Trio of veterans form backbone of net squad; Johnny Dietrich gone

Three lettermen will form the nucleus of tennis coach Gregg McBride's net squad as Bill Reedy, Denver, Colo.; Harold Rundle, Lincoln and Irv Kuklin, Lincoln will lead the Huskers.

Reedy, No. 1 man two years ago but who was out of competition last year, is counted on as material aid to Nebraska this year. Kuklin, dancer-tennis man, is in his last year of competition with the Huskers.

Huston stars.

Harry Epperson, Sioux City, who competed with the team, is reporting, while a promising newcomer is Leon Davis, who starred in Hastings junior circles. A frosh is John Huston, Lincoln, who is state doubles champion along with Rundle, and who finished second to the Husker in singles play last summer. Harry Ankeny, of Lincoln, who transferred from Redlands' College to Nebraska last fall, also looks good.

To honor most able engineer

Pi Tau Sigma plans award for graduates

A plan for the recognition of outstanding mechanical engineers was announced this week by Pi Tau Sigma, national mechanical engineering honorary. Purpose of the plan is to recognize young mechanical engineering graduates who have used their technical training to help the advancement of any field of endeavor.

The award, a gold medal, and a trip to New York, where the award is to be presented, will be given to the mechanical engineer, out of school for ten years or less and under the age of 35, who is judged responsible for the most advancement in any field of endeavor gained through the application of engineering principles.

Engraved on the medal is the legend, "Pi Tau Sigma award—Outstanding Achievement in Mechanical Engineering." The award may be earned in any field such as invention, politics and education. All applications for the award must be filed with Pi Tau Sigma by June 1.

of prairie plants. She is doing experimental work in the field.

John J. Sperry of Lincoln, who received his B. A. from Nebraska and his M. A. from Missouri. He is now working on his Ph. D. and is studying the life cycle of the mountain knot weed, the bistortia vivipara. These plants reproduce without the formation of seeds. He is attempting to discover what cells and tissues are involved in this process. Specimens have been collected from Pike's Peak and an attempt is being made to repeat the life cycle in the university green house. He is also working with the histological aspect of botany.

(The department of zoology assistants will appear in a later edition).

Monsky races 60 yards on pass interception; Francis paces losers

Featuring a strong running and passing attack, Yale defeated Harvard 14 to 0 in the third scrimmage of the spring practice session.

Kenneth Simmons, fleet second string halfback from Valentine, opened the winner's scoring in the second quarter on a 60 yard touchdown jaunt around the Harvard left end. Dobson kicked the extra point to put the score at 7 to 0. In the third quarter the Yale squad recovered a fumble on the Harvard 12 yard line. Harry Hopp ran the right end to the 4 yard marker where three straight plunges into the center of the line with Henry Rohn carrying the ball, netted another score. Hopp made the placement to end the scoring.

Monsky grabs pass.

The Yale squad also threatened early in the first period after Hub Monsky, promising guard candidate from Omaha, intercepted a stray Harvard pass on his own 18 yard line and galloped to the Yale 22 before being stopped. The Harvard line stiffened here, however, and held for downs. Earlier in the same period Rohn broke loose for repeated gains, the longest of which was 30 yards, but he could not get clear away.

Members of the second strings, who were in when Simmons scored his touchdown were, for Harvard: Bunker and Jerry Prochaska, ends; tackles, Whitehead and Schleich; guards, Meyer and Ed Schwartzkopf; center, Herschel Pahl; and backs, Clyde Preuss, Harold Kennedy, Jake Ferguson and Jack Stubbs. For the Yales were Burdette Wertman and Ludwick at ends; Goetowski and Sam Schwartzkopf, at tackles; guards, Dobson and Abel; center, Burger; and backs, Bob Kahler, Blue, Ray Smith and Simmons.

The plunging ability of Vike Francis was the strong point of the otherwise ineffective Harvard team. Defensive standouts were Seeman and Petsch of the Harvard squad and Herndon and Knight on the Yale combination.

Starting Lineups:

Yale (14)	(9) Harvard
Ashburn	Preston
Muskin	Behm
Klum	Stearns
Burns	Ruser
Monsky	Alfson
Herndon	Kahler
Schleich	Seeman
Knight	Petsch

As I See It by June Bierbower

Track comes back into the intramural picture this spring after having been dropped last year, according to information from the I. M. office.

The meet, which formerly came late in the spring and which was outdoors, will probably be held next week end underneath the stadium unless weather conditions are such that it could better be held outside. Reason for its early appearance is the fact that whenever it was delayed until May it conflicted with spring events, such as the Farmers' Fair and others.

Rollie Horney says six events—shot put, high jump, broad jump, the 60 lows, 50 yard dash, and relay will be held. All are events in which no special training is needed and the relay is to be once around the indoor track, two men on a team.

There is no limit to the number of entries from each house, altho every team is limited to three entries in each event. An individual performer may enter every event, and to earn participation points a house must enter at least one man in each event.
