Kansas State didn't have Elmer Hackney Saturday, but judging from reports of the Missouri-K State game, a sophomore fullback by the name of Kent Duwe, 195 pounder from Lucas, Kansas, did all right. He carried the ball 19 times for a total of 87 yards which is a little over 5 yards per smack at the line.

The K-Staters, though, didn't have any scoring punch, as they could score only one touchdown on something over 300 net yards. Maybe if Big Elmer had been in they'd have cashed in on some of those scoring opportunities. Hackney is probably out for the season, although he may be back in shape by the time the last Wildcat games roll around. However, Track Coach Ward Haylett is trying to get him to give up football to keep concentrating on his shot putting talents.

Marvin Athey, frosh back, is a brother of Verl Athey, former Husker pole vaulter. Marvin was tie one-man athletic department at Wauneta high last year. President Robert Hutchins of Chicago U. visited the Maroons' dressing rooms after the Michigan debacle last Saturday. 'twas said some of the boys just stood around and gaped when they looked up and saw him. He probably gaped when he saw Michigan, too. And this is not so very nice to say, but we hear that our man Tom Harmon of Michigan loves to play to the grandstand. He struts between plays.

There's going to be an interesting southwest conference game this weekend—between Texas A & M and Baylor. Nebraskans will be watching to see what the Aggies, who are touted as one of the nation's best, will do against the Bears. And Oklahoma coaches are probably worrying about the Oklahoma A & M game Saturday. Last year the Aggies nearly demolished the Sooners, as Howard McCarty went out with a broken hip, and Jerry Bolton with a broken knee cap. People who have seen the Stillwater boys play at Creighton say they aren't exactly sissies.

What with Elmer Hackney out of Saturday's game for sure, and with Vike Francis probably out, that long-awaited meeting between two prides of Oberlin, Kansas, won't materialize. Lightest man on the Husker frosh, Russell Brehm, 138 pound wingback, sells advertising for the DAILY. Watch out youse Cornhusker and Awgwan sissies.

NHSPA elects heads at Saturday meeting

Miss Ruth Cross of Jackson high school was elected president of the Nebraska High School Press association at the annual business meeting Saturday morning in the Student Union. James Morrison of Holdrege was named vice president and Lloyd Richards of Tecumseh, secretary-treasurer. A total of 431 high school journalists, representing 46 schools in the state, were in attendance at the meetings.

ATO's nip Fiji's 7-6 in League 4 thriller

Winners to meet Farm House

By Joe Siwinski

Alpha Tau Omega won 7-6 over Phi Gamma Delta yesterday in League 4 to put them in a playoff with Farmhouse for the loop championship Thursday at 4:30. The game ended in a 6-6 tie and 4 downs for each team had to be played to decide the winner. Paul Miller who caught a pass from Sid White made the touchdown for the ATO's while Bob Chatt crossed the goal line for Phi Gam's score.

The Phi Deltas, winner of League 3, and the Beta's, League 1 winner, will meet in the playoff at 4:30 Thursday, also, while the semifinal game between the Phi Psi's, League 2 champions, and the winner of League 4 will be played at a later date, probably Monday, with the grand championship set tentatively for Wednesday of next week.

Deltas win.

In another League 4 game Delta Tau Delta ran over Acacia by a 19-0 score. The touchdowns for the victors were made by Buck Jones, Dow Wilson, and Ed Dosek. The extra point came when Wilson passed to Jack Gallaty.

In the most thrilling barb game of the afternoon the Juggernauts won by a 1-0 score over Union Leaders. No score came up until after the game was over when both teams had to play the most yardage in 4 downs rule. The Juggernauts made 9 yards making it all in the last down while the Leaders made 7 yards.

Hitlers Playboys under Dictator Les Livingston ran through Cotton Club like the name of their team ran through Poland by a 21-0 score in League 1. Les Livingston ran 50 yards to put the ball in scoring position for Bill Burke's touchdown. Les also threw a pass to Don Chaloupka for the second touchdown and scored the third touchdown himself after intercepting a pass. He made all three extra points too.

ACBC victory.

In League 4 of the Barb section was the ACBC 12-0 victory over Tappa Kegga. Bud Voight intercepted a pass and ran across for the first touchdown; Dwight Lambert who intercepted a pass also made the second touchdown.

In the same league Cornhusker Coop won 13-0 over the Dirty Irish. Lynn Landgren ran over for the first touchdown with Chris Rosenberg kicking the extra point. Paul Sprout caught a pass from Landgren for the second tally.

'Beauty Queen' Alfson looks good at guard

Warren "Queenie" Alfson may have won last spring's Awgwan beauty contest, but don't let that fool you. Because Alfson, regular Husker right guard, is being heralded to the skies, and rightly so, for the great game he has been turning in for the Huskers this season.

WARREN ALFSON Journal & Star. in the season.

Not so heavy.

Alfson is six feet, one-half inch tall, and weighs around 190, and although he is lighter than many of the guards he faces he makes it up with a speedy, hard-socking game which has brought notice to his fine performance at guard, a position which usually draws little mention from observers.

Alfson had two years with the freshman team before making the varsity and earning a major letter last year. He's from Wisner, home of another great Cornhusker, Jerry LaNoue.

NU gridders rise in week's ratings

Nebraska climbed six notches in the AP poll this week and now the Huskers are in tenth place in the rating which lists Tennessee first. Oklahoma, Nebraska's Big Six rival, dropped to sixth place after being in third last week.

The Huskers are rated eleventh in Bill Board's Azzi Ratem scale, and were sixteenth there last week. Oklahoma is ranked second; Notre Dame, first; and Tennessee thirteenth.

No first place votes.

Nebraska didn't get any votes for first place in the AP poll. The nine teams ahead of the Huskers are Tennessee, Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State, Texas A. & M., Oklahoma, Cornell, Southern Cal and Tulane, in that order.

German student asks Orfield for articles

Professor Orfield of the university law school has received a request from a student at the University of Berlin, asking that he send to him articles on social security in Nebraska. The Berlin student who is making a study of social security laws in Germany wishes Orfield's articles in order that he might make a comparison of the two systems.

The request came through a probate judge in Connecticut who, in deciding cases, has been using Professor Orfield's articles.

Francis still out with bad shoulder

The Biffer had his first team taking a light workout last night. The starting eleven had Dobson at fullback, and Hopp at Rohrig's halfback post. Ray Prochaska was alternating with Ashburn at right end, except for these changes the starting lineup remained the same as it was against Baylor last week. A few dummy pass and power plays took up all of the first eleven's time, and after a jog around the track they retired to the showers.

Vike Francis injured his shoulder in the Baylor game and has been carrying his arm in a sling. An X-ray of the injury showed that there were no broken bones, but it looks serious enough to keep Vike on the bench for the Kansas State game. Game Captain Dobson and Henry Rohn will divide the fullbacking duties. Rohrig, Luther, Alfson and Knight were going through drill last night in sweat clothes, but they all will be in shape for the Aggies.

Knight ready.

Knight who has been out of action for the last ten days will be ready to share the quarterback assignments with Petsch. T. Thompson and Porter, who saw service against Baylor will be in reserve. Both turned in a nice performance against the Bears last weekend.

Last weekend the Kansas State aggregation lost a close one to the Missouri Tigers, 9-7. The Staters will be gunning for the Cornhuskers as they lost a thriller to the Scarlet last year. Paced by Elmer Hackney the Aggies threatened several times in last year's contest and almost managed to break through the Cornhuskers in a goal line battle.

Hackney out.

The Aggies will be without the services of Hackney, possibly for the remainder of the season. A torn ligament in the leg will keep the "One Man Gang" on the bench for several more weeks at least. Track Coach Ward Haylett hopes that his track star will forget the gridiron for the rest of the season and have his knee operated on.

Without Hackney the Aggies will be without some of their early season punch, but his post will be ably filled by a sophomore, Kent Duwe.

Early indications point to a ground game, rather than aerial warfare which proved to be the main attack of the Cornhuskers last weekend. Most of the practice last night was devoted to power plays, and reverses. The second and third teams were in the running roles while the varsity eleven took things easy.

Sooners Clark, Seymour lead scorers with 24 points apiece

Beryl Clark, Oklahoma back who was forgotten in the rush last year, is tied with Bob Seymour, Sooner fullback, for scoring honors of the Big Six with 24 points. Clark got two touchdowns against Kansas Saturday.

In third place is Paul Christman of Missouri who has scored three touchdowns, although he went scoreless Saturday. Dick Favor, Sooner place kicker, is in fourth place, having kicked two field goals and seven extra points for 13 points.

Prochaska spurts.

Bob Luther and Ray Prochaska, the latter by virtue of the 12 points he scored Saturday, are the leading Husker scorers with two touchdowns apiece. They're tied at that mark along with Melvin Seelye and Gene Fair of Kansas State. Clay Cooper of Missouri and Milt Sullivant of Kansas.

Other men who have scored for the Huskers are Herman Rohrig, a field goal and three extra points for seven counters; Bob DeFruiter, a touchdown; and Harry Hopp, a touchdown.
