Huskers fete prep athletes over weekend

Lincoln high expected to cop state track title; 28 enter baseball meet

Nebraska will be hosts to high school athletes from all over the state this weekend as the state baseball, track, golf and tennis meets are held on the campus.

Baseball opens the list of events starting on Thursday and running through Saturday while the others are restricted to Friday and Saturday.

Twenty-eight high schools will be represented in the diamond meet according to Wilbur Knight, tournament director. The new athletic field will handle all the play except for two games Friday morning which will be played on the munny diamond.

Lincoln favored in track.

Of the most interest to fans will be the track meet which opens Friday at Memorial stadium. Lincoln with Howard Debus is favored to annex the Class A title held last year by Scottsbluff. Things are pretty much up in the air as to favorites in the other two classes.

Fighting for individual honors will be Lincoln's versatile Debus, tops as far as field performances go, and Lewis St. Cyr, Winnebago all around star.

Champs return for more.

Returning to add to laurels gained last year are Ralph King, Waterloo hurdler who has already topped the existing state record three times this year; Bob McArthur, fine quartermiler from South Sioux City; and Laverne Clabaugh, halfmiler from Nelson.

Harold McAferty, Gothenburg, and Lyle Rock, Ogalla, co-holders of the high jump title with Jack Bengler last season will be back fighting for top position in this event this year.

All in all Nebraska fans will get an encouraging picture of Nebraska athletes to be if they feast their eyes on the talent that will be shown here this week end.

Epperson, Behm receive honors

R.O.T.C. board chooses best basic, advanced men

Harry Epperson, infantry, and Forrest Behm, field artillery, have been chosen as the best advanced and the best basic R. O. T. C. students.

They were chosen according to their desirable military characteristics of appearance, demeanor, capacity and leadership, with their scholarship in the military department and other departments in the university being considered.

Prizes of twenty-five dollars for the advanced student will be awarded by the D. A. R., and fifteen dollars for the basic student, will be awarded by the American Legion auxiliary. The board which made the selections was made up of Maj. Barkalow, Maj. Hudson and Capt. Cruse, Maj. Horan, Maj. Green, Maj. Philp and Capt. Hough made up the basic student's board. Their choice has been approved by Col. Oury.

Huskers hit Iowa State for 10-5 win

Nebraska batters slug out 16 hits; Schmadeke stops Cyclone rally

AMES, Ia.—The University of Nebraska baseball team appeared to be definitely out of the doldrums of defeat when it rang up its third straight win in four days by pounding three Iowa State pitchers for 16 hits and a 10 to 5 victory here Monday.

Moates led the Husker attack with three singles and a triple, while Schmadeke, who went the route of the winners, held the Cyclones to seven hits. Schmadeke nipped an eighth inning rally by spearing a line drive, then doubling an Iowa State runner off first to retire the side.

NU leads all the way.

The Huskers tallied two runs in the first frame, two in the third and fifth, three in the seventh and the final tally in the eighth. Thompson, Cyclone catcher, got a home run in the seventh. LeMaster and Moates hit for three bases for the winners.

Linescore:
Nebraska 202 020 310—16 16 2
Iowa State 200 000 102—5 7 3
Schmadeke and Moates; Drury, Halley, Wilson and Thompson.

As I See It by June Bierbower

Bob Simmons, who came out of Saturday's meet with 15 points, most any Husker has scored in a meet since the good old days of Lloyd "the Hoss" Cardwell, said that Elmer Hackney had put a brick out 55 feet "just to get his range," so that everyone in the crowd knew what had happened when the heave landed beyond the brick.

Lincoln Journal.

Bob Simmons.

We don't like to claim honors not due us, but we've been thinking of sending a letter to the K-State athletic department asking for a medal or sumpin'—for indirectly giving Hackney the boot that seemed to set him off on that astounding 55-11 shot put heave he made, by announcing last week that Bill Watson had a mark $\frac{3}{8}$ " better than his best at that time. Hackney's dander seemed to rise when he heard it.

Dan Partner, K-State's athletic publicity director, said last weekend in a letter to this column that discovery of the fact that Watson had a 54 foot mark had left Hackney "talking to himself." Roy Swafford, sports editor of the K-State Collegian, said in his column written before the meet that Hackney was all fired up, and would probably "go to town" Saturday. The boys didn't know just how right they were going to be.

As we've often said before, there's nothing like winning... we heard more praise for Nebraska's baseball team over Friday and Saturday than we've heard in a long time... this is being written before learning what the Huskers did over at Ames yesterday... also made a discovery which was not altogether surprising to us... Last semester, Norm Harris and yours truly took turns at razzing Les Kappelman, then sports editor of the Daily Kansan... he'd never bite, though... Kap, who plays with the K. U. ball team said last weekend that they didn't take the DAILY NEBRASKAN at the Kansas office, so he was blissfully unaware of any missiles being hurled in his direction.

Wonder what the boys back east will be saying about their "nation's best shot-putter", Frank Ryan of Columbia now... their newest theory about the good sprint times that are made out on the west coast is that somebody out there is "doctoring" them... judging from some of the eastern performances this year our comment is that maybe some of their athletes, when compared to those on the west coast, need some "doctoring."

Golfers win, netmen lose

Huskers divvy honors with Wildcats, 10-8, 2-4

MANHATTAN, Kas.—Nebraska golf and tennis teams split a pair of matches with Kansas State here Monday, the former clubbing out a 10 to 8 decision, while the netters dropped a 4 to 2 verdict to the Wildcat tennis squad.

Mowbray and Nordstrom were the big guns in the Husker victory, each getting 2½ points. Mowbray teamed with Jones to take a sweep of one of the doubles matches.

Harold Rundle and Irv Kuklin took the only tennis matches as both doubles frays were lost. Rundle tripped Kansas State's Gray, 6-2, 6-2, while Kuklin upset Foreman, 5-7, 6-2, 6-2.

Fast-breaking squad finishes in 50-24 win

Scarlet shirts hold early lead; Pitcaithley's 12 tallies pace victors

Displaying a wealth of new found speed and turning it into a fast break that left their more inexperienced foes out in the cold, a flashy Red squad trounced a plucky but futile White shirted aggregation 50 to 24 in the second of a three game intrasquad series.

Coach Browne started Harry Pitcaithley and Hartmann Goetze at forwards, Al Randall at center and Don Fitz and Sid Held at guards on the winning team, Leonard Van Buskirk, John Hay, Don Pollock, Herb Grote and Bruce Duncan made up the membership of the White team.

Reds lead from start.

The Reds jumped into an early lead on buckets by Randall and Goetze and never relinquished it, leading at the half 26 to 4. The Whites came back rejuvenated in the third quarter and outscored the Reds 13 to 12 but were unable to hold up under the pace and wilted in the final period.

Harry Pitcaithley led the scoring with 12 tallies while John Hay and Bruce Duncan shared scoring honors on the White team with 7 counters apiece. Box:
