

Huskers Edge Cyclones, 51-44

Werner hits 18 to lead Scarlet

Nicholas scores high; mates fail to follow

By David Thompson.

Pulling the game out of the fire in the last five minutes of play, Nebraska's victory starved basketball team nosed out the league leading Iowa State cagers 51 to 44 here last night. Nebraska took an early lead on a free throw by Al Randall and buckets by Werner and Thomas, but at the end of five minutes the Iowa Staters took over. The Huskers came back and at the end of seven minutes of the first period the score was knotted at 10 all. The lead changed hands 11 times during the course of the game with the Cyclones holding the edge 24 to 20 at the half.

BILL KOVANDA

capitalized on these, making a remarkable total of 20 out of 22 of their gift tosses, while the Huskers made only 11 out of their 22 free shots. Harris of the visitors had a perfect record on free throws, getting 7 out of 7, while his teammate, Nicholas got 8 out of 9. Al Randall, Nebraska sophomore center also had a perfect record of gift tosses, making 3 out of 3.

Werner of Nebraska and Nicholas of Iowa State shared scoring honors with 18 points apiece, as Harris of Iowa State and Kovanda of Nebraska collected 13 and 12 points respectively.

Nebraska climbed out of the conference with this victory and dropped Iowa State from a tie for first with Missouri down to second place.

In a preliminary game prior to the varsity game, a green shirted freshman aggregation trounced the B team 44 to 21, giving promise of a fine sophomore group ready for varsity service next fall.

Exam Week Losses.

Victory eluded the grasp of the Huskers in their two games during exam week as they lost to Missouri and Oklahoma.

Missouri humbled the Nebraskans at Columbia January 21 54 to 41, as the Tigers moved into a tie for conference honors with Iowa State.

The Cornhuskers had things their own way in the first period, leading at the half 21 to 17, but the Tigers came back in the second canto to tear the Husker defense to shreds. The lead shifted back and forth 4 times in the last half before Missouri broke away to secure the lead.

Grant Thomas led Nebraska's scoring with 11 points, while (See BASKETBALL Page 8.)

Huskers Take the Lead.

Both teams came back strong in the second canto with Iowa State holding the lead until with 7 minutes to play Kovanda tied the ball game up at 35 all. Kovanda came back with another basket to put the Huskers out in front. The lead changed three times from this point onward, the Scarlet and Cream gaining it for good 41 to 40 with five minutes left.

ALTON WERNER

Fitz, Kovanda, and Thomas alternated from here on to put the Cornhuskers out in front.

Meet the sports editor, boys

Athletes, mind your manners:

Miss June Bierbower, Giltner senior and Daily Nebraskan sports writer for the past four semesters, will edit the "Rag" sport page starting today.

Small and hazel-eyed, the young enthusiast packs a lethal wallop in her fingers whenever she sits down at a typewriter. No football players will dare toss her out of any games, and for once, there may be more truth than poetry in Nebraskan sport columns.

"As I See It," a regular "Rag" feature for more than a year now, will take over the left hand column of the sport page and for the first time in the history of the Nebraskan, readers will heed the comment of a woman sports editor.

June has appeared on John Bentley's "I May Be Wrong" broadcast and has been quoted on numerous occasions in the Journal commentator's column. Her infinite knowledge of the details connected with all sports rank her as somewhat of an authority.

Pershing rifles meet tonight in Nebraska hall

The first Pershing Rifles meeting of this semester will be held tonight at 5 o'clock in Nebraska hall 208, according to Capt. Bob Nelson. All members are required to attend in uniform.

Company officers have worked out a training schedule in the school of the soldier and close order drill movements which will constitute basis of the training for the rest of the year. Also in force this semester is automatic expulsion for any rifleman who misses three meetings without an acceptable excuse.

Kovanda tops N.U. scorers

Werner with 31 points ranks 14th in Big Six

As I See It

Your regular columnist and new sports editor of the "Rag" being on the sick list on the first day of her reign over this worthy page, I find myself in this envied spot as sports columnist.

Nebraska lifted itself from the conference cellar last night by virtue of the 51 to 44 upset of Iowa State. Kansas State holds the bottom position alone now until it meets the Huskers here Feb. 8. A victory for Nebraska then would knot Kansas and Nebraska in a tie for third place. Nebraska not only raised its own position by winning from the Cyclones, but at the same time knocked Iowa State out of a tie for first place, leaving Missouri to rule alone.

The Big Six outdoor track and field events will be held at Iowa State college instead of at Nebraska as was previously announced. The only reason given for the change was that the stadium here does not offer a 220 yard straight away.

Nebraska's minor sports get into full swing early next month with Pete Hagelin's mermen opening a three meet trip against Carlton college of Northfield, Minn. Friday. The swimmers meet Gustaphus Adolphus college, at St. Peter, Minn., on Saturday, and the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis on Monday. The gymnastic team opens its schedule against the University of Minnesota veteran team at the Coliseum.

"Pop" Warner, for 44 years coach of some of the finest football teams in the nation, has resigned his position as head coach of the Temple university Owls. "Pop" the inventor of the hidden ball play and the Warner system has no definite plans for the future, but indicated that he would accept an offer to aid "Tiny" Thornhill at Stanford university.

The Big Six will be represented in the Wanamaker mile in New York Saturday night by John Munski, Missouri's sensational collegiate miler. John will be running to beat Glenn Cunningham, great Kansas runner whose praise, of Munski resulted in his bid to run in that capable field of runners. Up to date Munski has broken four out of five of Cunningham's Big Six records failing only in the outdoor mile. Good luck John.
