Editorially Speaking Will You Fight?

With all elements of the nation ardently campaigning for one side or another in the current debate over the United States' position in the current world situation, college students are strongly asserting their views on just what should be done to clarify their country's stand on international politics. Here is a summary of most recent polls—a summary that tells you just how the wind is blowing as far as the nation's undergraduates are concerned:

A little more than 58 per cent of the college youth favors the move of the U. S. senate in voting repeal of the embargo against shipment of arms to foreign nations.

When it comes to the question of furnishing military aid, however, to allies (Britain and France) if they face defeat, collegians vote 68 per cent against sending our men and machines across the Atlantic.

The above vote is despite the fact that 91 per cent of the undergraduates voting favor the cause of the allies against the totalitarian alliance.

In keeping with the expressions given above, 96 per cent voted in the "no" column when asked if they thought the U. S. should enter the present European war. In fact, 78 per cent indicated that they would not volunteer for service if the United States went to war on the side of the allies. On the other hand, 55 per cent indicated that they would fight in the U. S. army if we are attacked. The surprising fact here is the large number ((45 per cent) who indicated that they would not fight even if our nation or its territories were invaded.

These statistics were gathered by Associated Collegiate Press. The facts, judging from figures we have at hand, seem to indicate that the pacifistic views of the nation's collegians, so often expressed before, have changed little since the opening of hostilities in Europe. The general view, it seems, is that the United States should do all in our power to any circumstances, but that we should do all in our power to aid the English-French alliance to defeat the forces of Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini.

One may rightly assume from this preliminary survey report that the college student is strongly maintaining his isolationistic view that we should remain aloof to all foreign entreaties that call for active fight to again save democracy from defeat.

Just how strong this view is entrenched will be proven only when the defeat of the democratic nations becomes imminent, for then will come the real test of whether or not they can passively watch totalitarianism assume an even more dominant position in Europe.

Editor on program John Paris, editor of "Who's Who in Nebraska" will address Delian-Union literary society Friday night in the organization's clubrooms, 303-304 Temple building, at 9 p. m. The meeting, to which unaffiliated students of the university are invited, will also include a musical program.

Coryell gives success talk L. L. Coryell, Sr., will talk and lead a general discussion on factors contributing for success, at the Friendly Friday meeting at Wesley Foundation, Friday evening at 8 p. m. Twenty-five have been invited to attend. Beula Brigham and Thorud Bertson are in charge of arrangements.

Scrap Irony Chris Peterson

Thinking seriously of knocking off and taking a little vacation, I spent the week end writing for folders and what not on vacation spots. Here's what I got in the mail this morning.

SUNNY HELL (A Satanic Real Estate Prospectus) GO TO HELL America's Playground!

When winter clutches the north with icy fingers, visit this world-famous tropical resort, famous for centuries. See the Flaming Lakes and the equally well-known Sizzling Griddles. Fine, equable temperature, even the year around. No rainy afternoons to bore the visitor. Something doing every minute. Entertainment offered by experts morning, noon and night. Mostly night. Here is gathered the largest collection of saxophone players ever assembled in one body. See the Children's Playground where hundreds upon hundreds of clever, cute, little mites are happily engaged in speaking pieces, singing snatches of song, knocking over breakables, pulling kitten's tails and gouging each other's eyes out.

Do you love music? Then hear Hells Bells in action.

Literature? Send us your name and address and we will mail you free "A HELL OF A NOTE," being snappy and amusing excerpts from letters which later figured prominently in breach of promise suits.

All of the comforts of home are regularly installed in Hell—the same slippery toothpaste tubes, over enthusiastic light meters, packs of cards with torn edges—every detail has been thought out in advance.

Why you will even sometimes think that you are home again. "And that," as one of our testimonials runs, "Is the Hell of it!"

Would you go?

Council—

(Continued from Page 1.) caused by members of the liberal faction, we recommend that the candidate placed by that faction in Tuesday's election be replaced by the man with the next highest number of votes. The suggestion aforementioned assumes that faction leaders or its representatives shall shoulder all responsibility for any acts committed by members of the faction which they represent. Responsibility does not end, however, with close of the rally.

Council to meet the 15th. The recommendation will be voted upon by the council at a special meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 15. If the motion is passed and if it is proven that liberals provoked the attack, Ed Segrist, who received the next largest number of votes, will replace Forrest Behm as junior class president.

Members of the judiciary committee believe that if such action is taken it will prevent the recurrence of incidents similar to the one Monday night.

Ellsworth Steele, Barb Union member of the council, altho he did not protest the election, registered complaints as to the nature of the election. He said that the names on the ballots were not rotated and that sweetheart ballots allegedly were given to girls. He also stated that the engineers voting list was not complete and that all factions attempted to double vote.

Earl Constable, Barb Union leader, attended the session and made several suggestions which he desired the council to legislate upon. His first suggestion proposed that a motion be passed to the effect that the collection of identification cards by factions be declared illegal. He also suggested that each college have its own polling place which would eliminate considerably the supposed fraudulent voting.

Farm House—

Lackey writes article for weather monthly

Prof. E. E. Lackey, of the geography department, is the author of an article on "Rainfall Variability in the United States" in the latest issue of the Monthly Weather Review. The article is accompanied by five large-scale maps which show the records of annual rainfall in all parts of the United States. The absolute minimum and maximum rainfall for various sections of the country are indicated on the map as well as the minimum for 25 percent, 50 percent and 75 percent of the time.

COLLEGE CAPERS Ed Wittenberg

Princeton ...freshmen voted Adolf Hitler the greatest living person and FDR the greatest living American. Hitler flashed into the lead like a bat out of you-know-where, finishing with 93 votes, to 27 for Albert Einstein, voted second. Other "finishers" in the annual yearling poll at "Old Nassau" were Neville Chamberlain, Mahatma Ghandi and in a five-way tie for fifth, Roosevelt, Stalin, Hedy Lamarr, "my pop" and "Gloria."

Ka Leo o Hawaii ...is among the papers that come regularly into the office. It is the student publication of the University of Hawaii. The names on its masthead are an interesting combination of oriental and occidental. James Hall—good anglo saxon name that—is the copy editor, while Dorothy Goo is in charge of features, and Gertrude Chong handles society. Other names on the staff are Eddie Chong, Yutaka Nakahata, Blossom Chang, Hung Chung, Seung, Barlow Hardy and Lucy Lum.

Winter Carnival ...preparations are under way at Dartmouth with ice sculptors cleaning their shovels and whetting their blades. Of five plans which have been submitted for icy figures, three involve the Dartmouth Indian in poses ranging from "The Thinker" to a war dance. "Artistic merit, not size The Dartmouth.

Where there's smoke ...there's fire, but Kansas university is in a heat over a no smoking bill now pending in the men's student council and the women's student governing association. The supporters of the measure argue logically enough where there's no smoking, there'll be no fires.

Here's a tradition ...that should be popular on every campus. Iowa university is now in the throes of its second annual Men's week, an occasion on which every campus bachelor worthy of the name will lay aside razors and shaving brushes until after a pep rally this Friday. The event is sponsored by Iowa's version of the Corn Cobs, Pi Epsilon Pi, which will give prizes for the longest beard, the strangest beard and the heaviest beard according to the Daily Iowan. "Shabby comfort" is the theme, and old pants, dirty shirts and corn cob pipes, the rule in dress. Some candidates:
