'And what are YOU sending?' --as gals go wild on corsages

"And what kind of corsage are you sending your date for the Mortar Board party, my dear?" That's the question. The answers range all the way from dog collars to bottles and vegetables.

One Theta, who declined to be named, is sending her date a cluster of tiny liquor bottles. Betty Roach, Pi Phi, is sending that onion-hater, Sig Alpha Hemphill, a bunch of the detested vegetable.

Kappa Betty Ann Kennedy made Bill Wahl a white orchid out of cotton and decorated it with red and blue ink. Alpha Chi Lillian Minor is sending her date a cactus with a note saying "Who's stuck now." Theda Chapoton is sending a funeral wreath, and Alpha Chi Jane Jordan a circle of cigarettes which can be pulled out during the evening.

Among those sending "really nice" corsages is Louise Malmberg, D. G., with a bouquet of violets for Sig Alph Bill Hinrichs. The Mortar Boards themselves will give two gardenias with streamers of their colors, black and gold.

ENTERTAINING

their dates with a dinner at the Cornhusker before the Mortar Board party will be Alpha Phi's Betty Purdham, with Alpha Sig Walter Cropper; Harriet Hede-lund, whose victim is Pi K A Carl Rapp, and Doris Halstead and Sig Ep Verne Rawalt.

Thetas dining at the University Club before the party are Mary of the week is the Gamma Phi party at the Cornhusker Friday night. Ada Rost and Betty Gibson are taking Sig Alphas Butch Wartman and Bill Frank. Marion Bradstreet will be with A. T. O. Bob Schieh, and Ruth Lavender with Steve Davis.

McLaughlin with Chick Rice, Beta; Lois Keller with Jack Cole, Sigma Nu, and Betty Jackson with Jack Clark, Kappa Sig.

Some of the Sigma Delta Tau dates to the dance are Sylvia Epstein and ZBT Leonard Friedel, Sareva Braverman and SAM Ben Novicoff, and Jeanette Polonsky and SAM Floyd Cohen.

ANOTHER FORMAL

Being married Friday at her home in Omaha is Charlotte Utt, AOPi here last year, to Paul Floyd, Oklahoma U. Jane Pratt will be maid of honor. Other AOPis going for the wedding are Nell Lippert and Lucille Stepanek.

DIFFERENT

was the candy passing Monday night of Alpha Chi Carole Brown and Acacia Butch Larson. The box of candy was in the shape of the Acacia pin, lighted up with white and red bulbs representing the pearls and rubies of the insignia.

AND THEN

there was the little sophomore girl, Charlotte Stahl, who studied all night for an Ec test and then took a "short" nap and slept thru the class!

Appearing for the first time will be Glenn Clark, junior in teachers college who will sing the baritone leads. Jack Donovan, one of the tenor soloists is from Lincoln and a sophomore in the college of arts and sciences. Donovan has received recognition for his voice in

Student groups present recitals

Music students assisted at a series of pre-Christmas programs this week, offering their services to local groups in a series of three performances.

Yesterday afternoon the Madrigal singers, accompanied by a string quartet, presented a program at Ellen Smith for the Faculty Women's club. The Madrigal singers were assisted by a male octet.

A short program was offered by the men's glee club at the dinner of the extension division Tuesday and the Madrigal singers entertained the Governor and Mrs. Cochrane at the executive mansion Sunday.

the national high school music contest. Nina Armstrong, attending the university for her first year, will be the contralto soloist.

Louise Stapleton, Martha McGee, sopranos, and Dale Gant, baritone, took leads in the last year's presentation. The other soloist, Nate Holman, was featured in the choral festival program last winter. All soloists have been chosen for the quality of their voices and ability to carry their roles. Most of them have been heard in recitals of their own, and have achieved fame and recognition in high school performances. This presentation of the Messiah is the 44th in the history of the university.

Dr. A. E. Westbrook, director of the School of Fine Arts will conduct the 400-voice choir this year. Accompaniment will be by the 70-piece orchestra, brass quartet, piano and organ.

The Messiah will be presented to an expected audience of some 3,000 Sunday afternoon in the coliseum. The performance begins at 2:30.

It was Maxim Litvinov, one-time Russian commissar of foreign affairs, who but two short years ago at Geneva urged that all the powers adopt a collective security arrangements, who castigated war as an instrument of national policy, who urged that sanctions be applied against "aggressor" nations.

"Innocent" Italy. Today, that "innocent" Italy which was victorious in the Ethiopian and Albanian conquests denounces Russia as an aggressor nation and urges that sanctions be invoked against her. Today, Russia, which so bitterly protested the English blockade of Germany, has itself blockaded the Finnish coast.

These are not peculiar nor unexpected maneuvers, rather they are in accord with human nature. We all want that which favors us, even though in our lack of wisdom we fail to comprehend that the end result may not be to our benefit. The reason for the Russian abrogations of the Litvinov proposals may be simply stated: Litvinov is no longer foreign commissar nor is he in the high-ranking councils of Stalin. Governments rise and fall on the strength of their ability to remove such men and promises.

A turkey trot party Saturday night at 7:30 is to be sponsored by the Barb Union. This is a special feature of the regular dance, and will be held in the Union ballroom.

Beginning at 8:30 will be a Sadie Hawkins' hour, when girls ask the men for dances. If a boy refuses to dance, a "sheriff" will put him in a hoosegow on the stage. Girls are subject to imprisonment, also, if they fail to dance two consecutive dances. Bob Howard will act as sheriff with deputies aiding him.

Highlight of the evening is the regular name drawing. The winning person will receive a live turkey.

New social director of the Barb Union is Bob Wilson, who succeeds Bert Richardson, whose resignation will be effective at the end of the semester.

Bian Sloan has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the Barb Union to replace George Gostas who resigned because of too many activity points.
