Betty Bachman wins dress title

Boucher, Gunderson, Burr explain harm of budget cuts

Garden motif to dominate spring party

KFOR will broadcast name of Goddess, six attendants, music

Who will reign as Goddess of Agriculture at the Saturday night festivity which marks the climax of the ag college social season?

This question, uppermost in the minds of the students on ag campus today, will be answered when the goddess and her six attendants are presented at 10 o'clock tomorrow night at the annual ag spring party. The party will get under way at 9 o'clock in the Student Activities building.

Spring garden motif to be used.

This year's presentation will be in keeping with the "Spring Garden" motif according to Presentation Chairman Ople Hedlund. Colored lighting, potted plants and flowers will add the necessary touch of realism to the setting. KFOR will broadcast the name of the goddess and the dance music of Johnny Cox and his orchestra. Chaperoning the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander. All members of the faculty were invited to attend.

Goddess reigns at Farmers' Fair

The goddess will be re-presented later in the spring at the annual Farmer's Fair, over which she will See GODDESS page 4.

...N. U. grad fires mortar

Called upon to fire a three inch mortar into the hideout of Wyoming's now famous "raw meat eating Tarzan," Earl Durand, is Bill Garlow, former Nebraska student, a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, former Innocent, and one-time member of Pershing Rifles here. He graduated in 1936. Garlow is a grandson of Buffalo Bill Cody, and is one of the posse of sharpshooters elected to approach Durand, who Wednesday night held more than 100 men at bay, after shooting two possemen who tried to rush his hideout.

Beta Gamma Sigma elects

Eight new members chosen by honorary

Eight seniors in the college of business administration were elected into Beta Gamma Sigma, national business administration honorary fraternity at the meeting of Nebraska chapter yesterday.

Those chosen on a basis of superior scholarship thruout their school years so far were Evelyn M. Carlson, Mary Elizabeth Clizbe, Frances Eiline Weyer, Richard L. White, Marion Bonham, Erven E. Boettner, Leslie Besslough and William B. Williams.

The seniors were selected from the upper 10 percent of the June graduating class. The election was the second one held this year.

Coed Follies present Best Dressed Girl

Tri Delt skit, 'Mutiny in the Nursery,' named winner of silver trophy

Over 550 women attended the annual Coed Follies last night at the Temple theater as Betty Bachman, Alpha Chi Omega, of Omaha, was revealed as Nebraska's best dressed girl and Delta Delta Delta was presented the A.W.S. board's silver trophy for the best skit. Alpha Phi received honorable mention.

Miss Elsie Ford Piper, Mrs. Ada Westover, Miss Mary Guthrie, Miss Luvicy Hill, and Miss Ruth Odell, sponsors of the A.W.S. board, acted as judges.

Kosmet Klub sales begin

'Alias Aladdin' ticket drive opens tomorrow

The annual Kosmet Klub spring ticket sales drive opens Saturday morning. Tickets for "Alias Aladdin," Kosmet Klub spring production, scheduled for April 17 through the 22, will be handled through the Klub workers.

Advance sale of tickets, selling at the customary price of 50 cents, will be reserved at the Temple box office about a week before the show, Don Moss, Klub president, declared.

Purchases should be early. It is of importance to both the ticket buyer and seller that purchases be made without delay. See TICKETS page 2.

...attacks sham battle

Commenting that parades are "excellent entertainment," but that "mimic warfare...is incongruous," Leon Thomson, secretary of the Nebraska Peace Council bitterly attacked the "sham battle" that N.U. soldiers will stage today for visiting editors and members of the Nebraska Press association.

Thomson declared that, "It is the business of the university to teach the truth. If the truth were told about warfare, we would make it as ugly and degrading as possible, for the function of an army is to kill men."

Lyman to talk on marriage

Pharmacy dean leads Council forum Tuesday

"Courses in Marriage" will be discussed at an open forum Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock in Union parlors Y and Z. Dr. Rufus A. Lyman, dean of the college of pharmacy, will give an introductory talk before leading discussion and answering questions on marital problems.

The open forum series, under the sponsorship of the Student Council, is open to anyone. Questions on the subject of the forum may be prepared in advance and asked of the speaker at the meeting.

The forums are held from time to time by the Council on topics of current interest to university students.

Legislators hear U. heads second time

Ag college dean tells of loss ag extension slash would cause

Appearing before the legislature appropriations committee for the second time, yesterday, Chancellor C. S. Boucher and Finance Secretary L. E. Gunderson reviewed the university's proposed budget for the next biennium.

Most of the afternoon session was spent discussing the parts of the budget which are not included in the general university fund.

$36,000 loss.

With Dean W. W. Burr of the Ag college, the Chancellor and Mr. Gunderson told members of the committee that an $18,000 Ag extension cut would result in a $36,000 loss for the Ag college. This loss is explained by the fact that in this particular fund, the federal government matches the state allotments dollar for dollar.

In the governor's budget, the fund for the operation and maintenance of the University hospital in Omaha was cut by $24,000. According to Gunderson, such a cut would result in the closing down of probably one of the wards in the hospital. When queried as to why the board of regents originally petitioned the governor for a $10,000 increase over the last biennium, Chancellor Boucher told

2000 students stage sham battle, parade today, 5 to 6

R.O.T.C. plans entertainment for newspapermen attending Nebraska Press convention in Lincoln

Two thousand students will take part in a parade and sham battle which will be staged this afternoon by the university R. O. T. C. as a part of the university's program for newspapermen attending the annual Nebraska Press association convention here Thursday through Saturday.

Col. W. H. Oury, commandant of cadets, has arranged the one hour military exhibition which will take place at 5 o'clock on the mall in front of the coliseum.

Action promised.

An exhibition of artillery and infantry going into action will be given by the Cornhusker battery and field company immediately following the review. The company is under the command of Harry Epperson of Sioux City, Ia., and Kermit Hansen of Omaha, respectively. An airplane will be flying overhead and the infantry will fire several rounds of blank cartridges. The maneuvers will be staged to give an idea of the way the artillery and infantry deploy in actual battle.

The review has been called partly in preparation for the government inspection of the university R. O. T. C. May 17 to 20. State officials, Chancellor C. S. Boucher, and officers of the press association have been invited to sit in the reviewing stands.

In case of inclement weather the review will be cancelled. The flag on the east end of Nebraska hall will be up if it is to be held.

Barbs dance tomorrow

The weekly dance sponsored by the Barb Council will be this Saturday in the Union ballroom. The dance will begin at 7 and continue until 10 o'clock. Admission will be ten cents.

80% of collegians oppose prohibition, 60% admit they drink, survey shows

BY JOE BELDEN, Editor
Student Opinion Surveys of America
Copyright, 1939.

AUSTIN, Texas, March 23. In expressing his attitudes on the ever-present problem of drinking, the average American college youth is quite a liberal.

Briefly, results of one of the most significant studies yet conducted nationally by the Student Opinion Surveys of America show that:

1. Eight out of every ten are opposed to the return of prohibition.
 2. Only 34.8 percent think collegians drink too much.
 3. Almost six out of every ten admit they drink.
- Altho prohibition and drinking in general are not such news-worthy topics as when the 18th amendment was still part of the constitution, one often hears the comment about the excessive indulgence of Joe College. Perhaps the inhabitants of American campuses are biased about themselves, but a rather large majority of them holds that college students as a whole should not be classed with those who habitually go over the line. The country wide poll taken for the NEBRASKAN and other member publications, points out that 65.2 percent are of the opinion that students are moderate drinkers.

While aware that liquor does create a social problem, a still greater majority holds that a law against it is not the way out. To the question, "Do you favor the return of prohibition?"—

Yes, said 21.6 percent

No, said 78.4 percent

In asking, "Do you ever drink?" interviewers for the surveys meant any kind of indulgence in alcoholic beverages. The poll, of course, does not reflect the degree of drinking, but rather attempts to present the attitude of college youth on the subject and to discover actually how many do drink, or at least admit they drink. The results show that almost 60 percent say they do. But exact figures cannot be arrived at, because in the tabulation have to be included those who may have See PROHIBITION page 2.

Essary, Baltimore editor, addresses convo today at 11

Noted pressman appears at Union this morning, at Nebraska Press association banquet tonight

Mel Pester plays tonight

Mel Pester and his orchestra will play at tonight's Union dance scheduled from 9 to 12 o'clock. Admission is 10c per person.

J. Fredrick Essary, of Baltimore Sun fame, who is to address Nebraska students in convocation this morning, will arrive in Lincoln at 8:50, and will be met shortly after by Carl Arndt of the economics department, representing the university. He will speak at 11 o'clock in the Union ballroom and this evening at 7 to a banquet of the state press association.

The dean of Washington correspondents, as Essary is known because of 25 years of continuous service to the press in the national capital, will describe "The Strange Course of Politics." He has covered every national political convention since 1912 and has travelled with every presidential candidate since 1908, with the exception of LaFollette.

Here two years ago.

Essary spoke in Lincoln two years ago on a Town Hall program, and gave Lincolinites the impression that he possessed some very unusual information. His talk this morning is open to the public.

He is the only man to have been elected president of both the National Press club of Washington and the famous Gridiron club of that city. Essary has received several national awards in journalism, among them being the commemorative medal for his coverage of the Jamestown exposi-
