

By June Bierbower.

Noting that Tuesday's little story about the "B" team's Friday night was unceremoniously lopped off just as it was under way, we'll tell you the rest of it.

Remember, the team had just been delayed in starting, having waited an extra half hour—until 4:15 Friday afternoon, to start for Tarkio and the basketball game there. Then they received the special delivery letter which said the game would be played at 7:30 instead of eight because there was another game to be played afterward. To go on from there:

They started out from Lincoln, and made it over the slippery roads to Auburn, which is across the Missouri river from Tarkio. However, there they learned the bottom had fallen out of a river bed road they were to take out of Auburn. There was nothing else to do except travel back north a frigid forty miles to Nebraska City and cross the river there.

Coach Chill Armstrong called Tarkio officials, and told them about the team's plight, so the other game started at 7:30. It was 8:15 when the Huskers finally rolled into town, and when they did play, they lost to a slick Tarkio team 60-34.

Then came the trip back. They started out immediately after the game in weather which felt about as cold as there has been all winter. The faithful band made it to Lincoln safe and sound, but it was four o'clock Saturday morning when they did get here.

Ralph Miller was cooled off a little Monday night. . . he got one point less against Iowa State than against the Huskers. . . all of which makes 39 points in his last two games. . . the KU junior now has 102 points in 8 games, and Jimmy McNatt, whom everyone thought had scoring honors sewed up, has 104. . . high scoring sophomores were Sid Held and Jack Horacek of K-State. . . they both finished with 68 apiece in ten games.

One of the men to watch here when Oklahoma's track team comes is Bill Lyda, sophomore. . . Lyda does everything in the way of running from the sprints to the two-mile, and is good in every event. . . he was state champion in the 220, 440 and 880 two years ago in Oklahoma. . . then Orville Matthews, who played some football here last November, will be running. . . he still holds the 100 and 220 records in Soonerland high school competition. . . and if we're not mistaken he turned in a century mark of 9.6 seconds. . . he'll run the 60, and maybe the low hurdles here.

Ed Hruby, who did some sprinting at Grand Island high two or three years back, is a sophomore prospect at Iowa State. . . Roy Cochran, Bob Simmons' old Indiana hurdle rival, is no slouch in the 440. . . all Mr. Cochran did Monday was run the quarter in :48.3 against Notre Dame. . . that cut six-tenths of a second off Ray Ellenwood's world's indoor record. . . For comparative purposes, Bob Simmons' latest exhibition mark is :49.1. . . a race with both Simmons and Cochran entered should be some affair.

Simmons out to crack 49 seconds

Strong Oklahoma team threatens Cornhusker indoor track crew

Bob Simmons, Husker quarter mile ace, will be seen in another 440 exhibition Saturday night as the Oklahoma track meet here, as he attempts to break 49 seconds in that event. Simmons ran the quarter in :49.5 two weeks ago, and clipped off four-tenths of a second from that mark last week. Don Morris, freshman from Scottsbluff will again pace him.

Husker coach Ed Weir fears the Oklahoma team, which has four first place winners back from the team which beat the Huskers 54 to 50 here last year, in addition to a freshman crew which beat a star studded Husker frosh team in last year's postal meet.

Bill Lyda had a 1:58.9 mark in the half mile last year which was better than that of Harold Brooks, while Orv Matthews' 9.7 seconds in the century was better than Gene Littler could do.

Oral Hairston had a better time than Bill Smutz in the outdoor lows and tied him in the highs, while Flippe did 5-11 to win the high jump in that meet. Dick Smethers, also a frosh then, did a 10:18.2 two-mile.

Saturday's meet will be the first and only one for the Sooners before the Big Six championships at Kansas City next week end. However, Ray Gahan, half miler and miler; Harry Fender, vaulter; Jack Morris, high hurdler, and low hurdler Jones, who won firsts last year, are back.

Morris, who is conference indoor hurdles champion, has influenza and may not make the trip. Coach John Jacobs is in the hospital as the result of an appendectomy, and cannot make the trip, while Smethers, the distance man, also has the flu.

Edsel Wibbels did 49-3/4 in shot put practice this week, and the big junior should come thru with a victory in the weight event this week end.

ATO's win League one over Delts

Alpha Tau Omega beat Delta Tau Delta in a tight game, 7-6 last night as the ATO's became the second "A" team to clinch a championship. The win gave them the pennant in League 2, as Roy Petsch, who has paced the team all season, scored four points.

Other games in that league are the Phi Sigma Kappa-Beta Sig tilt, and the Acacia-Zeta Beta Tau game.

League 4 also finishes, as the Betas, present league leaders, face the Sigma Nu's. The Beta's, victorious over the Sig Eps Tuesday night, are favored to win. The Sig Eps, who have lost but one game, play the strong Phi Gam team.

Alpha Gamma Rho has already won the League 1 championship, while Farm House and Phi Delta Theta will settle the title in League 3 by a playoff game. Semi-final and final championship games will be next week.

Reichart states Americans eating more cheese

Can it be the cheese? Whatever the reason, Americans are consuming almost one-and-one-half pounds more cheese per person, according to Prof. E. L. Reichart of the University dairy husbandry department. In recent years the consumption per person has been about four pounds a year, but it has increased to almost five and one-half pounds.

The variety most generally available in Nebraska is probably cottage cheese. It may be served frequently, and to prevent a monotonous appearance chives, nuts, chopped onion, pineapple, pimento, or celery may be added. Such additions will vary the flavors as well as the appearance.

Since Saint Patrick's day is so near, a suggestion for your special Saint Patrick's day dinner might be some cottage cheese in some lime jello shaped in rings or individual molds, whichever you would prefer. Garnish the molds with lettuce and dressing and the finished product will enhance the

Weed control men reach agreement

A conference of plant research and weed control men from 15 states and the federal government ended late yesterday on the campus with attendants in substantial agreement on the best means of eradicating noxious weeds.

Several potentially serious weeds were discussed, but the chief emphasis was on bindweed. Weed eradication was discussed both from the standpoint of state control programs and from the standpoint of research problems involved.

Those attending the sessions included S. C. Salmon and L. W. Kephart from the U. S. D. A., the heads of agronomy departments from several state colleges and universities, weed control supervisors from several state departments of agriculture, and state and federal research workers devoting most of their time to weed problems.

Five schools in conference swim meet

AMES, Iowa, Feb. 27.—Five of the schools of the Big Six conference have signified that they will enter teams in the Big Six meet at the varsity pool, Iowa State College Friday and Saturday.

This year's meet will have one of the fastest fields in its 12 year history. To date all but one record has been bettered in dual competition. Only the 200 yard breast stroke mark, held by George Haldeman of Iowa State, has not been bettered.

Iowa State is the defending champion, having won the meet for the past 2 years. All told the Cyclones have won the crown undisputedly six times and tied with Nebraska twice in the 11 previous meets.

Worden defends title.

Returning champions are Ralph Worden, Nebraska, diving; Capt. Eugene Armstrong, Iowa State, 150 yard back stroke; Roger Adams, Iowa State, 50 and 100 yard free styles.

Already Adams has bettered the present conference marks in both 100 and 60 yard free styles. Against Texas A. & M. he swam the 60 in :29.5 and the 100 in :54.1, which bettered the present Big Six record by .1 second.

The Iowa State relay teams have bettered the marks in both the 300 yard medley and the 400 Cyclones will have to swim at their best to beat the Kansas State 400 yard relay team. The Kansans have an all-sophomore team that has bettered the present mark in almost every meet this year.

Gym squad faces Buffs this evening

Gymnasts to meet Greeley State Friday; to enter AAU compet

Nebraska's gym team meets Colorado U. tonight at Boulder in the first of three week end meets. The Huskers will face Greeley Teachers Friday night and compete in the Rocky Mountain A. A. U. championships at Greeley Saturday night.

Seven Huskers left yesterday for the western tour by car along with Coach Charley Miller. Guy Johnson, Gay Cadwell, Roy Profit, Jake Geier, Ray Griffin, Abe Grossman and Stan Southwick are those making the trip. Harold Buxton, the eighth man on the team, is ineligible.

Better showing expected.

Coach Miller expects the Huskers to flash better form than they did in the Northwest championships at Minneapolis last week. He stated that the boys were "scared to death" when they walked onto the floor at Minnesota.

The Minnesota Gophers' powerful squad, which beat the Huskers 506-405 in a dual Saturday night, also won the Northwest meet. Only Huskers to place against the Gophers were Grossman and Southwick. Late Friday night the Huskers participated with Carleton college in an exhibition at Northfield.

Seemann at school after knee operation

George Seeman, Husker end and wrestler, is back on the campus after a layoff of nearly two weeks because of an operation he underwent in Omaha to remedy a knee injury. The Husker griddler is walking with a cane after being hospitalized.
