Big Six indoor hangovers: The Nebraska contingent was none too happy after the morning qualifying rounds were over... the Huskers placed only seven men to Missouri's nine... then the shot put was run off entirely, and Elmer Hackney finally came thru with a good performance to beat Ed Wibbels, who in the light of Hackney's previous marks, was a little favored to win. Hack's winning toss was no streak of luck, for the Oberlin big boy was getting good distance all his efforts.

The shot was completed in the morning because of the danger to officials, spectators and competitors which would have been present at night... not that there wasn't any danger in the morning... one unidentified putter—we think it was Hackney, let go with a wild heave which sailed over on the straightaway... it missed Marion Miller, an A.A.U. official by the barest of margins... in fact, if he hadn't ducked it wouldn't have missed him... Marshall Reeves, Missouri junior and defending title holder in the 880 from last year, just about didn't qualify... the Tiger, who set the new record of 1:56.9, took it easy in a morning qualifying heat... then when he started to put on the speed he was boxed coming around the last curve, and got in third by the skin of his teeth... after that race he avowed he'd get out in front and stay there that night... he did, too, as he took the lead and held it all the way... incidentally, Harold Brooks, who was second, ran the distance in the fastest time a Nebraska half-miler has ever done, 1:57.7.

Kansas and Kansas State were helping the Huskers along in great shape late in the meet as they took points from Missouri in events where the Tigers were strong and the Huskers weren't to keep Mizzou from taking up all the slack Nebraska had... Thaine High beat John Munki in the 2-mile, and then Merle Cunningham, Iowa State soph came up with a great run to finish ahead of Lonesome John, too... Munki had but 25 minutes rest from the mile to the 2-mile... In the broad jump, J. R. Jones, K. U. sophomore led at the end of the preliminaries, and Sol Schumitzky, Missouri's star, couldn't beat him in the finals... The Kansans and Kansas Staters weren't averse to cutting Mizzou out of all the points they could... they got quite a kick out of helping the Huskers out...

Missouri just about had to set a new relay record if they wanted to beat the Huskers. The relay was run in heats, and first Oklahoma, then Iowa State broke the old records... it was Tiger against Husker in that last relay event, and some 3 or 4,000 people were on their feet... Missouri would have won the meet by a small fraction had their time been second best, and had the Huskers finished out of the money... however, the Tigers needed to beat the Huskers in that final heat for any consideration at all, for if they'd have won the race in slower time than Oklahoma and Mizzou, the Huskers would still have won the meet... However, the Tigers couldn't come thru in the relay... the first two Mizzou runners got quite an edge on the Huskers, but Warren Radtke, running third, took up the slack in a great race, and then Red Littler, who really had them gaping, spurted out in front of Reeves, running last for Missouri and stayed there.

Farm House plays ATO's for cage title

Class 'A' champion to be decided tonight on coliseum floor

Alpha Tau Omega faces Farm House tonight in the Class A basketball championship tilt in the coliseum at 8 o'clock.

Both teams won their leagues, the ATO's winning League 2, and Farm House League 3. The ATO's are undefeated this year, having won all their league games, and a semifinal playoff against the AGR's.

Farm House was defeated by Delta Upsilon in the regular season, but beat the DU's in a playoff for their league championship. They also beat the Pi Kappa's, Delta Sigs, Phi Deltas, and won a game by protest from the SAE's, last year's champs.

The ATO's victory list includes Acacia, Beta Sigma Phi, Zeta Beta Tau, Phi Sigma Kapp and Delta Tau Delta, whom they beat for their league championship.

Roy Petsch, Don Metheny, Wandell Basye, Chuck Carper, Charles Davis and Ed McKee have been doing most of the work for the ATO's this year.

Jim McNatt wins Big Six scoring race

Jimmy McNatt, Oklahoma's star forward, had a good night against Kansas Friday, so won the Big Six individual scoring championship with 126 points. Ralph Miller of Kansas, who tied with the Sooner at 112 points before that game, could get only four, so finished in second with 116.

Sid Held with 68 and Bud Tallman with 65 led the Husker scorers in the conference.

Delta Sigs face SAE's in 'B' finals

Delta Sigma Pi went into the finals of the "B" basketball race last night as they defeated Phi Gamma Delta 8-4 in a thrilling, rough and tumble defensive battle.

Galyen made six of the victors' eight points, as the Delta Sigs were sinking their free throws. The losers could get but one field goal, that by Don Pollock.

The Delta Sigs, winner in League 3, will face Sigma Alpha Epsilon, League 1 winner in the finals, probably tonight. The Sig Alphas, who have been led by Hermie Rohrig and Bill Wellinger, went into the championship game by a victory over Delta Theta Phi, League 2 champions.

The weather

Probable weather for today in Lincoln can best be described by saying, "Cloudy with light to moderate snow and little change in temperature."
