

Nine to direct building program

Most of $6,000,000 devoted to housing

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (I. P.) Michigan dormitories, which make up the largest part of a $6,000,000 building program being carried on at the university this year, will be administered by a board of governors of nine members and a director of dormitories, it was announced here by the board of regents.

Recognizing that "education should include both formal instruction in the business of living and informal training in the enrichment of personality," the new dormitories will be administered with the intention of making for their students good homes in the best sense of the term, university officials point out.

In addition to the officials named, each house will be provided with a director, student advisers, proctors, and the necessary housekeeping force.

While it is planned to centralize the administration of the Michigan House Plan, every effort will be made to give each dormitory a distinct individuality.

To the regular equipment of the new housing units it is hoped will be added as early as possible art objects, browsing libraries, and other elements of the residences of cultured men and women.

The 1939 meeting of the American Youth congress will be held in New York City on July 1.

Student spends week with circus to plan dance

DURHAM, N. H.—Peck's bad boy joined a road show for adventure, but Charlie Craig spent a week with a circus so that he could better plan the decorations for a University of New Hampshire dance.

It was all because the committee for the sophomore hop decided to give their dance a circus atmosphere with "peanuts, popcorn, and pink lemonade," gay sideshow canvases, and "the greatest collection of wild animals on the continent."

Feeling that first hand knowledge would give him much more aid than he could find in library books, Chairman Craig spent his spring vacation with a small circus playing in his hometown.

It was a week well spent, for the co-operative showmen contributed posters and trimmings as well as a wealth of ideas for setting a circus scene.

Miss Piper entertains house mothers, presidents

Miss Elsie Ford Piper, acting dean of women, entertained 100 house mothers and presidents of sororities, fraternities, dormitories and organized houses at a musical tea yesterday afternoon. Mortar Boards assisted in serving.

Mary Jane Chambers, Margaret Porter, Louise Stapleton and Bonnie Jean Tramp participated in the musical program.

all her faults when she did not ask for the information.

Asking her to his fraternity dance and upon her arrival to it, stating that he doesn't yet know how to dance.

Being late for a date. Leaving her alone while he goes to talk to someone else.

Saying to his date: "Why can't you be like Mary?"

Failing to indicate that he was glad to have been introduced to a girl's parents. (Sincerity goes far.)

Being rude when a girl, for some reason, refuses a date.

Telling jokes that might be considered a trifle shady.

College men at Augustana, in Rock Island, Ill., retaliated with a pronouncement of "Do's and Don'ts for Dames on Dates," outlining 15 rules for their coed companions to follow:

Don't keep your date waiting.

Be prompt.

Don't try to make too good an impression the first night.

Don't be a walking cosmetic counter.

Don't ponder over the menu for half an hour and then eat only a small portion of your order.

Don't eat too much. The boy wants to go to school four years too.

Don't try to attract the attention of other fellows while on a date.

Don't retouch makeup in public.

Do something to show your appreciation.

Do your education justice by keeping the conversation interesting.

Do something to overcome the desire to be sophisticated and glamorous. Be natural.

Do your part in this dating business by at least presenting the opportunity for our asking you.

Do your best to converse and mix with us.

Do your share in supporting sports events.

Do believe us when we say "looks" aren't everything.

Don't each of you take each of these suggestions to heart. We believe many of you are doing all right—but there is always room for improvement.

Ag classes tour packing houses

Several seniors stay to inspect Omaha U.

To tour several Omaha institutions and packing plants, 40 home economics students left ag college classes yesterday on their annual inspection trip, accompanied by Miss Ruth Lusby, head of the institutional management division, and Prof. Wm. J. Loeffel, acting chairman of animal husbandry.

The group visited packing plants in the South Omaha stockyards yesterday, and several senior students will remain until tonight in order to inspect the Omaha municipal university, the college of medicine, and private commercial institutions.

Cosmetics just a waste of money says Texas prof

AUSTIN, Tex. (IP). If you're expecting any more from cold creams than a face lubrication job, you're wasting your time and money, 59 alarmed coeds at the University of Texas heard a professor of pharmacy announce.

Dr. Louis W. Schleuse, with one sweep of the hand, cleared dressing tables of rouges, face powders, cold creams and astringents.

"One face cream can be used for all purposes," he began. "The lubricating and emollient effect in supplementing nature is the only good effect that can be gained."

"You can't shrink a pore," he continued, dismissing astringents and substituting good old fashioned alcohol, U. S. P. zinc oxide or witch hazel in their places.

"Face powder is valuable from the psychological and aesthetic point of view, but it's never worth the money paid for it," he told the amazed coeds.

Twenty cents would buy a pound of the powder that sells for $2 and $3 an ounce, he persisted.

The rouge pot had nourished the roots of the family tree, he concluded—and had done so since the fourth century.
