Irv Kuklin to get high school, university diplomas this June

A double graduation next June will be the culmination of four years of simultaneous study at two institutions of learning for Irving Kuklin, ZBT and NU tennis letterman. Kuklin will get diplomas from both the university and Lincoln high school come graduation time.

Forced out of high school a year before his graduation to make his own way in vaudeville, Kuklin spent six years travelling for the RKO circuit to theaters in all parts of the country, never knowing where his contract would take him or for how long.

Returns after six years. After six years he decided he had reached the point where he could return to university and complete the education required to enter coaching, a vocation which runs in his family. His brother, Harry, is a former Lincoln high swimming coach. Being over 21, he was allowed to enter university without a high school diploma, but he found out that he must have one before he could graduate and obtain a certificate. So during his four years of college, he has also taken at least one high school course every semester, and in June he will be entitled to a high school diploma as well as one from the university.

Kuklin has been crowded to the limit for time at some stages of the game, with studies at both institutions, amateur boxing, tennis, local vaudeville engagements, rehearsals with his band and minor activities to take care of. And he's rightfully proud of his work.

"I wouldn't trade the experience for anything, and I advise anybody else facing the same problem to follow an identical course," he said.

Plock scores highest in I-M bowling tilts

Acacia star makes two-game aggregate of 409 as team beats Sig Eps

Marv Plock turned in the highest two-game score of the year in intramural bowling last night as the Acacia grid star, with a 204, 215-409, led his team to a 1566-1516 score over the Sig Eps in the feature match. Bill Kovanda, Husker cager, led the losers with 187, 179 for a 365 mark.

Phi Gamma Delta turned in the third highest team total as they defeated Beta Sigma Psi, 1510-1377. Bernie Scherer of football fame, was high man for the winners with a 169, 152-321, but was followed closely by Stuart Wiley, who had 317, with games of 147 and 170. Martin Oelrich led the losers, turning in a 166, 154-320.

Buchanan leads Sig Alphas

Bill Buchanan, with a 165, 186 for a 351 mark, led the Sig Alphas as they won from Sigma Chi, 1476 to 1361. Allan Lefferdink was best for the losers, doing 328 on games of 160 and 168.

In the other match Sigma Alpha Mu lost to Farm House, 1343-1308. Dave Kavich of the losers had the best score with 165-144 for 309, but Melvin Glantz of Farm House was on his heels with a 158-150.

material the Huskers are getting, and Perry has but supposition on which to base the assertion that they will.

Of course, if the state's unicameral legislature closes the purse strings to this school as they've been doing recently, reduced enrollment will be necessary if the school is to retain its present scholastic standing. And reduction of enrollment may, probably will, take some athletic material from the school.

But whether or not it or any administrative policy would, the fact remains that a university, is, after all, a place for education, and any effect the carrying out of its educational purpose may have on athletics ought to be accepted, altho it seldom is, we'll admit.

Boucher's opinion of the whole affair, is that Perry, having nothing else to write about during this "dry" season, came thru with his article. Perry, a close follower of Nebraska athletics, may have seen an account of Boucher's remarks at a speech in Columbus the other night.

Charley Brock had preceded the chancellor with a talk in the course of which he stated that Nebraska is well enough off in the Big Six—that the other Big Six teams were catching up with the Huskers, etc.

Boucher, who gave the main speech of the evening, added his remarks to Charley's, as he backed Brock's statement. He said that he'd oppose Nebraska's entrance into the Big Ten—that the Big Six was, as far as he knew, a very orderly league, and that it is a better organization. Basis for the latter remark is the fact that he was Chicago's faculty representative in the Big Ten while serving as a dean at that school.

Anyway all of this Big Ten talk, as Boucher and many others have stated, doesn't seem to take into consideration the fact that Nebraska has never been invited to join the Big Ten. That bridge can be crossed when it's reached, not before.

Nebraska's chancellor, who from his first days here has praised the school's clean athletic policy and the character and ability of its leader, Biff Jones, certainly has no quarrel with the athletic department, and as we said before—any educational policies which might be adopted here will be for the benefit of the school, even tho they may incidentally effect to some degree, its athletic attainments.

Ex-end goes 9 yards over tackle for score

Eli reserves reach pay dirt on 65 yard drive

The Biffer did a good job when he chose his two Husker squads. Thursday the "Yales" and "Harvards" met for the fifth time, and yet not once has either outfit tallied more than two touchdowns. The sons of Eli took Thursday's battle 6 to 0, as once again it was a second string performer that scored.

Bob Kahler, Grand Island candidate who won a minor letter at an end post last year, then was shifted to a backfield position by Jones last week, crossed the double line in the opening quarter after a sustained drive of 65 yards by the Yales.

The Husker mentor started the first string Harvard eleven against the second Yale team. Taking the ball on its own 35, Yale, with Kahler, Ken Simmons, Ray Smith and Wayne Blue in the backfield, plowed straight thru the Harvard squad to the nine yard line. On the first play Kahler took the ball on what started to be a wide end sweep. Appearing to be trapped behind the line, Kahler cut over his own left tackle to knife thru the entire Harvard eleven for the marker. Adna Dobson's attempted placekick for the extra point was wide.

The Harvard outfit settled down, and so evenly matched were the two elevens for the remainder of the scrimmage that the closest either outfit came to scoring was in the third when Harvard Bob DeFruiter intercepted George Porter's pass and scampered ten yards to the Yale 24.

With Jack Stubbs, DeFruiter, Vike Francis and Roy Petsch carrying the mail, the Harvard outfit got to the 15 yard line where the attack bogged down. Stubbs and Walt Luther, Harvard backs, came up with the longest runs of the day, both getting jaunts of 20 yards on an identical end sweep.

The second Yale lineup included Schluckebier and Ashburn, ends; Herndon and Muskin, tackles; Monsky and Abel, guards; Burrus, center, and Knight, Hopp, T. Thompson and Rohn, backs. Harvard's second eleven consisted of Bunker and Preston, ends; Whitehead and Schleich, tackles; Meyers and E. Schwartzkopf, guards; Ruser, center, and M. Thompson, Stubbs, Luther and Nuerenberger, backs.

The Huskers will go thru their sixth intra-squad scrimmage Saturday, again closed to the public. Starting lineups:

Harvard	Yale
Seeman	Waddick
R. Kahler	Goetowski
Stearns	Dobson
Ramey	Berger
Puenning	Klum
Behm	S. Schwartzkopf
R. Prochaska	Workman
Luther	Smith
DeFruiter	Simmons
Rohrig	Kahler
Francis	Blue

Ping pong tourney ends third round

One more canto to find winners of each league

Interfraternity ping pong went thru the third round in the coliseum basement last night, leaving only one more round before winners of each league will be decided.

Sigma Chis beat the Farm House team 4-1 in League 1 and Phi Psis beat Acacias by forfeit. Betas were idle this round.

Sigma Nus trim Kappa Sigs.

In League 2, Sigma Nus shut-out the Kappa Sigs 5-0 and Phi Sigs beat the AGR's 4-1; Chi Phi was inactive. In league 3, Lambda Chis bowed to the Sig Eps 4-1 and Pi K A's beat Alpha Sigs by the same score; Deltas did not play this round.

Phi Deltas edged out the Theta Xi's 3-2 in No. 4 league and ATO's beat the Sig Alphas by the same count; Delta Theta Phi was the odd team this round. In League 5, it took the Phi Gammas three games to beat the ZBT's two, and Beta Sigs took a forfeit from the SAM's.

As I See It by June Bierbower

Lawrence Perry's meanderings concerning Chancellor C. S. Boucher's academic and athletic policies, may have been, like so many other figments of the brains of us sports scribes, simply something to fill in during the slack season in sports activities.

Perry, in case you haven't read the article, began with an assertion that Pitt's purity course in athletics will eventually lead them to a berth in the Big Ten, and that Nebraska, heretofore mentioned as possible western conference candidate, is being considered with misgivings because of Boucher's activities at the University of Chicago, where Perry says he "devised and put into effect" the Chicago plan of education which, as you know, by establishing high scholastic standards, has cut down on athletic material which enters Chicago.

Perry states, in addition: "It is regarded as foregone that the chancellor eventually will do things to a scholastic system already comprehensive and quite sufficiently rigid."

Boucher's academic activities at the University of Nebraska have not as yet affected the athletic
