

Aged, Overcrowded Library Becomes Unsafe

Reserve Room Lacks Facilities

Small Seating Capacity Poor Light Handicap

When a professor makes an assignment requiring reading from books other than texts and calmly states that he has "placed the books on reserve over in the library" he sends students to a room that has:

1. An optimum seating capacity of 225 students;
2. Poor lighting;
3. Uniformly cold temperature in winter;
4. Uniformly hot temperature in summer;
5. Little storage space for books placed on reserve.

The reserve reading room houses the library service most frequently used by undergraduate students, 6,000 strong. That there would be a more extensive and intensive use of reserve books if the facilities were enlarged was a fact revealed by a faculty survey in 1934. Academic departments were asked, "If a new library could be secured, would more books be placed on reserve?" Of 34 departments, 30 answered, "Yes." The same response was elicited to the question "If a new library could be secured, would more term papers and independent readings be assigned?"

Engineers Plan Inspection Trip

Annual Tour to Take Classes to Kansas City

The annual engineers inspection trip to some point of general engineering interest will be taken in April, 1939, according to an announcement posted yesterday by Prof. H. J. Kesner, chairman of the committee in charge of the trip.

One of the requirements for graduation from the engineering college, the inspection trip, next year will be made to some place in the Kansas City district. Only students of junior or senior standing are eligible to take the trip. Another more extensive trip will be held the year following for the juniors who do not go next year.

Flea Is King

The lowly flea, long a trouble causer to man and beast, is going to live the life of a king at the University of California.

But his new found kingly existence will be a life with a purpose, for his life in a new air conditioned home will be subject to the whims of scientists who seek to determine his habits and activities.

The new flea laboratory, believed to be the first of its kind in the world, will be used to study the causes and cures of sylvatic plague, a disease prevalent on the west coast and known to be transmitted to man by fleas.

Sagging Beams Endanger Reading Rooms

Weight of books far more numerous than Library hall was built to hold is causing the beams supporting the ceiling of the main reading room on the first floor to sag perceptibly, as the above illustration clearly shows. The condition is noticeable throughout the building, and obviously renders it unsafe for use as a library.

NU Students Want Blondes. No Exams, Library, 90's

Santa Asked to Bring Salaries, Good Bands

By Betty Meyer.

If U. of N. students could play Santa Claus, the old school would receive many gifts for which Saint Nick himself might disclaim any responsibility.

Martin "Colonel" Oelrich thinks that what the university really needs is 2,000 gorgeous girls. Jack Hyland is sure the void could be filled by a single beautiful blonde. On the other hand, Dot Askey plugs for just one handsome college man.

"A really good orchestra—like Benny Goodman" is what N. U. would get from Santy Harold Atherton. "And, of course, their theme song would be 'I Lost You, I Found You'," adds its fond composer. However, Dick Joyce's idea of Christmas joy would be a bar for the Student Union.

"Pedestrian subways between all buildings" is Marnie Bremers' idea of a present, and shivering coeds agree. Also of feminine inspiration is Betty Lou Wentz' gift of "smooth sidewalks, instead of those bumpy brick ones."

Ah, For a Sub.

To save steps for hard working future Blackstones, Woody Shurtless would build a SUE annex by Law college. But Betty Lee Elliott, after nearly a semester of classes in the basement of the oldest building on the campus, would give Nebraska a new U hall.

The forgotten faculty would be remembered by Bob Gannon—in the form of pens writing only grades of 90 and above. Bus Knight's Christmas package would be "No exams at all!" And a professor of political science would climb down the chimney with a million dollars, interest on which would augment salaries for professors of political science.

But the average student, according to the latest poll, would play Santa by giving the university that much needed new library. They are speaking to S. "Jupiter Pluvius" Claus about it even now.

Two Huskers Will Have Operations

Hopp, Herrmann to Rid Old Pitt Injuries Soon

Two Husker varsity footballers will submit to operations in the near future in efforts to get rid of pesky injuries suffered during the Pittsburgh game Nov. 12.

Harry Hopp, Hastings quarterback, will have some floating cartilage removed from his right knee; and Bill Herrmann, guard from Osceola must have some ligaments and muscles in his right shoulder sewed together. Herrmann's operation will be the more serious of the two.

Union Opening, Closing Dates Set

Union closing date has been officially set for Saturday evening but the dining room will close Friday noon and the cafeteria Friday night. The Corn Crib will be reopened at noon on Jan. 2 for returning students, and the dining room and cafeteria will reopen at noon on Jan. 3.

Deserts Law for Grid

Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, Temple university's 68 year old grid mentor, is one man to whom failure brought success.

After graduation from Cornell, Warner hung out his law shingle in his home town, and cooled his heels on top of his desk for two months without a single case. When the chance to coach Iowa State college came along, he took it with the intention of continuing his law work later. The $25 per week salary, in the words of "Pop," seemed like "big money."

When "Pop" did decide to coach he did it in a big way, too. After he had accepted the job at Iowa State, he received an offer from the University of Georgia which he also accepted, being probably the only football coach to hold two coaching jobs in one season. He devoted the first month of the season to Iowa State and the remainder of the season to Georgia. Following the characteristic Warner style, both teams had successful seasons.

New Library Tops University 'Musts'

Students Emphatically In Favor of Building

First on the "must" list of the university is the library. Any comprehensive view of the institution and of its development must consider the library and its relation to all departments, to all students and to the entire faculty.

No other division of the university is in such intimate, daily contact with the university community and its educational objectives. Nowhere can a single improvement be made which will affect the efficiency and welfare of the entire university as will the construction of a new library building.

Student opinion, militantly expressed in the Daily Nebraskan—issues of March 17, Oct. 27, Oct. 28, Nov. 2, 1937—is emphatically in favor of the construction of a library building before the construction of any other university building.

To emphasize the place of Christianity in the modern world, the University of Pennsylvania is planning a four day "Christian embassy."
