Three fancy parties leave campus heads 'all in a whirl'

Our head still in a whirl over the three very fancy parties this week-end . . . Phi Psi prexy Bob Miller with D. G. Betty Rathburn, a brand new combination . . . Bob Chatt, Fiji, importing a date from Duchesne . . . Pi Phi Janet Haggart taking in two formals with Phi Psi twin Bert Smith . . . KKG Lou Benson sporting a mighty svelt new green dinner dress . . . both Fiji's and Phi Psi's giving crested necklaces at their dinner dances . . . Sigma Nu Dick Ryan and Alpha Chi Dorothy Winn doing Friday night's parties together . . . Johnny Cox playing "Happy Birthday" for Shirley Hoffmann at the Phi Psi formal . . . and Theta Sidney Ann Gardner in one of the best looking formal sweaters we've seen this season.

SOLVED

The mystery of Phi Gam Bill Hines. Three years ago the Fiji's sent over an item for this column on the pledging of Bill Hines. At intervals since then, we've received little notes telling of Bill Hines' activities. Last fall, the society editor printed something about "Phi Gam socialite Bill Hines flying to the Pittsburgh game." Yesterday the Fiji's informed us that Bill Hines had imported a Kappa from Northwestern for his formal. The rub is this. There is no Bill Hines. There never has been. It's all just a mighty clever publicity stunt that an ingenious fraternity has been able to put over on the Daily for three years. The game is up, boys.

Follies--

Jean Holtz, Alpha Chi Omega. Lucille Stepanek, Alpha Omicron Pi; Mary Ellen Cummerford, Chi Omega; Lois Keller, Kappa Alpha Theta; Betty Cox, Barb AWS; Miriam Rubnitz, Sigma Delta Tau; Jo Robeck, Kappa Delta; Holly Shurtleff, Alpha Phi; Alice Marion Holmes, Raymond Hall; Ople Hedlund, Alice Lideen, Ag AWS.

Preliminary judging of the skits will take place Feb. 21 and 22. Five full-length skits and four curtain acts will be selected for the Follies.

Groups which have entered the skit competition are: Delta Gamma, Phi Mu, Sigma Kappa, Pi Beta Phi, Delta Delta Delta; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Omicron Pi, Chi Omega, Kappa Alpha Theta, Barb AWS, Sigma Delta Tau, Kappa Delta, Alpha Phi, Raymond Hall, Howard Hall, Wilson Hall, Ag AWS, and Towne Club.

The best-dressed girl candidates will be judged during the next two months by their appearance on the campus, and at weekend affairs. At various times they will appear before the AWS board, each time in a different costume, so that some of the candidates may be eliminated from competition before the last week.

Another feature of the Follies will be the annual style show with coeds as models. Each house entering competition has entered two girls as models.

Jean Simmons is chairman of the Follies. Mary Steuteville is in charge of the best-dressed girl competition, and Janet Harris in charge of skits.

for one evening. The girls, being sorority sisters—Jo Ley and Margaret Hoppert—compared notes. Sid was really behind the eight ball, so he just forgot all his troubles and went out with some of the boys. Last night the very same thing happened, but this time Sid, feeling especially gallant managed to call for one of his two dates.

TONIGHT

You'll probably be picking up the threads of the weekend's gaiety and taking in one of the many buffet suppers. There will be Jean Carnahan with Dick Hiatt, Phi Delt, Betty Flory and Al Porter, Kappa Sig, Zoe Wilson and Jack Spitzer, Delt, at the Chi O house.

Snow drifts keep students from eight o'clocks

. . . too bad

Snow drifts have made it a bit difficult for some students to make those eight o'clocks. Ruth Myers came straggling in Ed. 63 class ten minutes late Friday morning; after having been pushed out of about three drifts. Charles Huenfeld and Everett Collins came to her rescue, or it might have been worse.

Do you suppose we would all have as good luck as Margaret Orht and Beryl Weaver if we would follow their example and do a little hitch-hiking? Their catchers were Sigma Nu's.

Along with some of the old combinations such as Farm House Harry Uhrenholdt and Helen Thomas, Ida Mae Schaefflock and "Chris" Christensen, AGR Bill Kiester and Irene Jensen, new ones are coming to the front. Others to be watched are Farm House Ray Heller and Hollyce Copple, and AGR Charles Lindgren and Ruth Myers.

A new couple for the Phi U party is AGR Creighton Kral and Margaret Orht.

Two fires seem to be engulfing Maxine Hacker. Could it be, Maxine, that you're giving up Don Roth for this Van Neste fellow? It wasn't the "new moon" you were after—or was it?

Diamond rings seem to be making their appearances a bit early—'cause spring really isn't here. Anyway Bob Woods passed the candy the other night and Bernice West is wearing the diamond. And Elizabeth Williams got a diamond through the mail the other day from a fellow somewhere in Iowa.

Evidently there's a little conflict between Art Moseman's dates for the Phi U. Will there be hair pulling between Barbara Kouske and Loretta Pfeiffer? They say the best man wins, girls!

Someone at the A. G. R. house must have tired of their cheap perfume. Anyway Ed Rousek was rightfully surprised when he found his tux highly scented with the stuff.

There was a full moon last Thursday, but Edgar Van Boening, A. G. R., waited until Friday night to persuade Eva Peacock that she should wear his pin.

Alpha Gamma Rho announces the pledging of Max Laughlin and Dean Waldo.

Lyle Roberts, Farm House, seems to be keeping Carol Briggs busy these days since Tom King is in western Nebraska. It is rumored that the radio which Lyle's sister gave him for Christmas now sits on Carol's desk.

YWCA service staff helps crippled, under privileged by Jean Carnahan.

Working with under privileged and crippled children in the city has provided an outlet for the latent energies of the girls of the campus interested in social work and in the YWCA. The social service staff has as its chief duties the help with the occupational therapy work at the Orthopedic hospital and the activities of the children at the South West Community center.

Under the direction of Miss

Ruth Wilds at the community center the staff helps organize the recreation periods of the children from kindergarten to junior high school. For the most part they have active group games but there is some hand work and story reading. The older boys and girls receive training in social dancing. The girls go out on Tuesday and at various other hours during the week.

Varied work.

The type of work at the hospital is of an entirely varied nature because the children vary in their muscular abilities. Some can move only their legs and some only their arms or hands. The occupational therapy work is designed to exercise these muscles that have been in disuse for a long time and to keep the others from becoming too strained or used in the wrong way.

This is not group work but is done by pairs with one child at a time. The girls are assigned to the same ward each time so that they become accustomed to working with the same types of patients.

As the holidays roll around the children make appropriate articles and decorations. At the present time valentines occupy their time and it is things like this, cutting, pasting, and drawing, that they can do most easily. Raffia work occupies some of their time and they also enjoy stories. The patients who come under the care of the staff are all very small children. The group works under the direction of Miss Rosalie Breuer, head of the department.

The staff is not entirely made up of social work majors but also of other girls who are interested in camp leadership. The staff was added to the University YWCA just a year ago, and during this last semester has been directed by Mary Ellen Osborn.

Calling all cars--

Go to Beta house; stop snow battle--proceed with caution

Flash! News from the front! An undetermined number of Betas were wiped out Sunday in a combined snowball attack on their north wall by the entire Sig Alph, Sigma Nu, and Sig Ep armies.

(Anyway, that's what the above-named fraternity men will tell you. Military censorship must be taken into consideration.)

ATO and Phi Gam armies routed the invaders after a furious battle on the frozen slopes of R street while hundreds—well, anyway the contents of the Corn Crib—spectators gazed on the scene.

The police force of Lincoln put up a powerful fight but finally retreated.

Stories vary as to how it began but it is generally agreed that the Sig Alphas, Sigma Nus, and Sig Eps stormed the Betas who expressed their pacifistic policy due largely to the fact that very few Betas were home to defend the site.

Thereupon the triple entente rushed the A. T. O's and Phi Gams who—mostly ATO's—returned a fierce barrage of snowballs.

Thereupon a Lincoln police officer, an unnamed hero, drove by. His advice that the battle cease was answered with a volley of shots. Bravely the officer went into the ATO house, called his comrades, two of whom rushed to his rescue.

The law restricted itself mostly to the "Aw, lissen, fellows" technique but the sight of uniforms was evidently enough to dampen war ardor.

A news photographer arrived and the ATO's obliged by forming themselves into a bloc that looked like the Russian army. The cops left, being careful not to turn their backs.

Finally peace descended on R street. Only a huge pile of broken snowballs—mute evidence of a hasty retreat—told of the pitiful plight of the triple entente.

Military authorities said war might break out again at any moment.
