

Talk about lots of troubles; I've got them

By Jim Evinger.

When Coach "Biff" Jones calls for a secret practice for his football units, he really means what he sets down as his orders. Monday afternoon, your boy "James" went over to cover the first day of spring football practice out-of-doors for Boss Gal June Bierbower.

I went toddling up the steps onto the freshman football field with the prestige that I was going to cover the spring practice session. That was by intention. An officer patrolling the gridiron had other intentions. And they were stronger intentions.

No authority.

It seems that I didn't have any authority to trespass on the field. I had to have a pass or a signed note from Sports Ed Bierbower. So, I hurried back to the DAILY office for Bierbower's signature. She was in class. Editor Dick deBrown tacked a signature to a note and I let that serve as a pass. Back to the stadium again.

The Gridiron Gendarme still wouldn't let me cover the practice, as he claimed that Bierbower only had the authority he recognized. A gloomy but more enlightened writer trod back to DAILY office with his report. In the meantime, Alex "Grantland Rice" Mills came to the rescue as he was a recognized reporter and secured the football practice story for today.

Nyah, nyah.

Next time, it's a signature by Bierbower that I'll take to cover practice sessions. I don't want to be looked upon as a foreign spy the next time I trod on Biff's football fields. The long arm of the law is not gonna catch me—nyah, nyah. But, when Biff says secret practice, he really means what he orders.

Popenoe—

portant step in life, however, in view of our findings I could not generally advise against it."

Makes research.

In an attempt to determine the average success of college marriages, Dr. Popenoe made a research on the following three questions: Who paid the bills? did both husband and wife succeed in being graduated?, and were they happy? He found that as a rule the financial side of the partnerships worked out agreeably and could not be used as a criticism.

The probability of both graduating from college was found to be small. In many cases the husband quit school to work, or the wife, in order to have a child, was forced to drop out.

Fears results of bad marriage.

The marriage of low-grade morons and high school imbeciles (as Dr. Popenoe refers to men and women having the unstable emotional minds of children) are more to be feared than actual child marriages. Popenoe sees the marriage age being raised to 18 sometime in the future. He cited Kansas as a present example of the extreme, where a girl may marry at 12 and a boy at 14.

Four-man NU track squad makes good Chicago showing

Nebraska's track forces really did themselves up proud, Saturday night, at the Armour Tech relays held in Chicago. Four sophomores again—Harold Hunt, Bill Smutz, Gene Littler, and Harold Brooks—were the shining lights in the star studded carnival.

Coach Ed Weir's quartet—Edsel Wibbels was left at home because of a sore hand—came flying thru with three clear cut first places and a tie for another.

The conflicting reports gave Hunt a win in the pole vault but Weir said Monday that Hunt was tied by Williams of Wisconsin at the height of 13' 7 3/4". Incidentally, that was the highest the sophomore has ever vaulted and it broke the school marks for both indoor and outdoor performances in this event.

Bill Smutz was troubled by the 70 yard hurdle races in placing third and fifth due to only three jumps over the distance. It is more of a race for a sprinter than what Smutz has been accustomed to.

Coaches and critics alike were full of praise for Littler's wins in the 70 yard dash and the 440. In the short dash, "Red" was trailing only 10 yards from the finish line but he pulled up fast enough to win by a yard in the closing strides.

A picture in the Chicago Herald American of the finish of the race shows Littler really lunging at the tape with his head pushed down and forward in real fullback plunging fashion. In the quarter mile, Littler had a lead by about four yards at the finish.

Brooks' time of 4:23.7 is the second best mark he has set this year. His first quarter of the mile was swung in 62 seconds and had a half mile time of 2:10.8.

Weir is issuing another call for many prospective track athletes who were out for fall practice but have since not turned in any appearance.

The squad as a whole is tapering off in practice until after spring vacation before hitting the outdoor track. Nebraska's next contest will be in the Kansas relays on April 20.

Gridders work outside second time this spring

The Cornhuskers came outside yesterday for the second time this year, having been held back by bad weather conditions. They now hope to get in some real work.

If good weather keeps up there will be a scrimmage before the week is over, as Head Coach Biff Jones and his staff desire to put the boys through extensive drillings. Monday afternoon's labor consisted in running through plays, while blocking, punting, and passing occupied the rest of the session. The first scrimmage will probably be Wednesday afternoon.

YWCA sponsors Easter service

The last YWCA vesper program, held today at 5:00 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall, is a special Easter service. The program, conducted by Mary Bullock, Vesper chairman, and Frances Keefe, Vesper choir director, consist mainly of musical selections.

Ag college wrestle champs determined

 - 139 pounds: Marvin Berogen defeated Lyle Clark by a 1 point decision. (Clark was defending champion.)
 - 148 pounds: Ralph Johnson threw Epstein with a half nelson bar arm in 4:58.
 - 158 pounds: Dick Carper won by decision over Estergaard.
 - 168 pounds: Foster Smith threw Paulson with a half nelson body lock in 3:22.
 - 175 pounds: George Keater won by decision over McKeon. (McKeon was runnerup in the all university meet.)
 - Heavyweight: Dick Karre threw Gepperson with a cradle bar arm in 2:15.
- Referee: Harold Walkup of the varsity team.

It's sure success when gym classes go coeducational

Oh boy! boys and girls, at last its here. At least its here as far as Drake University is concerned. Its mixed physical education classes for men and women, and for credit too.

Last semester two golf classes and three social dancing classes were offered and according to Ruby Ann Holton, "There is no question about the success of the classes." Attendance has been larger than ever before.

This semester, badminton, bowling, horsemanship, archery, and angling are expected to be added to the schedule. Canoeing, swimming, and boating may be added at a future date.

Oklahoma's going to have plenty of beef next fall...their starting line thus far in practice averages 216...and that with 175 pound Bill Jennings at one end...Louis Sharpe, 225, is at the other end... tackles are Howard Teeter, 232, who is back after a two year layoff because of illness...Howard Lahar, 218, and Ralph "Fats" Harris, 254, are guards...Novel Wood, 202, is the center...Cliff Speegle, a No. 1 center, who will be tried at end, is not out yet... neither is guard Olin Keith... the Sooners have four sopho tackles weighing 225, 227, 214 and 236 respectively...the Huskers, tho, aren't exactly midgets, either.
