

Fashion Forecasts
for the Frolicking Femme
by Mary June Witmer

"Rah, Rah, Rah for the team" is going to be heard more often from now on than the grumbings of freshmen deciphering class schedules, and that's pretty often. Funny how the old college spirit really seeths in the system of every true blue collegiate about the time the football team swings into action.

Maybe we shouldn't admit that football games naturally go along with femmes a good excuse to wardrobe that you've it may be.

The Darling Shop, cat-sies, have plenty of smart up there on the fifty is one of Scotch plaid scarlet hood to protect northern winds. Invisibly buttoned down the front with four flap pockets to make it look important, and it's surprisingly low in price.

A place that will have its swinging door on the move from Friday night till Monday morning, as it always has, is the Pastry Shop in the Hotel Cornhusker. When a shop is "okeyed" by the college board as Pastry Shop has been, you are always sure to find a crowd there. Dash in as soon as you can after the game Saturday if you want to sit down while sipping your coke and don't forget to drop in later after the dance for a quick "hello" to all your friends who will be there.

This weekend at the Turnpike is going to be one big event after another what with Gray Gordon playing his famous "tick-tock" rhythm Friday night and Duke Ellington and his dusky jam jivers Saturday night. Gray Gordon, a coming sensation in the big bands has been playing at the Hotel Edison in New York City. His vocalist is handsome Cliff Grass. Of course you're familiar with Duke and his inimitable style of tickling the ivory keys and Ivy Anderson still sings as cute as ever for him.

The Famous, 1218 O Street, suggest that you select a pair of their suede spectator pumps before the game Saturday. They're smart as college with alligator toe guard and heel, and have the versatility to take you to the game in true football style and feel just as much at home with you on the dance floor later. A godsent for the tall girl is a similar pump with "keg" heel—lower, but streamlined for dancing. Comes in black or brown kid.

I learned from Ben just received their first that has swept the east-socks. You know—the are just below knee thing for football games o'clock class against a them in scarlet, cream

Simon's that they have shipment of the vogue ern schools—spectator heavy ribbed ones that length. They're just the or walking to an eight north wind. You can get or green.

I've been doing my best scribe for you the cream this week as far as cam- there are certain costumes that have the versatility of looking appropriate in campus, country or city surroundings. The full-length fitted coat is a good example. Gold's have a large number of beautiful styles that will thrill you with their figure-flattering lines. Betty Bachman is modeling just such a coat in the picture opposite.

With three weeks of school under the bridge, are your resolutions still as strong as the first day of school or are you beginning to let your hair hang in unbecoming and uncared for strands. The law of averages says you can't win looking like that when there are so many girls on this campus who have their hair done regularly at Ben Your Hairdresser's, 211 So. 13th. This shop turns out such exquisite coiffures (and they don't rob the college budget either) that you can't expect to compete with the girl who has found the path to their door. Make this gala week-end complete by letting Ben Your Hairdresser glorify you.

Weather brings 'kerchiefs'

Van Buskirk plays the field; Fox still after Kappa; Betas get dog

"Snoods" and "Kerchiefs" cover the coeds' heads these days as the weather does its stuff with a big blow and a swirl.

And if Roger Van Buskirk doesn't watch his step, he'll be in a whirl with all the women around him—Pages from his date book tell us that he has dates with Marian Bradstreet, Gamma Phi, Yvonne Costello, and Beth Howley, beauty queen.

The Betas are getting fixed up right for the Minnesota game—and they believe in doing it on a large scale—for instance, they have that beautiful huge new mascot, a St. Bernard dog at the house...and they're planning a party in honor of Bob Gannon, Innocent of last year, who is coming for the game. Orval Hager and a few of the boys are taking charge.

For the fourth time, we might mention the fact that D. G. Jane Cook has Fred Stiner's Phi Psi pin. But it is getting to be a rather old story. How about the sweets...Bill Fox, Phi Delt still has hopes that his Kappa Kappa Gamma, Betty Burgess will go with him again in a short while. He still keeps her picture in his room...Isn't that a Phi Delt pin on Sara Fields...belongs to Culver Brooks...

Dan Cupid seems to be working over time at Farm House...Margery Shannon now has Ward Bauder's pin...Marian Bobney, Alpha Phi, is getting long distance phone calls, letters every day, and visits week ends from Phi Psi, Gene Asmus of Norfolk. Then there's Kappa Delt Doris Ripley who is very much that way about Roger Manners.

Incidentally, Woodie Campbell, Phi Mu, wants us to keep her name out of this column. We'll try, Woodie.

Returns are now in on most of the pledge officers elections. Alpha Chi Omega: President, Faye Irvin; vice president, Lillian Wind; secretary, Mary Lee Adams; and treasurer, Betty Nichols.

Kappa Alpha Theta: President, Barbara York; and secretary, Phyllis Anderson.

Phi Mu: President, Billie Greene; secretary, Ruth Farley; treasurer, Virginia Peters.

Theta Xi: President, Lowell Michael; vice president, Dar Palmer; secretary, Glen Schluckebier; treasurer, Jared Bryngelson; social chairman, Fred Simmons.

Chi Omega: President, Jo DuRee; secretary, Ruth Brickell; treasurer, Alyve Hackman.

Pi Beta Phi: President, Susan Shaw; vice president, Anne Kinder; secretary, Janet Haggert; and treasurer, Verona Zahn.

Sigma Alpha Mu: Joe Raznick, president; Phil Kantor, vice president; Joe Belmont, secretary.

Scottsbluff high band to be guest of Varsity for Saturday game

Members of the Scottsbluff high

RALLY DANCE

Nine to Midnite

10c Per Person

DAVE HAUN'S ORCHESTRA

Come in the clothes you wear to the rally.

Student Union

DAILY NEBRASKAN Student Union See other side

Forum series--

(Continued from Page 1.)

p. m. The meetings will be open to all students interested in the vocations under discussion. A similar vocational information series was tried out last year on a group composed of arts freshmen with great success.

Speaker at the first meeting of the new series will be Miss Marie Weesner, personnel and advertising manager of Miller and Paine. Miss Weesner will speak on "Advertising and Personnel Work for Women." The first meeting will be sponsored by Gamma Alpha Chi, women's honorary professional advertising sorority, and Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary professional journalism sorority.

Second forum will deal with "Social Work as a Profession." Speakers at the second meeting will be Miss Mildred Biklin, state case work supervisor, division of assistance, state board of control; Mr. Philip Vogt, field supervisor, state division of public assistance; and Mr. Paul Josephson, executive secretary, Omaha council of social agencies. When more than one speaker is featured a panel discussion will be held.

Other forums will deal with "Chemistry as a Vocation" and "Nursing as a Vocation." Col. C. J. Frankforter, of the department of chemistry, will speak at the chemist's meeting, and Miss Agnes Taylor, director of nurses training at the Lincoln General hospital, will speak at the nursing forum.

Speakers for forums on "Art as a Vocation" and "Journalism as a Vocation" have not yet been chosen. Judge E. F. Carter, of the Nebraska State supreme court will speak on "Law as a Vocation."

Final forum in the series will deal with "Medicine as a Vocation" and "Laboratory Technician as a Vocation." Speakers for the last forum will be Dr. G. W. Covey, physician practicing in Lincoln, and Miss Elizabeth Pitch, laboratory technician in Dr. Covey's clinic.

Topics for the forums were chosen on the basis of a survey made among freshmen arts students concerning their professional ambitions.

school band will be guests at the Nebraska-Minnesota football game here Saturday.

The Nebraska Varsity band board is arranging the entertainment for the visitors. Members of the board include Richard White, James Meade, Richard Faytinger, Don Anderson and Don Hartman.

Photo by Rinehart-Marsden.

Betty Bachman, Alpha Chi Omega, is a junior who is majoring in Fine Arts—and fashions. As you know she was unanimously voted B. D. O. C. last season. Betty thinks this fitted coat from Gold's would be just the thing to wear to the Minnesota game, and anywhere afterwards too. Double breasted and belted back, this herringbone tweed coat has what it takes to please a college girl. $16.95. Notice the inverted pleats for extra flare in the skirt. The perky little hat Betty wears is a suede pill-box, $2.95, from Gold's Millinery department, grand for campus or street wear. (Adv.)

You Just "Can't" Do Without BROWN and WHITE

SADDLE OXFORDS

We Feature 'Em at...

$2.98

Sueded or leather soles. Also in Black and White leather soles.

They've got everything a young Co-ed wants. They're swank and peppy and the latest co-ed "crush."

Also in Black & White in leather soles.

Barker's

1107 "O" Str.

Next to Harley Drug

Come In Again Students

Let our five barbers serve you Individualized Haircuts

35c

New Deal Barber Shop

Virgil Franks, Mgr.

1306 O St.