

Jonesmen rest after Minnesota; Iowa State next

Varsity sees movies of Gopher game; brisk workout set for today

Nebraska's varsity took a well earned rest yesterday afternoon after their great victory over Minnesota last Saturday. The team, however did view the pictures of Saturday's game. Following the showing of the pictures, the squad went thru a light workout, limbering up and running a few plays.

Iowa State is the next Husker foe, and the Iowans suffered a 14 to 0 defeat at the hands of Kansas U. at Lawrence. However the Staters are no slouches and the Huskers will begin to prep for them this afternoon. Coach Biff Jones expects to give the Huskers brisk workouts today, Wednesday and Thursday. He will also endeavor to keep the Huskers from the let down that often comes after such a great victory.

Jones first.

Coach Biff Jones has the honor of being the first Husker coach ever to beat Minnesota twice. Nebraska scored a major upset over the Gophers in 1937, the Biffer's first year at Nebraska.

Oklahoma thrashed Northwestern at Evanston 23 to 0, Kansas State beat Marquette by 3 to 0, while Missouri suffered a 19 to 0 loss from Ohio State at Columbus.

The Oklahoma-Nebraska game to be played at Memorial stadium promises to be a thriller. The two teams meet Nov. 25, but speculation is being made already as to the outcome. Oklahoma really upset the dope in dishing out a 23 to 0 loss to Northwestern. It looks like a Big Six natural, if both teams keep up their early season pace.

Huskers stick to ground

The Huskers who were expected to fill the air with flying footballs used only one pass against the Gophers, it being good for three yards. Nebraska completely surprised with their superior running attack, and it looks like the offense will be plenty tough to cope with. Their passes were working great in the last half of the Indian game, and if necessary they can use that form of attack again.

Biff's birthday a happy one after Husker win

Biff Jones' 44th birthday was a lot happier than his birthday a year ago. The Biffer was 44 years old Sunday, the day after his football team upset Minnesota, and it was the best birthday present for which he could have hoped.

Journal and Star. Biff Jones.

Last year, tho, the Huskers played on Oct. 8 (the day), and lost to Iowa State 8 to 7 in their game here. To make this year's present better yet, the Huskers now have a job of getting revenge for last year's loss to Iowa State when they play at Ames, Saturday.

Jenness writes review

Dr. Arthur Jenness of the department of psychology wrote a book review in verse of Margaret Mead's "Cooperation and Competition Among Primitive Peoples." It was published in the current issue of the Journal of Abnormal and Social Psychology.

Bill Schock leads SAE's in 14-13 win

Sig Alphas nip AGR's; Phi Gams show power in thumping Kappa Sigs

Fraternity touch football teams played a full schedule yesterday as the Sig Alphas, led by Bill Schock, rallied to beat the AGR's 14-13 in the feature game of the day, the only game in League one.

The AGR's piled up a 13-0 lead, but Bill Wellinger threw two touchdown passes to Schock to score the touchdowns, and the same Schock made both extra points to put the Sig Alphas out in front.

Sigma Nu's win.

In League two games, the Sigma Nu's beat the DU's 1-0 by gaining more yardage in four downs during an extra period, and the PiKA's won in the same way from Delta Theta Phi. The Phi Psi's had a comparatively easy time with the SAM's, garnering two touchdowns and an extra point to win 13-0.

Defending champions, the Sig Eps, blasted the Sigma Chi's 26-0, in a League three game. The tilt was marred by a shoulder dislocation suffered by Kenny Miller of the losers.

Chi Phi's trump.

Vadon Cramer uncorked a long touchdown pass to Jenkins in the third period of the Chi Phi-Beta Sigma Psi game as the Chi Phi's won 6-0. The Phi Deltas won over Delta Sigma I in the other game.

The powerful Phi Gamma Delta team, led by Gene Littler and Bob Chatt, crushed the Kappa Sigs 33-0 in the standout League four game. One of Chatt's touchdowns came on a 75 yard run. Miller scored the other Fiji tally.

ATO's win.

The ATO's won 1-0 in an extra period tilt from the Deltas, and Farm House walked over the Zeta Beta Tau's 23-0 as Don Fitz, John Fitzgibbon, Charles Gardner and Emory Nelson starred.

Barb schedules are to be drawn up this morning, and will be mailed out Wednesday. The first games have been set for Thursday instead of Tuesday as was originally announced.

"Chief" Bauer leads Sam Francis into line on their famous spinner play in 1935. Bob DeFruiter scores against Minnesota, 1939. (Come now, think hard!)

Beck scores.

1913—Gordon Beck scores against the Gophers after taking pass from Max Towle. Nebraska 7, Minnesota 0. Mehring and Brock stop an Ames man, 1937. The list of photos would fill a page. Here's Bill Callihan helping defeat Minnesota in 1937.

How's this for a record? Coach Fred Dawson won 23 games, lost 7 and tied 2. And even better was that of "Jumbo" Stiehm, 1911-1915. His teams won 35, lost 2, tied 3.

Husker fans of other years will remember these captains: Leonard Pudy, 1913; "Buck" Beltzer, 1909; Ernest Frank, 1912; Victor Halligan, 1914; Sylvester Shonka, 1911.

The display will be in the windows for the remainder of the gridiron season.

Husker football history from 1902 to present gets pictorial display in downtown windows

BY BOB ALDRICH.

Interesting to all Husker fans is the display of photographs of former Nebraska games and players featured in the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company's windows, 14 and M streets.

The panorama of Cornhusker football history from 1902 to 1939 lives again in the fascinating display. Caught in breathless action are such immortals as Dick Rutherford, Chippy Rhodes and Blue Howell.

Mr. Norman Ott, advertising manager of the telephone company, started the collection a number of years ago as a hobby. He had no intention of letting the public in on his pastime until 1937. In the meantime he had found other collectors of rare Nebraskana and, combining his efforts with theirs, formed the first display. It attracted a lot of attention but not nearly so much as has the one now in the windows.

Reached peak.

"I really think we've reached the peak this year," Mr. Ott said. "Saturday I saw people standing three deep around the building. It looked like a display at the state fair."

A recent addition to the display was made by Miss Adah Tucker, former proprietor of a Lincoln photo gallery. Back around 1910 to 1916 the boys used to dress up in their snappy football suits strike a double wingback pose and let Miss Tucker preserve them for posterity.

"We've tried to feature the older teams in our displays," Mr. Ott said. Our idea is to interest people in Nebraska's present day teams. Our idea is to interest people in Nebraska's football history."

Two sides of building.

Starting on the M st. side, let's take a stroll around the display which covers two sides of a large building. "Chippy Rhodes breaks loose, 1924," the caption reads "Chris Mathis, the mighty atom, swings wide against Pitt, 1932." The pictures aren't in chronological order, the action photos being mostly on one side, the stills on the other.

Here's the 1939 squad, outnumbering older outfits about four to one... Blue Howell blocks for Presnell, 1927... George Sauer and Bernie Masterson of '31, '32, '33—remember that far back? It's 1913 and Nebraska kicks off to Minnesota (you know, up around Minneapolis). The Gophers take us 12-7 in 1935 with Jerry Lanoue making a touchdown.

Guess who? It's Biff Jones on the Army team in 1916. "Biff" reads the caption, "received high praise for his work as a deadly blocker for this team-mate, the great Oliphant."

Yippee! It's Wild Hoss Cardwell on an end sweep in a 1936 thriller. Three immortals of 1902... that's a little far back for us but Johnny Bender, Maurice Benedict, and John West-over must have been good to rate those pictures.

1902 team great.

Incidentally, do you know that the 1902 team was undefeated, untied, and even unscored upon? If you're a Husker fan to the core you'll know also that Dick Rutherford and Guy Chamberlain were the Rohrig and Luther of 1902.

"Probably the most famous line play picture ever taken," is the caption for an exciting shot of Lewellyn taking the ball when the Huskers won 14-6 over Notre Dame, in 1922.

Biffer the Jones killed two birds with one pebble Saturday as the Huskers put down the Gophers.

First, the windy boys had been griping because the Huskers had no offense, and because they had to revert to luck to do most of their scoring. Well the Huskers' ground game against Minnesota isn't to be sneezed at, especially when you remember that the Huskers had to throw only one pass, and that a little three yarder which was complete early in the game.

Secondly, some of the know-it-alls griped last year because Biff ran in "too many subs." But we'd like to know what would have happened Saturday had Biff had only 11 instead of 24 capable men to use. And one big reason that he had those 24 was because he let them play last year instead of ride the bench. Said gripers are probably noticing, too, that the "second" team did the scoring Saturday.

And for the first time in a long time, Nebraska was taking the play away from a high ranking team. Usually the Huskers would punt on first down, let their line be outcharged, and depend on luck to score, but Saturday they were keeping hold of the ball, and beating the Gophers to their own power game.

Oklahoma played some heads up ball Saturday, and it looks now as tho that 7-7 tie SMU got with the Sooners was due to a little luck on the Mustangs' part. That Sooner-Nebraska game here on the last Saturday of the season, ought to be the game of games—and don't think the Huskers don't want to win that one.

As a reward for the brilliant coaching performance he turned in Saturday, Major "Biff" Jones has a new job. He has been named official head advisor to the DAILY's coaching staff for the coming battle with the Yearbookies Friday. We're sure that Biff will feel honored—and we can't think of a thing that would be more fitting as a tribute to a coach who has had two victories over Minnesota in the last three years.

Baseball Coach Wilbur Knight take notice, and weep. Ned Tighe, who batted .330 for Joplin in the Western association is in school here, but of course wouldn't be eligible for amateur baseball. Ned had a year with the Norfolk team in the Nebraska state league, and will report to Norfolk, Va., in the Piedmont league next March. He's just going to school one semester this year, but will go the whole school term the following year.

or are publications which are distributed free. In addition the library receives a second copy of 120 publications.

It is estimated that of the total number of periodicals received by the library—between one-third and one-half are printed in foreign languages, including publications in at least 12 different tongues.

Librarian Mrs. Margaret Horning admits that, with its subscription list exceeding the 2,000 mark, the periodical department does offer its patrons "a very good representation" of the world's magazines. She estimates that in the world nearly 10,000 different journals, magazines, quarterlies and other periodicals are now published.

Distributed over campus. One more barrage of numbers and the statistics cease. Only 1200 periodicals are kept on file in the library. The others are distributed as follows: (these figures are estimates made by Mrs. Horning) to the ag campus, 500; to engineering college, 200; to Bessey, 200; to chemistry, 75; to physics, 25; and to astronomy, ten. Some publications are also sent to the medical college.

Students who desire to make the fullest use of the library periodical department should consult The Readers' Guide, the International Index and the Educational Index all of which are found on the library's main floor.
