Nebraska campusites will get to see quite a bit of basketball this winter even tho dear old Christmas vacation does come as usual.

The Huskers have their best home schedule in years—with six top-notch inter-sectional games. The South Dakota game Saturday night, and the Indiana game next week won't face any competition from vacation. For those who don't know yet, that sweet time starts at noon Wednesday, Dec. 20. That night Stanford plays here, so those who aren't in too much of a hurry to get away, will get to see a good ball game. On Dec. 23 the team goes to Minneapolis to meet Minnesota, and chances are the crowd at the Dec. 27 game here with Utah will be 98 1-2 percent Lincolmites. The team plays at Milwaukee against Wisconsin Dec. 30. The Wisconsin and Minnesota games, incidentally, are the only out of conference games away from home. Detroit plays here Jan. 2, which is the Tuesday night before the Wednesday noon on which vacation ends. California plays here Jan. 6. All of which means all of you aren't basketball fans every game except one this year without stretching too hard.

All Big Six teams selected by the University Daily Kansan and the Oklahoma Daily varied at only one position. . . the Daily Kansan had Bud Orf at one end, while the Sooner paper picked Frank Ivy. . . both selections had George Seemann at one post. . . the other boys they had in the line were tackles Duggan of Oklahoma and Weiner of K-State, guards Speegle of the Sooners. . . backs were the Seymour, Clark, Rohrig and Christman combination. . . for those who like to keep count, the Oklahoma paper listed six Sooners; the KU daily, five. C. E. McBride of the KC Star did very well by himself on the Hopp-Rohrig question. . . he put them both on. . . he also had Warren Alfson on his all Big Six team, but called Alfson a "sophomore" . . . that's a little too good to be true. . . he also put tackles Mel Wetzel of Missouri and Justin Bowers of Oklahoma on his first team over their more publicized mates Ken Haas and Gil Duggan.

Bill Cunningham had the best ground gaining average on the Missouri team this year. . . the soph fullback gained a net of 409 yards in 73 tries for a 5.6 average. . . Clarence Hydron, reserve fullback, had an average of nearly 6 yards. . . he carried the ball 33 times for 194 yards. . . Paul Christman gained more yardage by running than any other back on the squad. . . 432 yards in 98 attempts for 4.3 average. . . In case you've wondered,

Gridders meet Iowa next fall

Huskers' nine-game slate includes five contests in Lincoln

Iowa university returns to Nebraska's schedule next year as Eddie Anderson's Hawkeyes come here Nov. 9 to meet the Huskers, replacing Baylor, who was signed for one year when it was impossible for the Iowa school to schedule the Huskers. Not a breather is listed on the tough 9 game slate.

The season opens on the road for the third consecutive year, Oct. 5 at Minneapolis, as the Huskers meet Minnesota. First home game is Oct. 12, when Bo McMillan's Indiana Hoosiers play here. The Kansas game is earlier than usual, coming the next Saturday at Lawrence.

NEXT YEAR'S SCHEDULE.

- Oct. 5—Nebraska at Minneapolis.
- Oct. 12—Indiana at Lincoln.
- Oct. 19—Kansas at Lawrence.
- Oct. 26—Missouri at Lincoln.
- Nov. 2—Oklahoma at Norman.
- Nov. 9—Iowa at Lincoln.
- Nov. 16—Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh.
- Nov. 23—Iowa State at Lincoln.
- Nov. 28—Kansas State at Lincoln.

Missouri plays here Oct. 26 in what should be a headliner. The Huskers travel to Norman to meet Oklahoma's Sooners Nov. 2, then come home to face Iowa Nov. 9. They travel to Pitt again next year for a game Nov. 16, but have their last two games at home, making five home games again.

Those last two games will be played in five days, the first coming Nov. 23 with Iowa State; the next Nov. 28, Thanksgiving with Kansas State. Iowa State has been one of the Huskers earlier opponents for the past few years, but the Cyclone game is next to the last for the Huskers next year.

Presnell to speak at Ravenna banquet

Glenn Presnell, Husker backfield coach will be main speaker at the banquet honoring the Ravenna high football team tomorrow night. The Ravenna team, coached by Earl Jensen, finished its season undefeated.

Christman completed 64 of 132 passes, or 48 percent of those he tried. . . they gained 803 yards, for a 12.5 average. . . Christman threw all but 13 Missouri passes. . . Nile Kinnick and Mike Enrich each played six entire games without relief for Iowa. . . Ervin Prasse turned in five complete games.

Sooner coach can't see NU five as threat

Bruce Drake, youthful Oklahoma university basketball mentor, tags Kansas and Iowa State as the teams to fight it out for the Big Six championship, this year.

The Sooner coach couldn't see a bright future for the Nebraska five because Coach Harold Browne "has been tied up so much with football that he is just now able to start work with his basketball squad."

Ralph Miller, whom some acclaim as the greatest Jayhawk basketball man in the past decade and the 13 lettermen who will be back this year were two of Drakes best reasons why he rates the Kansas boys on top.

A group of up and coming sophomores and six lettermen made the Oklahoman give Iowa the nod as the other top team in the Big Six conference this year. He looks for them to go places. Drake said, "By their own admission, they'll be bigger, faster, better balanced and more experienced this year. A real cyclone."

When asked about the prospects of his own teams season the coach remarked, "Lack of height and weight is again our biggest handicap, same as last year." The Sooners will also be missing the services of Garnett Corbin, their slick ball handler.

WAA news

Thompson will make the welcoming speech to the Husker gridders, the honor guests. The entire squad will be introduced and University club medals will be given to the graduating seniors.
