Eat, coke, and be merry, for tomorrow--yes, exams begin

"Eat, coke, and be merry, for tomorrow...!"

Yes, tomorrow exams start and Nebraskans start a two weeks' grind. There are a few affairs to break the grind, however, with the Alpha Chi and Delta Gamma formal this week end and Tri Delt and Kappa Sig formal the week end after.

Delta Gammas will hold their formal Saturday evening at the Hotel Cornhusker. You'll be seeing: Elizabeth Elias with Sig Ep Jack Burns, Gay Gimple with ATO Jack Ellsworth, Janet Lau with Sig Alpha Heinie Roth, Pat Reitz with ATO Evelle Younger, and Betty Reese with Sigma Nu Jack Lee.

Three dinners are planned by Delta Gammas before the formal, two at the Cornhusker and one at the University Club.

TRI DELTS

will hold their formal at the Hotel Cornhusker Saturday, Feb. 3. Some of the dates are: Ann Crouse and Delt Ed Dosek, Mary Martin Tunks and Jack Arthur, Ethel Beeson and Phi Gam Kenny Ellis, Frances Breed and Phi Psi Tom Dredla, and Olive Spieth and Phi Rho Dick Ryan.

The Kappa Sigma annual alumni banquet will be held Saturday, Feb. 3 at the Hotel Cornhusker. Walter Burns of Omaha will be toastmaster. Speaking for the alums will be Vern Hedge of Lincoln; for the actives, Yale Wiegardt; and for the pledges, Mat Minor. 150 are expected to attend.

CLOSED CORPORATION

is the one formed by Alpha Chis Nancy Mauk, Betty Green and Pat Griswold. They have pledged their boy friends and have pinned pledge ribbons on them. The boy friends have retaliated with "Just wait until we pin something on you!"

Gamma Phi pledges entertained the actives Saturday night with a fireside supper. The party honored especially Maxine Wertman, who will fly to Los Angeles to enter technician's training at the Los Angeles County hospital, largest in the United States.

Phi Gam field secretary Calvin Stoddard who has been visiting the local chapter will leave today.

ENGAGEMENT

of Norris Flodine to Jean Miller was revealed today when the two were questioned by suspicious friends.

(Continued from Page 1.) me and have made good in other archaeological fields, it has hampered me financially and has taken up time which might have been devoted to travel.

2. I have been offered for next semester, an opportunity which will permit me to do the research and work necessary to complete a book upon which I have been working for some time.

Petitions over campus. Students last week began organizing the petition drive. Petitions have been circulated on the campus and in organized houses since Monday evening.

The petitions, addressed to the chancellor and the regents read,

Union will be 'port in a storm' during exam week

Students may relax at the Union any time during exam week, for the building will be open during regular hours for the convenience of students, according to an announcement made yesterday by Pat Lahr, Union social director.

During the exam period a matinee dance will be held on Wednesday afternoon, and the faculty lounge will be open to students wishing to hear request programs of music from the Carnegie set every day at 5 p. m. Students may request the numbers to be played at the time of each program.

Union--

(Continued from Page 1.) have been in existence only a short time. An equally large proportion of those questioned were satisfied with the food department of the Union. Almost all of the students received Union publicity in one form or another.

Future policy. Third part of the survey dealt with student preference as to future policy of the Union. Here students suggested 14 hobby groups or activities which had never been offered by the Union. New activity suggested more than any other was a photography or camera club. The board commissioned Art Hendricks to look into possibilities of installing a darkroom in the Union.

In connection with the third part of the survey the board issued a statement to the effect that much of the future program of the Union will be based on the preferences of the students as indicated by this survey and any others which might be made in the future.

Next part of the survey dealt with the service departments of the Union. While most of the students approved the efficiency of the present setup criticisms were many in regard to the cloakroom service. Union officials reported, however, that experience had shown the present method was the most efficient.

The last section of the questionnaire was devoted to the students of the ag college. As a group they felt that they could not attend the Union as much as they would like to because of the cost of transportation and because of the time involved in a trip to the city campus.

General comments by students for and against the Union revealed that while many believe the Union is the best investment the university could have made. Others think it too small, and one student terms it a marriage mart.

"We, the undersigned students of the University of Nebraska do respectfully request that the authorities of this university take action to prevent Dr. H. E. Bell from severing his connections with the university, as we have heard he plans to do. We have learned to know and value Dr. Bell as a teacher and a friend and believe that men of his calibre are too rare to permit the University of Nebraska to lose one of them without making a special effort to retain him.

Students evidently plan to present the petitions to the board of regents at the same time they consider Bell's request for leave.

Bell, DAILY prof of the week last Sunday, will be listed in America's "Who's Who" this year.

Firms interview senior graduates

Within the next few weeks, representatives of Nebraska and out-of-state firms will be here to meet and interview seniors who plan to enter sales, merchandising, credit, or accounting work.

All seniors who are interested in meeting these representatives should watch the bulletin board outside of S. S. 306. According to Prof. T. T. Bullock, professor of economics and business law, the demand for college trained men seems to be greater this year.

J. C. Penney officials and Burroughs Adding Machine company officials will be here the last of January. Airway company officials and many merchandising, financial, and manufacturing firms have made tentative arrangements to visit the university in February. A number of them will have opportunities to offer college trained women.
