

Mingling with Marg

BIG TALK of Gene Krupa the headline of the day's society world... and can you blame anyone... and recollections of week-end fun being high-spotted by the Kappa Delta formal, the ATO, and the movie Gunga Din... all of which were mighty fine... for Saturday afternoon fun, the Bridge tourney attracted many of the Greeks... the champagne, Stanley Slosburg and Bea Sommers, played such old hands at the game as DU's Joe Stephens and Harry Epperson. Theta Dorothy Van Patten and Beta Tom Davis, Phi Deltas Fred Fairman and Cedric Johnson, Sig Alphas Bob Waugh and Bob Martin, Beta Sigs Charles Otto and Arthur Boye, Phi Gams Bob Tollefson and Hugh Eisenhart, Alpha Chi's Eleanor and Marjorie Eisenhart, Tri Deltas Eleanor Alkin and Betty Leonard, Delta Gammas Ernie Jones and Lu Williams, and runners-up Woodie Campbell and Elaine Lucas, Phi Mu's... among spectators at the match were, of course, John Upson and Jessica Mutz, SAE and Theta... at the ATO formal, novelty-of-the-month were the tiny champagne pails filled with bath salts, and champagne bottle containing cologne... Theta Dorothy Swischer was there with Ralph Yost, Don Boehm and Kappa Marj Moller, Bev. Finkle and Mary Fislar, Chi O, and Beta John Klose with Dolly Joy... several Kappa Delta dinner parties were held, among them, one given by Ann Soukup at the Cornhusker... the Saturday matinee dance was none too well attended, but such couples as Ward Rounds and his date, among others, kept things well going... Sunday night at Pi Phi is a buffet supper... there'll be Mary Bell Bates with Phi Delt Ace

Andreson, Kay Bussard and Howard Fisher, Sigma Nu, and Jane Shaw with Sig Alph Butch Wertman... we'd like to apologize to both Kappa Mary Lou Ball and Phi Psi Carl Cusley for saying that she had worn his pin... evidently, the rumor is entirely untrue, and we're very sorry...

IN THE UNION Friday evening was a dinner for Miss Margaret Fedde, who has been with the University Home Economics department for twenty years. 200 guests attended the gathering.

CHI OMEGA announces the pledging of Lois Drake.

CHET BOWERS is a new pledge at the Phi Psi house.

the fact that the glen is fertile, exceedingly rich, and of strangely mild climate in the midst of an immense region which is swept by blizzards.

The colored pictures which the explorer brings with him show the richness of the valley's temples, of which many are said to have roofs of pure sheet gold. Bernard describes the temple rooms as being filled with solid gold incense burners, dragons, butter lamps, and gem-encrusted statues.

Of the Yogi practices of regulating the heartbeat and breathing, which Bernard learned in the lamaseries, he says, "What the Tibetans have done is to create their own scholarship of physiology."

Cunkle speaks tonight at First Plymouth church

Frank Cunkle, of the school of music department, will give the third in a series of "Glimpses Into the Arts" speeches, sponsored by the Sunday evening club of the First Plymouth church, tonight at 6:30 o'clock.

The talk will be given in connection with special Lenten vespers for university students, which are to be held every Sunday night during Lent.

Ohio's five state universities have formed an inter-university council to co-ordinate the educational policies and programs of the schools.

Union starts 'Economy Hour' to spread crowd

Starting Monday, students who take advantage of the Union's "economy hour" will be able to purchase 25 cent lunches for 20 cents.

The "economy hours," from 11 to 11:30 in the morning and 1 to 2, are hoped by the grill staff to relieve congestion in the grill and thus afford students better service.
