs; and Dr. D. A. Wocoster, chairman of the department of educational psychology and measurements.

Seeks Faculty Suggestions.

The committee will seek suggestions for studies and reports from all faculty members on the campus as well as study procedures on other campuses of institutions of higher learning. It will make recommendations to the appropriate administrative officer or to the faculty of any school or college for consideration. Recommendations will be heard by the university senate if a change concerns more than one school or college. Only the appropriate faculty will be consulted when one college or school is concerned.

Chancellor C. S. Boucher said the committee should begin immediately in a study of such subjects as pre-college counseling, aptitude and placement tests, student guidance and personnel work, general and specialized education and their appropriate positions and relations, vocational education in the fields in which the university now offers training, and instructional methods in several specific fields. Each report will include a statement of best current practices and results in other institutions analyzed with regard to all pertinent circumstances and conditions in the university.

Grad in Supreme Court Johnsen Serves in State Tribunal

First in his class in the university law school when he graduated in 1919 with an A.B. degree in philosophy, logic, and languages, besides a Phi Beta Kappa key, Harvey M. Johnsen was named associate justice of the Nebraska supreme court by Gov. R. L. Cochran yesterday.

At 43, one of the youngest men on the court, his record is one of achievement. While in the university, he was for three years secretary to Chief Justice Morrissey of the supreme court. When he got the appointment he knew nothing about secretarial work. Yet, in 30 days, he had breezed thru a course in shorthand and picked up what was expected of him.

He attended the university from 1915 to 1920, and by attending summer school, lopped a year off the normal schedule. His classmate in law school, Edward F. Johnson is also a justice of the court. Johnsen and Carter got two of the three Orders of the Coif awarded in 1919.

While in school, Johnsen was a member of Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity and was Ivy

E. A. Burnett Uni Historian

Ex-chancellor to Write History of Progress in NU Institution

In recognition of his years of service to the University, Chancellor Emeritus E. A. Burnett has been named historian of the institution by the university board of regents.

In explanation of the duties of Lincoln Journal. EMERITUS E. A. BURNETT.

Dr. Burnett, the announcement pointed out that the development of higher education in this country has been unique, both as to size and character. At some future date, when a complete history of the development of the educational structure of this country is written, the primary source of material will be the histories of the separate institutions.

With this thought in mind, it was felt that Dr. Burnett, who has served the university since 1899, would be the person best qualified to prepare such a work for Nebraska.

Dr. Burnett came to the university in 1899 and was successively professor, associate dean, dean of the college of agriculture, acting chancellor from March, 1928, until last summer. During his years at Nebraska, the state university (Continued on Page 2.)

KFOR to Quiz Colonel Candidates

Four Aspirants Air Views at 8:45 Tonight

Views of life, marriage, college and other miscellany will be aired over radio station KFOR this evening at 8:45 p. m. by the four candidates for Nebraska's Honorary Colonel.

Under the expert quizzing of Jack Hansen, radio interviewer, the candidates will reveal everything except one pertinent matter—which one is the Honorary Colonel. KFOR will also broadcast the grand march which will start Friday at 9:15 to be followed by the presentation of the Honorary Colonel.

The candidates vying for the honor are: Virginia Fleetwood, Kappa Alpha Theta; Frances Boldman, Delta Gamma; Helen Pascoe, Chi Omega, and Betty Clements, unaffiliated.

The lucky one of the four has been whittled around these last few days with scarcely a minute to herself. Escorted by Colonel Oury with dark scenery, she had shiny black boots fitted, fittings for her gorgeous scarlet and cream uniform and will have her picture taken in uniform between now and Friday at an undisclosed time and place.

Full rehearsals of the grand march and the presentation will be held in the coliseum Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 7 o'clock with all participants, cadet officers and dates, present except the Honorary Colonel.

French Film Here Saturday

'Merlusse,' Second of Series, at Kiva Theater

A "Christmas Carol" type of story, written and directed by the famous Marcel Pagnol, is "Merlusse," the second French moving picture to be sponsored by the department of romance languages this year. The picture will be shown on Saturday morning, Dec. 10, in the Kiva theater.

Merlusse means "codfish," and was the nickname given to one of the teachers in a Provençal boys' school. Merlusse is an ill favored fellow with a glass eye and all the warmth of personality that would inspire "cruel youth" to nickname him "codfish." But, funny fish that he is, Merlusse is pathetically sensitive.

All the action takes place within a few hours the afternoon and night of Christmas eve, when Merlusse is put in charge of the boys who are not going home for vacation—either because they have no homes or are not wanted at home, "an odd lot of hard-bitten realists with the keen cynicism of youngsters who have to shift for themselves."

In accordance with a new policy, the show will be screened three times, at 8, 9:30 and 11 o'clock. Tickets are being sold in the romance languages office at a special price of three for 65 cents, single tickets costing 25 cents.

U. S., Britain to Merge? Stoke Decries Pro-British Build-Up

By Ellsworth Steele.

"The King and Queen of England will visit the United States in the spring of 1939 to take part in ceremonies repelling the declaration of independence and to receive again the allegiance of their former possessions. The historic 13 colonies now grown to 48 will express their deep penitence and meekly request admittance to the comforting fold of the Great British Empire." Thus spoke Dr. Harold W. Stoke, associate professor of political science, as he described in admittedly exaggerated terms the very real problem of Anglo-American understandings.

"President Roosevelt will probably be allowed to continue as governor-general of the latest as well as the strongest dominion of the British Empire," Dr. Stoke continued. "The transfer of allegiance will come in a special ceremony at Washington which will rival the recent British coronation for its color and ritual."

U. S. Visit Cause for Taip. Dropping his fantastic role of startling prophet, Dr. Stoke explained that the British King and Queen are to visit Canada in the spring preparatory to their trip to the United States which appears to be the real cause of their coming. The visit will be the first ever taken by a British monarch to the western hemisphere. President

Sino-Japanese War Experiences Feature N.U. Grad's Talk Today

Experiences gained from 13 years of active missionary work in China, along with first hand accounts of the Sino-Japanese war, will feature an address by Dr.

Lincoln Journal. DR. WALTER H. JUDD.

Walter H. Judd, missionary doctor, to an all university convocation in the Temple at 11 o'clock, this morning.

Dr. Judd, who received his M.D. degree from the University of Nebraska in 1923 is considered one of the foremost authorities on the far eastern situation because of his many years of medical missionary work in China. The American committee for non-participation in Japanese aggression is promoting his schedule which provides for addresses by Judd from coast to coast.

The missionary doctor has already told of his thrilling and unusual experiences in the war stricken areas of the far east, to large audiences in New York, Ohio, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Missouri. Other engagements will take him to Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, most of the New England states, Washington, D. C., and south to Florida.

Dr. Judd's medical missionary work has been continuous since 1923. He returned to the United States in August from Japanese occupied territory in northern China where he saw American ambulances carrying wounded civilians and American doctors and nurses wounded by American-made bombs, and American relief money feeding refugees under the shadow of Japanese planes manufactured in America and flown with the aid of American oil.

According to Dr. H. W. Stoke, chairman of convocation programs this morning's address will be open to the public.

The university alumnus is well known to local and state audiences for he has appeared on the lecture platform many times.
