Chris Peterson

With the fall elections out of the way we can all lean back and heave a mighty sigh. That much of school life is settled for another year.

The way things were boiling between the progressives, liberals and barbs, a traitor in campus politics was a fellow who left our party and went over to the other party. When a man left the other party and came over to our party, he was a convert.

It seems to me that the campus ideal in politics is to do nothing yourself and investigate everything that the other fellow does.

At the progressive rally: "I see many new faces here tonight with whom I would like to shake hands." Odd greeting.

At the liberal rally: "Now before making my speech, I would like to say a few words."

Which reminds me. There was a politician who after hours of blaaa asked if there was a watch in the house. A voice in the back of the room answered, "No, but there is a calendar right behind you."

But believe it or not, many a candidate has spoken a true word through false teeth.

So the campus political pot boiled over. Too damn many cooks brewing the broth.

Artist Elma Pratt speaks tomorrow

Elma Pratt, internationally known figure in the art world, will be the guest speaker tomorrow at 3 p. m. in Ag hall 306 at an all ag campus convocation. Classes will be dismissed at the option of instructors.

Miss Pratt, who has spent most of the past ten years in European countries and has a broad understanding of conditions there, is the founder and director of the International School of Art, which has schools in many European countries.

Recently awarded a gold cross by Poland for outstanding work in developing art in that country, she is expected to bring students on ag campus a thorough insight into European conditions, both in art and economic conditions.

Democracies take dictator for action

Hertzler considers only sick or weak states susceptible

Sick democracies or democracies that have never achieved strength have been willing to accept dictatorship as a means of getting action, declares Dr. J. O. Hertzler, chairman of the department of sociology, in an analysis of dictatorship causes which has been published in Sociology and Social Research.

The university educator, who has completed a study of 35 dictatorships in past and present times, believes that in the present totalitarian states, postwar conditions and the treaty of Versailles have been great contributing factors.

After Versailles.

After the World War, Dr. Hertzler explains, there were 30 sovereign states instead of eighteen; 35 customs systems instead of 26 and 3,750 miles of new customs barriers, and 27 monetary systems instead of 13.

The study has also indicated that dictatorships have flourished best where people have had little experience in popular government. He believes that this is applicable both to the cases of Hitler and Mussolini in Germany and Italy.

Dr. Hertzler also believes that in countries where there are many small parties, the executive powers must of necessity seize powers which do not belong to them, in order to get things done.

Another reason given for increase of dictatorship is the quick and decisive action required in international affairs, and the cumbersome and inefficiency of the parliamentary system in times of emergency.

is a member of the Innocents society. He was also a member of the student publications board, and the Student Union governing board. At present he is serving on the student council and plays full-back for the Huskers.

Forrest Behm, successor to Grant Thomas as junior president, is one of the Biffer's boys, playing tackle on the varsity squad.

Again the students chose to elect athletes to junior and senior positions. Last year Bill Kovanda and Grant Thomas both basketball lettermen were elevated to the offices. The election returns as reported by the Student Council are:

Senior class president:
Adna Dobson	204
Dow Wilson	194
Ed McDonald	168
Junior class president:
Forrest Behm	228
Ed Segrist	202
Costas	150
Total ballots for Honorary Colonel	2165
Total ballots for Nebraska Sweetheart	1372

The Student Council made good its promise to conduct a clean and honest election. All factions concerned termed this election as the fairest in years.

Bob Flory, a member of the progressive party, said, "It looked like a clean election and shows the comparatively even strength of the two major factions which will have to be decided in the spring balloting. John Mason, a liberal, stated, "It was the fairest election I've seen since I came to school. I think this was due only to the vigilance of all parties at the polls."

Marian Kidd, president of the Student Council, expressed the view that this was the "most fair election we've ever had. Any complaints, I hope, will be registered with me."

Ellsworth Steele, as a representative of the Barb Union, was the only one who expressed a negative view of the election. He said, "With faculty cooperation we would be able to give them (the students) a cleaner election. Were the campus sure of a truly honest Student Council, it would be more sure of a truly honest election."

Rally Friday features guns, fireworks

Pershing Rifles, victory bell, Dean Thompson join rooting program

Plans for the Armistice day and homecoming rally to be held Friday night dictate Cornhusker rooters to meet in front of the Union at 7 p. m. where the rally parade will form. The freshman band will lead the procession followed by two platoons of Pershing Riflemen led by Robert Pillsbury. Following the band and riflemen, the Corn Cobs and Tassels will march with the victory bell.

Route of march will be from the Union to 16th and R, from 16th and R to 16th and Vine, from 16th and Vine to the east stadium.

Program for the rally will include talks by Dean of Student Affairs, T. J. Thompson; game captain, George Porter; and coach, Biff Jones. Following the speeches the two platoons of Pershing Riflemen will fire three volleys. Climax of the rally will come after the blowing of taps when a fireworks setpiece of a 12-foot American flag is set off.

Home ec group initiates tonight

More than 200 members of the home economics association will gather at the student activities building this evening at 6:45 to assist in the initiations, Lois Hammond, president, announced yesterday. She requests that all members attend the formal ceremony.

The ritual will be administered to all girls who have signified their intentions of being members of the association this year. The candlelight service will be administered by the officers—Miss Hammond, president; Helen Scheve, vice president; Jean Burr, secretary; Sylvia Zocholl, treasurer, and Helen Thomas, historian. They will be assisted by their committee sub-chairmen.

jects when really the main objective was music.

"I cannot see how you Americans get so many things done in so little time. All the time you are going some place or doing something. At home we do not hurry so much. We take our time, and do not rush into things."

Won't talk politics.

When asked about Mussolini and the government she expressed the desire not to discuss political questions. However she did say that, "I like Mussolini, because I like every great man." The greater majority, she stated, like their leader and desire peace and nothing else.

"I think they (the Kappas) are right when they call me 'Miss Marcella Comfortable' because I do not like war and I am so happy that I can be here where there are no guns," laughingly commented Miss Comforto.

Supper at 9.

In Italy they eat their meals at the same time as the Americans except for supper which is eaten at approximately 9 p. m. All the meals are started with a sandwich of some kind and then invariably macaroni, followed by the main dishes. She said that "We do not drink milk at meals; wine is the national favorite mealtime drink."

When asked about football she expressed her dislike for the game and said that in Italy the games were not sponsored by the universities. Football, she stated is the preferred game in Italy but all the teams are professional.

Accompanying Miss Comforto where ever she goes is a small pocket dictionary and a notebook in which she writes down all the new words she hears. Her favorite pastime is collecting slang words and trying to figure out what they mean. She proudly said that she knew what "O.K." meant and expressed her liking for the favorite Husker drink.

At Miller's We Saw

YOU'LL see it everywhere, this newest, gayest accent shade of red. The adventurous call it Robin Hood Red, some one else, very traffic minded, it's Signal Red, or Danger Red, but the practical lass from the farm speaks out with, "Barn Red."

BUT whatever name you give it, do have a flavor of this red for your winter costume. We spied so many ways at MILLER'S to add this flash of color.

THERE are MIT TENS of astrachan cloth, red as a glowing fire, with colored bubbles on their backs. Fun to wear, and only $1.

JACKETS of suede cloth, a red that takes all the gloom out of dressing for winter. 2.95.

JEWELRY puts gobs of red around your neck, and you like it. $1.
