

Coates talks to NU women tomorrow

Gibbs school placement secretary to interview coeds in Ellen Smith

Dorothy Coates, placement secretary of the Katherine Gibbs secretarial school of Boston will be the second speaker in the present vocational guidance series of talks sponsored by the office of the dean of women and the AWS board. She will speak tomorrow in Ellen Smith on the value of secretarial training in advertising, education, finance, the professions, merchandising, publishing, research and the arts.

Miss Coates has already visited Holland College in Virginia, the University of Kentucky, University of Louisville, Stephens College, University of Mississippi and Washburn College. At all of these schools she has spoken on vocational subjects.

No opening wedge.

"Secretarial work is not just an opening wedge for girls entered in the college of Business Administration, but it is also good training for mathematics majors because it might give them an opening in advertising and publishing. In addition secretarial training can help history and economics students to get into legal work and science majors to secure positions as assistants and technicians," Miss Coates told Miss Helen Hosp when she met her in St. Louis last week.

Miss Coates will hold individual conferences from 2 to 4 p. m. Thursday in Ellen Smith. Girls are urged to sign up for these conferences.

'Advocates' Hear Justice Simmons

Chief Justice Robert G. Simmons of the State Supreme court addressed the "Young Advocates," newly formed pre-law society at their second meeting last night.

Outlining court procedure and offering hints helpful to the young lawyer in planning his curricula, Simmons suggested that the Advocates "get law in their system" by attending the sessions of the various state and district courts.

Law seniors have invited 18 members of the pre-law society to serve on a jury panel for the next law school court session March 15 and 16.

Art honorary plans to honor Grant Wood after Sunday lecture

Delta Phi Delta, art fraternity, is sponsoring a coffee hour in honor of Grant Wood following Wood's lecture in the Union ballroom Sunday. Besides members of the fraternity, invitations are being issued to members of the faculty of the Fine Arts department, members of the Board of Trustees and Nebraska Art Association, and several other members of the faculty.

Hosp speaks to YMCA on 'Dating Dos, Don'ts'

"Dating Dos and Don'ts" will be the subject of a talk to be given by Miss Helen Hosp, dean of women, who will speak at the YMCA meeting at 7 p. m. tonight in the temple.

This meeting is open to all University men who are interested in this subject. There will be an opportunity for individuals to ask questions which will be answered by Miss Hosp.

Phil Berns is the meeting chairman.

Chicago alumni start loan fund with $100 gift

Gift of $100 from the Chicago Alumni club of the University for student loan purposes was announced Monday by Elsworth F. Du Teau, alumni secretary. This fund will be added to from year to year, according to plans announced at the recent Charter Day program of the group.

Establishment of the loan fund was arranged by Orr Goodson x-26, president of the club, and Jean Cobbe x-11, chairman of the project committee.

First club to respond.

In contributing $100 for student loan purposes, the Chicago club becomes the first of Nebraska alumni clubs over the country to respond to the printed suggestions sent out by the University Foundation more than a month ago.

Du Teau announced that a foundation committee will be appointed to administer such funds. He expressed the hope that other alumni clubs will follow the example of Chicago in selecting projects such as fellowships, scholarships and gifts to become part of their University program.

Nebraska well-drillers to meet here

Convention this week to offer short course taught by faculty

Nebraska well-drillers who will meet here tomorrow and Friday of this week will have a fully-staffed short course for their annual convention.

Courses on test-drilling methods, pumping operations and costs, the status of Nebraska groundwater, the elements of a water investigation program, and "seeing the invisible in water" have been arranged for the drillers, and will be taught by faculty members.

E. C. Reed, conservation and survey division, who is secretary of the association, expects a new attendance record to be established. There is every indication, according to Dr. Reed, that more than 100 men will attend.

Chancellor Boucher and Governor Cochran will be guests at a dinner Thursday evening in the Lincoln hotel. Other features listed on the program for the men are an inspection of the museum and the state water survey test-drilling equipment, and a display of drilling equipment and methods by jobbers and manufacturers.

Nebraska debater . . .

Use expansion, nationalist arguments against Wesleyan

Nebraska affirmative and negative debate teams met Wesleyan debaters yesterday afternoon in debates on the question "Resolved, that the United States should maintain a strict policy of economic and political isolation."

Otto Woerner and Howard Besire, affirmative debaters for Nebraska, discussed the causes of war from the time of Babylon to the present time, presenting the desire for expansion, for new markets, and nationalistic feeling of the people. They suggested two remedies for war in the world of today, either a strict policy of self-sufficiency by this nation and other nations, or a cosmopolitan world without nationalistic feeling.

"Cosmopolitan world impossible." The Nebraska men pointed out that a cosmopolitan world was impossible because of the driving

Union plans interfrat quiz tourney

Each sorority, fraternity to enter 3-man team; compete for $15 prize

Plans for an interfraternity quiz to be held in March are now being completed by the Union. Each fraternity and sorority may enter one three man team, and these teams must be entered before March 3 at the Union. The grand prize will be $15 and a cup to the winning house, with three prizes of $5 each to be awarded to the runner-up houses.

The quiz has been organized because of the immense popularity of the radio quiz programs and in an effort to bring fraternities and sororities together in a new type of competition. Questions for the quiz are divided into seven categories. The contestants will be tested on general information, campus information, biography, music, literature, quotations, and thought questions. Any student may submit questions to the Union by March 10, and for each question used, the contributor will receive $1.

Preliminaries for the quiz will be run off on week-day afternoons and the finals will be the main feature of a Sunday afternoon show. At each quiz, there will be time-keepers and judges whose decisions will be final. Seven different questions will be asked of each team and each man will be given one minute to answer a question. Preliminaries and semifinals will involve about five teams at a time, and four teams will participate in the final.

Grads offered scholarships

One student to be picked from each state school

Presidents of Nebraska colleges this week were asked to nominate two or more candidates for tuition scholarships in the graduate college. A scholarship is awarded to one student chosen from the upper ten percent of the graduating class of each college.

Candidates will be selected by a committee of the Graduate Faculty. In case a college does not nominate a candidate, the scholarship thus released is offered to another student.

Nominations must be sent to Dean Stoke of the graduate college by April 15 with the student's record up to the last semester.

forces of nationalism and self-sufficiency, and said that this force was what pushed Hitler and Mussolini to the fore. They deduced that the only possible solution was self-sufficiency with all the depression and lowered standard of living that would result.

In opposition to these arguments the Wesleyan team, Virginia Crawford and Vera Harvey, upheld the principle of comparative costs, and expounded the advantages to all concerned of imports and exports. They spoke of the drastic realignment of international economy which would be necessary, and said that cash and carry plans are preferable to isolation which disrupts world trade and increases international friction.

Others debate.

In the other debate yesterday, (See DEBATE on page 4.)

Students back Prom change in record vote

Daily sponsored Committee revision plan wins majority support as 1,243 voters go to polls

ARTIST GRANT WOOD.

He paints word pictures for students Sunday.

Artist Wood billed for Union lecture

Iowa painter speaks on 'Regional Art' Sunday in Union

Grant Wood, Iowa artist and prominent figure in contemporary American art, will lecture on "Regional Art," in the Union ballroom Sunday afternoon. Altho Wood is in California at the present time, he will be brought to Nebraska by the convocation committee headed by Prof. Karl Arndt. The lecture will be free to everyone.

Wood is a brilliant painter of the mid-western scene and of the simple life of the rural sections of America. An Iowa resident he paints the scenes and the people that he sees about him. His manner of painting is new and individualized, characterized mostly (See ARTIST on page 4.)

Klub continues tryouts tonight

Second tryouts for Kosmet Klub's "Ski Stealers" will take place in Temple auditorium at 7:30 this evening. Those seeking parts in the 17 member cast will try out in specific parts and will be judged by Armand Hunter, director of the show, and members of the club.

Persons unable to attend last night's tryouts still have plenty of opportunity to get parts, Bob Leadley, author and ex officio producers explained. The completed cast will be announced later in the week.

Journalism honorary gives smoker Friday

Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism fraternity will hold a smoker Friday, March 1 in Parlors X and Y of the Union from 7:30 to 9:00 p. m. Robert Latsch, state editor of the Omaha World-Herald has been asked to speak.

Journalism students will have an opportunity to meet practicing newsmen and become acquainted with the aims of the fraternity.

Weather

The forecast for Lincoln today is partly cloudy and warmer. If clouds materialize, light rain or possible snow flurries.

In one of the largest Prom Girl elections ever held, a majority of students yesterday signified their desire to have the Prom Committee elected by the student body as a whole, rather than by the Student Council.

Voting "yes" were 705 students on the question "Do you favor direct election of the Prom Committee by the student body as a whole." "No" votes totaled 538. 109 "yes" votes and 84 "no" votes were from ag college.

Large Prom Girl vote.

Prom Girl vote was the largest years with 1,243 students marking their choice for coed to reign over the annual Junior-Senior dance. Candidates for Prom Girl were Yvonne Costello, Chi Omega; Ruth Yourd, Alpha Omicron Pi; Laura Ellen Finney, Towne Club; and Dorothy Swisher, Kappa Alpha Theta.

The DAILY-supported measure for direct election of the Prom Committee will probably be put on the Student Council agenda for legislation soon.

Joe Venuti and his orchestra will play for the annual dance which closes the formal season next Saturday night in the coliseum at which the winning candidate for Prom Girl will be revealed. Tickets for the dance are on sale at Uni Drug, Danielson's Magees, and in the Union at $1.50 a couple. Corn-cobs are handling campus ticket sales.

Profs take part in crime confab

Three members of the university faculty took an active part in the second annual meetings of the Nebraska council for crime prevention held yesterday in Omaha.

Dr. Frank Z. Glick, director of the graduate school of Social Work, and Lloyd Martin of Law college were elected to the organization's board of directors.

Professor Lester B. Orfield, also of the law faculty, was acting chairman of the committee on probation and parole of the council. He will spend part of the summer making a study of probation and parole in Nebraska with a view to making suggestions for new legislation. Professor Orfield was the principal speaker at the first annual meeting of the group in Lincoln last year.

Druggists give research grant

A $100 grant for the investigation of medicine, which may prove useful in the treatment of heart disease, has been given the department of physiology and pharmacology of the university pharmacy college.

The fund has been provided by George A. Breon & Co., Inc., Kansas City, manufacturing pharmaceutical chemists. The adequacy of university equipment, and previous work in this field of research were among the reasons for awarding the study to Nebraska, said Dean R. A. Lyman.

Dr. Harold G. O. Holck, university pharmacologist, will be in charge of the new research project, which will get under way within a month. Dr. Holck has been experimenting with various cardiac tonics for several years. His most recent study has involved testing the strength of various solutions of digitalis on the heart.