FARM FORMAL CROWNS PEGGY SHE RBURN

500 ag students don denim, pigtailed and hair bows to hail Lincoln senior as season's first queen

(Picture at right.) Peggy Sherburn, ag college senior, was selected Farmers Formal queen Friday night as more than 500 ag students donned everything from bowlers to ten gallon hats to attend the annual Farmer's Formal in the student activities building.

Miss Sherburn, selected by vote of the men attending, reigned on a hay throne in keeping with the "farmer" atmosphere of the party.

Lentz, guest star in first symphony

Fine arts department will present program in coliseum today at 3

Initial program of the university Symphony Orchestra presented in concert by the school of fine arts will be this afternoon at 3 in the coliseum.

Don A. Lentz, member of the music faculty and conductor of university bands and orchestras, has chosen to play Griffes' "Poem for Flute and Orchestra" for his solo with Emanuel Wishnow of the violin faculty conducting for the presentation.

"Moon Love."

First on the program is "Symphony No. 5 in E minor" by Tchaikowski. The work abounds

Pick research committee

Stoke heads group to study coordination

The creation of a university research committee was revealed yesterday by Chancellor C. S. Boucher, with the purpose of securing the correlation of the various research programs being carried on within the university.

Dr. Harold Stoke, dean of the graduate college, was appointed chairman of the committee. Other members are: Professors W. L. DeBaufre, C. S. Hamilton, J. O. Hertzler, C. G. Lowe, Louise Pound, W. A. Spurr, Myron H. Swenk, and John E. Weaver. These members were selected to represent the fields of the biological sciences, humanities, physical sciences, and social sciences rather than colleges, according to the chancellor.

Nothing happens? What kind of war is this anyway?

"Why doesn't something happen in Europe?" ask harried reporters, tired of writing about reputed great attacks on the western front which turn out to be scouting parties reconnoitering, and airplane attacks which are, instead, air-minded civilians taking the kiddies for a Sunday afternoon pleasure trip.

The Union says the same thing only in a different way. War forums, recently turned over by the Student Council to the Union, have been canceled until something happens in Europe to warrant further discussion.

Her attendants marched onto the stage at 10:15, formed an arch with pitchforks in front of a realistic haystack, which to the accompaniment of a fanfare by the orchestra, opened to reveal the queen seated on a hay throne. A huge yellow moon in the background added a harvest touch as the orchestra played "Shine On, Harvest Moon," as the queen and her attendants marched down off the stage.

Attendants—eight. The queen's attendants, all ag seniors, were Gwen Jack, Lois Hammond, Harriet Millbern, Marie Lienert, Charlotte Peckham, Mary Schriker, Marian Smrha, and Amolie Svoboda. The queen carried a bouquet of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums and wore a yellow floor-length dress trimmed in brown, with brown shoulder straps and a hoop skirt. The attendants wore multi-colored floor-length gowns with puffed sleeve effects and gathered skirts.

Bales of hay, baaing sheep, shocks of corn, red and yellow leaves, harness, and an oversized spider web transformed the activ-

Award bizad scholarships

High-ranking students honored Tuesday

High ranking students in the bizad college will be honored at the annual recognition banquet and program of the college Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock in the Student Union.

Presiding will be Lloyd Jeffrey, president of the student executive council; Dean J. E. LeRossignol will be toastmaster. Frank P. Fogarty of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce will address the group on "The Plus Values of a Business Career."

William Gold keys.

In addition to the awarding to the student executive council of the William Gold keys to the ten highest ranking freshmen in last year's class, announcement will be made of the winners of various other awards, including the Alpha Kappa Psi citizenship prize, Delta Sigma Pi scholarship key, the Phi Chi Theta key, new members of Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary business fraternity; members of the 1939 class elected to Phi Beta Kappa, and those who graduated with distinction in June, announcement of the recipient of the John E. Miller graduate fellowship, scholar in business research, and the names of students whose averages for last year placed them in the upper ten percent of their class.

Harold Swan is chairman of the banquet committee; Grant Thomas, ticket sales; Harriett Lewis, publicity, and Katherine Shawver, program and decorations.

Pan-Hel offers $30 scholarships

Several $30 scholarships for second semester tuition are being offered to affiliated university women by the Lincoln Pan-Hellenic association. Women who desire to apply should fill out an application blank in Ellen Smith before Nov. 4. Personal interviews will be given by the Pan-Hellenic committee during the week of Nov. 12. No set number of scholarships will be awarded; the matter is left to be determined by the committee.

The season's first queen

Peggy Sherburn, Lincoln senior, was elected Farmers' Formal queen Friday night as a crowd of 500 attended the annual event on ag college campus.

Van Royen avers Cooperation on equal basis is only hope

Only hope for satisfactory solution of Europe's problems lies in voluntary co-operation on a basis of equality, combined with revisions of boundaries, exchanges of population, important changes in the economic system, and partial sacrifice of the independence of each country, Dr. William Van Royen, of the geography department, told the geography meeting of the Nebraska State Teachers association convention Friday afternoon.

Europe not ready.

Speaking on "The Political-Geographic Background of the European Conflict," Dr. Van Royen said that these changes "would have to be supplemented by common ownership of certain colonial regions, wholesale revision of world tariffs, and international regulations of currency. For this neither Europe nor the world as a whole seems to be ripe. It probably will cost the lives of millions of people before a satisfactory solution of the various European and world problems becomes generally acceptable."

He pointed out that as a result of modern education and the power of press and radio, nationalism today plays a role in Europe which it never has played before. Self-determination of nations is impossible, Dr. Van Royen said, Keith Gilmore, president, Betty Jo Smith and Marvin Kruse were co-chairmen of the affair. Ruth Ann Sheldon and Gans Richmond

Labor students Make survey for Swayzee

on unemployment

Dr. Cleon C. Swayzee's class in labor problems will conduct the fourth of a series of unemployment surveys in Lincoln beginning Nov. 1 and continuing for one week.

About 60 students will do house-to-house canvassing in ten districts of the city representing ten occupational groups. Richard White and Beverly Finkle, graduate students from Lincoln, will be assistant supervisors. More than 4,000 Lincoln people will be interviewed.

Cover eight areas.

The class will cover parts of Havelock and University Place, area next to the ag campus, a section northeast of the city campus, and the vicinities of 33rd and R, 13th and A, 33rd and Randolph, Sheridan boulevard, and the areas from 1st to 8th and M to Peach.

Dr. Swayzee does not expect much increase in employment in spite of the business upturn caused by the war.

The survey is expected to show Lincoln's share in business recovery and reasons for local unemployment. The number of part-time workers and the number on relief will be noted. In the last survey in 1937, Dr. Swayzee found that 141 per 1,000 were unemployed. In 1933, 252 per 1,000 were without work.

Wildcats pay for 2 minutes lead at first

Huskers rebound in just two plays, with Herm Rohrig going through

A number of Cornhusker followers going to Manhattan Saturday on the regular train, were forced to make the last three miles of their journey by "thumb," due to the break-down of the train when it was almost at the end of its run. Most of the fans who resorted to hitchhiking in order to see the game's kickoff were successful in catching rides on the highway. The football special arrived on time.

Special to the Daily Nebraskan.

MANHATTAN, Kas.—Nebraska's Cornhuskers weren't to be denied here Saturday afternoon as Kansas State's plucky eleven bowed, 25 to 9, in a Big Six conference contest.

The Wildcats led briefly—about two minutes—after Jim Brock's educated tootsie had booted a field goal from the Husker three yard line shortly after the start of the second quarter.

Then came the bruising, crushing attack of the Scarlet tide, sweeping over the entire Kansas State defense, opening up holes and pouring over touchdowns.

Hermie Rohrig struck first for the gallant Huskers with an 80 yard punt return down the sidelines. Hermie missed the try for extra point.

Harry Hopp, Hastings husky, added another six points in the third quarter when he in-

Chemical warfare Sigma Xi topic

"Chemical Warfare" is the topic of an address to be given by Colonel C. J. Frankforter, at the year's first regular meeting of the Nebraska chapter of Sigma Xi, Oct. 30, at 7:30 p. m. in the lecture room of Avery lab.

The colonel will present data relative to the manufacture and use of chemicals in war, and will discuss the relation of peace time chemical industry to war time conditions, the effectiveness of gas as a weapon, and some of the misconceptions of chemical warfare.

Colonel Frankforter served during the World war as an officer of the infantry, military police, and chemical warfare service, was P. M. S. and T. at Nebraska in 1919, is a graduate of a staff course at the Army war college, Washington, D. C., has carried out advanced study in chemistry and chemical engineering at the Universities of Minnesota and Michigan.

The meeting is open to the public.

And Mr. God is very probably Donald Duck

Football coaches may have only a fleeting fame, but it's great while it lasts.

Said a Lincoln teacher, "Name three of the greatest men in the world."

Said the bright little boy in the first row, "Jesus, Thomas Jefferson, and Biff Jones."

What price glory?
