

Mingling with Marg

Fly weather just around the corner...and everybody hoping against hope that spring vacation won't blow in with a snow-drift or rain cloud...yesterday lots of the kiddies took their afternoon off to start their sun-tans and relax from the strain of winter...convertible tops are now being worn down, if you have a convertible...but three Sigma Nu's went the next best thing to a convertible or even a car by buying a '26 Pontiac—a mighty fine little auto, even if it is slow on the pickup...and spending their afternoon at drill was the Pershing Rifle Crack Squad, practicing in the Union ballroom and creating lots of attention...downstairs in the Crib the business zoomed, as cokes were drunk for thirst and not just past-time by such as DU Avery Forke and Alpha Chi Eunice Halm (hand-in-hand, by the way)...and Chi Omega's Edie Huston and Betty Flory were getting their refreshment...Delta Gamma Virginia Wheeler and Sig Ep John Scofield were talking over the Best Dressed Girl candidates and picking their winners for tomorrow night at the Coed Follies... on the up-beat in the affair of Kappa Casey Campbell and Phi Psi Warren Ractke, with his rushing her for many dates in advance...Pi Phi Mary Bell Bates is now wearing the Sig Alph pin of Wally Reusch, come spring and things...and the Alpha Chi's are wondering why Alice Bainum wasn't wearing John Wenke's Sig Ep pin—though she might just be kidding them... last minute flash tells us that among-cars-just-bought are two new smooth jobs at the Zeta Beta Tau house...and won't all the boys be popular now...among the big parties this week-end are the Sigma Kappa Hit Parade party Friday night, open, and the DU closed house party following initiation...

Wassermans show 100% negative

North Dakota has little syphilis, tests show

GRAND FORKS, N. D. (I.P.) Not one positive reaction to the Wasserman test for syphilis has been discovered among the 1,634 University of North Dakota students who have taken the test during the past two years, reports Dr. C. L. Nutzman, campus health director.

Last February when half of the 1,813 students had been examined and not one positive reaction had been found, University authorities were of the opinion that a national record for colleges and universities had been established.

An important factor contributing to the absence of syphilis on the University campus, believes Dr. J. M. Gillette, professor of sociology, is that venereal diseases are apt to be less common in rural areas, and North Dakota is one of the two most rural of the 48 states. In addition educational institutions have a considerably lower percentage of affected persons than does the country as a whole.
