Cobs check party ticket sales

McMurtrey leads after preliminary reports

Corn Cobs met last night for a preliminary checkup on ticket sales for the Cob-Tassel party, Friday, April 14. Worker George McMurtrey held an early lead in workers' sales, and President George Rosen urged other members to redouble efforts in the sales.

The two pep clubs have obtained one of the midwest's leading bands in Carl Colby's orchestra for the party. Colby has played on campus twice during the past five months, once at the Sigma Alpha Mu formal opening the Union fraternity formal season, and later at a Union weekend party.

Officers of both clubs promise the party will be the highlight of the after formal season. Admission is 60 cents a couple.

State's business changes little

April average sags with February, March

Business activity in Nebraska showed very little change during the month of March, figures computed by W. A. Spurr of the statistics department indicated.

Though department store trade and postal communications showed a slightly bullish trend, the declines in business payments and building activity more than counter balanced any upward tendency and sent the general business index for the state to a new low.

This month's trend continued a sagging average that has been under way since the last of January. All indices have been adjusted in computing the averages to remove any seasonal and calendar irregularities. Seven of the more important business indicators are averaged in computing the general index that all factors assisting business change may be taken into consideration.

Research at the University of Illinois is proving that air-conditioning materially aids a patient's chances of recovery.

A move has been started in the Iowa legislature to move the state's college of engineering from the University of Iowa to Iowa State college.

IRVIN SHERMAN

He convinces people they ought to advertise . . . in the CORNHUSKER. He must be pretty good or he wouldn't be an assistant business manager. Besides that, Irv has time for Kosmet Klub, in an advertising way, of course, because he had charge of printing the programs for "Alias Aladdin." On certain days he clanks around in his boots for he's a military man, Red Guidon member, too. In his spare time, Irv, Zeta Beta Tau, takes up his duties as a Corn Cob. And whenever you have any spare time (which we know you'll have this spring vacation), bring your friends for a good ol' get-together to the
