

Mary Anna says . . . The weather yesterday was drizzly--a drip going steady

Yesterday's weather reminding us of the old query, "What is a drizzle," and the answer, "A drip going steady." . . . Mary Virginia Knowles, hurrying into Andrews . . . Johnny Weingarten and Betty Jo Koehler dueting "Why Don't We Get Along?" . . . A cold chatting with Miss Alice Burrows, one of the editors of Vogue. . . Kaye Hunting and Bruce Grube now going steady. . . AGR John Schick minus a frat pin. Virginia Sack, Alpha Xi, is wearing it. . . DU Wally Munson in the same dither over a Midland college gal. . . Sigma Nu Nate Holman's new nickname, "Rosy." Try calling him that some time.

A SEQUEL

to the Johnny Upson-Jessica Muttiff. Jessica, who is back at Mount Holyoke got together one evening with John Good, Lincoln Phi Delt at Amherst, and Bill Cochrane, erstwhile Nebraska Beta, now at Amherst. The three of them sat around the Beta house there singing "There Is No Place Like Nebraska." How true!

LADY KILLER

Bob Green, pledge at the DU house, has been fluffed off by so many Nebraska gals that the brothers have tagged him "Fluffo." His current passion is Alpha Chi Finny Green but before that he got into some difficulty at the Theta house by slinging the same line to two of the girls until they happened to compare notes. Fluffo goes with a Kansas City queen and during Christmas vacation he doubled-dated with DU prexy Tom Brown. Since then he hasn't heard from the girl. Yesterday Tom got a letter from her.

Five classes this year.

There will be five classes again this year, Smiley said. Sheep, beef cattle, dairy cattle, hogs and horses will constitute the divisions, and entrants may have a preference as to which animal they want to show.

More than 120 entrants took part last year, with Ray Crawford, now a sophomore, winning the grand prize. This was one of the largest number of entrants in the show's history, and a record-breaking audience of 500 watched the competition.

Previous care scored.

Stressing the conditions of the show, he explained the amount of fitting and care given the animal before the date of the show will be scored, and considered along with the contestant's ability in the showing the night that prizes are awarded. Premiums will be given winners in each class and the winners will compete for the grand championship.

Special events will be interspersed with the regular classes to fill out the evening program, and the climax will be the presentation of the cup to the grand champion showman.

have growing opportunity in the fields of fashion design and fashion recording, according to Miss Boroughs. She listed children's fashions as a field in which there was room for wide expansion. Fashion merchandising, in the field of department store advertising and buying was listed as another field.

Simple approach.

Important in being a success at any fashion job is making the simplest approach to the subject, said the fashion expert.

Barbs establish small loan fund

To assist barb students who need and want to secure small, short time loans with a minimum of red tape, the barb council voted to set aside a definite sum of their 1940-41 budget for this purpose at their meeting last night.

According to the president, Erle Constable, the money will not be available for students until next September. The sum to be set aside has not been decided.

SHE: (timidly) "Darling, there's something I want to say to you—you'll think I'm awful!"

HE: (apprehensively) "No I won't, go ahead." (to himself . . . "Gosh . . . it's Leap Year, too!")

SHE: (still timidly) "But it's such a . . . such a very personal thing to say to someone!"

HE: (to himself . . . "Gosh that's it . . . she's going to pop the question.") To her . . . "What is it?"

SHE: "If you don't get an entry blank and try to be a B. D. O. C., why I won't ask you to marry me!"

HE: "I'll do it tomorrow."
