It's a fast life, and war prices on jalopies are down

Gum and girls fill social eye these days

Talk about these speedy days... and this fast world... Hub Monsky and Irvin Sherman are buzzing around in a nifty open model... it has three prices on the windshield; so we don't know what they gave for it... Puttering around in an Austin was Gene Wolf. He claims he borrowed it for four packages of Beech Nut gum... Some trade...

It is rumored that Ralph Reed is going to get a new car for his birthday or for something else... a new Buick, Packard, or something... Anyhow it's bound to be elegant...

Announcing officers and such... At the D. U. house, these are the seven important men for the year: president, Wade Raser; vice president, Ralph Tyler; recording secretary, Tom Brown; alumni secretary, Max Wieland; corresponding secretary, Hugh Wilkins; pledge president, Don Young.

Pledge officers at the Kappa Sig house are: president, Matt Minor; vice president, Gale Neiswanger; and treasurer, Leon C. Hines. By the way, Hines and his room mate Bob Rothwell are both interested in the same A. O. P. When one works, the other plays, and vice versa.

Overheard in the Corn Crib... Virginia Towle, Pi Phi, discussing this column; Paul Svoboda, Sigma Nu, making plans for taking in Paul Whiteman; and Barbara Hodgman, Alpha Phi, pledging about everything in general; nothing in particular...

People are asking questions by the hundreds... A tall uniformed senior is curious about John Gates newest flame? Who is she?... And Tom Bodie wants to know when he will get a necktie from Mary Bullock... something about a bet and a certain Dick Morse... Many of us would like to know when

Nickleodian installed in Union ballroom

A new nickleodian, installed in the Union ballroom, introduces a new type of entertainment to Nebraskans. The music box makes it possible for students to pass leisure time dancing to favorite orchestras. This is the first venture of that type in the Union ballroom.

Elton Wiley and Pris Wicks will pass the candy... Pssst... Rex Weaver, Kappa Sigma is back into the late swirl again following the trip to Omaha Saturday... Wonder whose idea it was?... Jo Robeck, Kappa Delta, is spending her Wednesday nights in traffic school...

Connie Brumbaugh, still dating George Maser, lucky fellow... Mrs. Don Wagner, Marador Cropper to you, just couldn't stand being away from the Alpha Phis. She and her husband drove clear from Minnesota Friday to spend the week-end with them... Marianne Goffe, Kappa Delta, going around circles wondering what a certain Farm House fellow's name is?... Bingo! Janice Lee Morrison got her man. She captured his heart and pin too. Her man, in case you wondered, is Bill Wiley. Pat Prime adding to her novel collection a football used in the Army-Navy game in 1937. This was acquired from her new West Point love.

The three Alpha Phi pledges from Scottsbluff, Shirley Heldt, Virginia Chambers, and Mary Bird are making big plans to entertain the home football team when they play Lincoln high school.

A. T. O. announces the pledging of Lynn Meyers and Ralph Yost.

Cruise--

Dr. Wade explained that both the Norwegian shipping line and the South American mining concern were largely financed by the Aluminum Company of America, but that this company found it cheaper and more satisfactory to carry on operations under foreign registry.

While the Vest Vangen was loading its cargo of bauxite, Professor Wade and the ship's captain made plans to travel by auto to the shore colony which adjoins Devil's Island. Impassable roads caused them to abandon this side trip which would have taken one day by auto or a week by canoe.

Slaves reverted to savagery. Professor Wade found the native villages lining the Cottica river to be of especial interest. The ancestors of the present inhabitants were African slaves who escaped from their Spanish masters. The descendants of these slaves have reverted to a jungle life almost identical with that now lived by their respective tribes in Africa.

The other natives of the region, the South American Indians, Dr. Wade described as being "short, rather light and similar to the Indians found in Central America."

Many of the "bush niggers" have become civilized and hold responsible positions, Prof. Wade reported. The captain of the tug which towed the Vest Vangen up and down the Cottica for the 30 miles immediately below Moengo was a negro and his son was one of the two non-Norwegian members of the larger ship's crew.

"Bushmen" police town. Other negroes have positions on the police force of Moengo. Whereas the Indians hold few, if any, responsible positions and are usually low-priced manual laborers if they live in town.

Prof. Wade thought the port and island of Trinidad to be the most interesting port of call on his itinerary. Here "almost all kinds of tropical fruits imagine-

Corn Cobs elect George Cameron new secretary

George Cameron was elected to fill the post of Corn Cob secretary at the pep club meeting last night. Robert Flory, elected to the post last semester resigned earlier this week.

The club voted to award a prize of one dollar to the person handing in the slogan to be used for the Minnesota football game. Slogans must not be more than 15 or 20 letters in length. They should be turned in at the NEBRASKAN office any afternoon before next Wednesday, between the hours of 1 and 6.

able and some others besides" are cultivated and raised for market. Moreover, prices of such goods as British linens and English pipes are as cheap as in the Dutch-controlled free port of Curacao off the coast of Venezuela.

Oil big industry. Describing the island of Curacao, Prof. Wade noted that it was the home of many large Dutch oil refineries. The petroleum is taken from the ground in Venezuela and transported to Curacao and Aruba to be refined because of the more suitable government prevailing there. Commenting on the markets of Curacao, Prof. Wade recalled that women passengers bought perfumes there for four and five dollars which would cost 20 or 30 dollars at home.

Speaking of the life aboard ship Dr. Wade remarked that the boat had accommodations for only a dozen passengers. Prof. Wade finds passenger-freighters preferable to regular passenger liners. Some of his fellow passengers who had previously travelled only aboard liners joined with him in favoring cargo boat voyaging.

Women can only see the sparkling silver and glittering gold in man's pocketbook.
