

The DAILY NEBRASKAN

Official Newspaper of More Than 7,000 Students

THIRTY-NINTH YEAR

Subscription Rates are $1.00 Per Semester or $1.50 for the College Year. $2.50 Mailed, Single copy, 5 Cents. Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice in Lincoln, Nebraska, under Act of Congress, March 3, 1879, and at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, Authorized January 20, 1922.

Offices Union Building
Day—2-7181. Night—2-7193. Journal—2-3333

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1939-40
Member Nebraska Press Association, 1939-40

Represented for National Advertising by NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC.
420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.
Chicago Boston Los Angeles San Francisco

Published Daily during the school year except Mondays and Saturdays, vacations, and examination periods by students of the University of Nebraska, under supervision of the Publications Board.

Editor-in-Chief Richard deBrown
Business Manager Arthur Hill

All together now for National Recognition of the University

. . . Lend a ballot

Currently appearing in the May 4-10 issue of Mevic and Radio Guide magazine is the picture of Bettie Cox, the University of Nebraska's entry in Paramount's All-American College Queen contest. Competing with her for a trip to the premiere of "Those Were the Days" at Galesburg, Illinois, are fifteen other coeds whose photographs appear in the same issue. Four out of the group of sixteen will be elected for the honor by readers of the magazine, and surely no one should be more interested in seeing Bettie Cox, one of the four, than Nebraska students.

The several thousand votes which the campus could give its official representative in the contest might well mean the difference between election and elimination, since it is altogether likely that other schools with candidates will lend active support. The University student body is not so frequently given nation-wide recognition of this sort that it can afford to yawn at an opportunity to see one of its members gain the limelight. The DAILY, sponsor of the local competition which selected Bettie, earnestly solicits its readers to give her the full support of their backing this week in the last and most difficult contest hurdle. Write her name in on the official ballots being printed in this week's Movie and Radio Guide and mail them to contest headquarters in time so that they will be postmarked not later than Friday, May 10, the deadline for balloting.

Let's show that anytime a Cornhusker is up for honors, the old Nebraska spirit can be counted on for 100 percent support. Victory for Bettie will mean an occasion for congratulations not only to her but to the university and the entire state.

Scrap Irony

Chris Petersen

Our guest writer today is an unknown scribbler on the Emery Wheel. Declaring that "Since the professors divide students into classes it is safe to assume that all professors can also be divided into classes," he offers these groupings.

1. The Killer type. He wants to kill off the lower third and thinks the best way is by overwork.
2. The Card type. He is a card, but not an ace. He's a 3x5 card. Outstanding is his index appeal.
3. The Spicy type. He has a lot of cheek and plenty of tongue to put into it. His lectures kick up intellectual sparks out of the academic flint.
4. The Skimmer type. The surfacing in his courses is fine. But the foundation is weak.
5. The Fatherly type. He is the unexpected father, always giving pop quizzes.
6. The Hard Rock type. You have to be more than a good musician to hit a high C under this joker. If he were a movie critic he wouldn't even give the United States flag 48 stars.
7. The Uh-Man type. He doesn't know any punctuation except "uhs." For variety he throws in a "but uh" now and then.
8. The Societal type. He whets your intellectual appetite. He knows a great deal but doesn't try to make anyone realize it.
9. The Candy-Between-Meals type. A course under him destroys your intellectual appetite.
10. The Axe-Grinder type. He can't sharpen his wits, so he has to grind an axe. Sometimes it's propaganda he grinds out.

Optional—The Nomad type. Like the Nomad of the desert he loves to wander, and what he wanders over is as dry as the desert.

Of course, this is just one man's idea about the way things could be. Bore it in mind, please.

To the editor

Dear Editor:

I didn't mean to be a crank or a "rabble rouser." The blaspheming term were no doubt out of place, but they served my purpose of bringing the matter to light and to the attention of many. Really, the fellows in the grill are probably not "boorish morons." That term was applied in a moment of heat, when I was particularly disgusted with the attitudes and actions of the grill personnel.

Let it be known, then, that I realize the futility of name-calling and mud-slinging, but the fact remains that there is much room for improvement in service in the grill.

Yesterday, I had a talk with Mrs. Quisenbury in regard to the letter published in Sunday's DAILY. She thanked me for bringing the matter to light, but also, justifiably, condemned me for the loosely applied terms in the text of the letter.

Naturally, I do not know enough about working in a place like the grill to give any truly practical and specific advice on changes...except that perhaps one of the main causes for laxness on the part of the fellows may be due to the fact that there is not always an authority there to watch them. It's only natural to slip when you know you're not going to be caught. Then, too, perhaps, if the fellows would remember that when they put on their white jackets and walk in to go to work, they're no longer students...they're members of a staff that is supposed to be of service to the patrons of the grill.

To forget that so-and-so is a friend, or is one of your classmates is sometimes not easy. I know. I ushered in a theatre for two years. I know what you have to "take" from the patrons. But what I know, and what the grill waiters do not seem yet to have learned is that you've got to take it, and not try and dish any back.

This isn't to imply that the customers are the waiters' superiors...this means that the waiters are supposed to be doing a job...serving the patrons—students and cut-ups, tho, they may be.

All I meant to say in that first letter and in this one is that the grill waiters—not all of them, nor not just one—but some, and they seem to be in the majority, have not been doing their jobs well. They've been lax and careless and slow. There is much room for improvement, and I for one would like to see it. The rest of the students, I think, are all in agreement that we want our Union to be among the finest on ANY campus.

(Signed) Ralph S. Combs.

As a matter of record, the catering department of the Union is self-sufficient and does not operate on funds gained through the $3 fee levied on students each semester.—Ed.

Candid Clippings

Morton Margolin

With the school year rapidly drawing to an end, women at the University of Oklahoma are going to get all they can out of the fact that this year is leap year, for they figure that the opportunities which they now have will not return for a long time.

In order to do something about it they have inaugurated a "Now or Never Week." During this week the coeds have 10:30 privileges every night in order to do their courting. Even freshmen women have all the privileges of upper classes during this week. To top it all off the fellows like it. Some of them would just as soon have it go on to the end of the year.

At the University of Kansas, where Business Law finals were given prematurely this year, one student footnoted his paper, "Any similarity between the material in this quiz and the material covered in the text book is purely coincidental."

Statisticians at the University of Washington found that this year's freshmen are 11 pounds heavier, and one one-half inches taller and more than a year younger than the freshmen of 1908.

Improved physical condition of the yearlings can be attributed to better diet, more vitamins, and more sports according to their university health officer. At the same time mortality per thousand for students is 20 times less than non students of the same age group.

Keepers of the lost and found department in the registrar's office at Iowa State college declared that they had come to the last straw last week, when after complaining of lack of space to store lost books, pens and pencils, someone turned in a pair of trousers.

Rev. Charles K. Hayden, S. J., dean of men at Creighton university says that if you are one of those persons who is never fooled by a magician's antics, then you had better be examined, for you are probably becoming deaf or are on the way to the bug house.

Father Hayden came to this conclusion when his interest in physics and mathematics led him to pursue the slight of hand trade. The conclusions are the result of a long series of experiments conducted before classroom and civic groups. Whether or not he is right, it is certain that his classes in which he demonstrates his theories about optical illusions are popular.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA OFFICIAL BULLETIN

This bulletin is for the use of campus organizations, students and faculty members. Notices for the bulletin must be sent or brought to the DAILY office by 5 p. m. every day for insertion in the paper the following morning. Notices must be typed or legibly written and signed by some one with the authority to have the notice published. The bulletin will appear, daily except Monday and Saturday, on page two of the NEBRASKAN.

TODAY

PHALANX.
Members of Phalanx, military honorary, will meet at 7:30 p. m. in room 316 of the Union.

SIGMA ETA CHI.
Active members of Sigma Eta Chi will meet at 7 p. m. in room 313 of the Union. Pledges will meet in room 305.

PHI MU ALUMNAE.
Phi Mu alumnae will meet in parlor A of the Union at 7:30 p. m.

SOCIAL WORK MAJORS.
Social Work Majors will meet at 11:35 a. m. in parlor X of the Union.

FAD.
Members of FAD will meet in parlor X of the Union at 7:30 p. m.

HARMONY HOUR.
Regular weekly Sinfonia Harmony Hour will be held at 4 p. m. in the faculty lounge of the Union.

ALL STUDENTS.
University observatory on the city campus will be open to all students every clear afternoon this week to students who care to observe the planet Venus.

WEDNESDAY

FACULTY WOMEN'S CLUB.
The Faculty Women's Club will meet in the ballroom of the Union at 1 p. m.

MATINEE DANCE.
Weekly Union matinee dance will be held at 5 p. m. in the ballroom. Identification cards must be presented for admittance.

UNION FORUM.
Dr. Thomas Greenwood, University of London psychologist, will speak on "Current Events" in parlors B and C of the Union at 4 p. m.

PRESBYTERIAN STUDENTS.
Presbyterian students will meet at noon in parlor X of the Union.

PERSHING RIFLES.
Members of Pershing Rifles will meet at 6:30 p. m. of the Union in parlors X and Y of the Union.

ASAE.
Members of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers will meet at 7:30 p. m. in room 305 of the Union.

GAMMA ALPHA CHI.
Gamma Alpha Chi will meet at 8 p. m. in room 315 of the Union.

SIGMA ALPHA IOTA.
Members of Sigma Alpha Iota will meet in room 316 of the Union at 5 p. m.

Pharmacy . . .

Profs and former students lead national druggists meet

Several faculty men and former Nebraska students are participating in the annual spring meetings of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy and the American Pharmaceutical Association at Richmond, Va., this week.

Dr. J. B. Burt is chairman of the scientific section of the American Pharmaceutical Association; Dr. F. S. Bukey is vice chairman of the conference of teachers of chemistry of the college group; George Dekey of Purdue university, a Nebraska pharmacy graduate, is chairman of the college association, and George Hargreaves, also a Nebraska graduate and now on the staff of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, is secretary of the organization.

Former Husker is secretary James Dille, another former Nebraskan and now of the University of Washington, is secretary of the pharmaceutical association. Dr. Bukey and Dr. Paul Janke will read papers before the college meetings, and Dr. Harold Holck will read a paper before the college association and one before a meeting of teachers of pharmacy and pharmacology.

Dean Lyman will represent the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy for the tenth time at the annual meetings of the American Council on Education at Washington, D. C., May 2 and 3. The university pharmacy staff will be in the nation's capital May 13 to 15 for the annual United States Pharmacopoeial convention. Preceding the Virginia conventions, Dean Lyman represented the university at the meetings in St. Louis of the south central section of the American Student Health Association.

Studio Theatre to give 'Uncle Tom's Cabin'

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be presented by the Studio Theatre of the speech and dramatic department Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Temple Theatre. No admission will be charged, and it is open to any who wish to attend.

This production will be a performance of the famous drama with Little Eva, and Simon Legree. Complete costuming, but only a minimum of scenery will be employed.

Bob Johnston, speech department assistant-instructor, is director of the play, assisted by Mildred Manning. Stage manager is Joyce Burke. In charge of costumes is Marilyn Harper.

Cast of characters are:
Little Eva Louise Lenon
Uncle Tom Jon Pruden
George Betty Log Ranger
Simon Legree Clarence Flick
St. Clare Jay Norris
Marie St. Clare Phyllis Welch
Ophelia Dorothy Ward
Gumption Cate Bob Gelwick
Marks Jack Hendrix
Tom Loker Romeo Schievitta
Wilson Robert Black
Haley Louis Meyer
Aunt Chloe Marilyn Harper
Shelby Dean Spahr
Deacon Perry Harold Bradley
Young Shelby Harold Breneman
Adolph Don Astleim
George Max Wittaker
Eira Ruth McMillan
Phinella Cecil Richmond
Cassy Constance Hourigan
Emmeline Roberta Estey
Auctioneer Bill Dickson
Mammy Clarence Brown
Sandy Kenneth Miller
Quilbo Duane Christensen
Sterne Merle White

Regler—

(Continued from Page 1.)

They put it in the east stadium and lighted it. Just then around came a patrolman. Off went the bomb, shattering windows, and throwing glass over the officer, who according to Regler, thought he was "on the spot." The reason and those responsible for the bomb were soon found.

. . . a few knives, too! A number of knives, some very vicious looking, have been taken away from suspicious characters who have been searched. A black mask was taken from the pocket of one man. A search revealed a large pair of brass knuckles in one man's clothes. All these things are among Regler's collection.

Four bullets in his collection tell of a story that could have been

Bengtson speaks on junior division at YMCA dinner

Dr. Nels Bengtson, head of Nebraska's new junior division, will speak on the junior division at a YMCA dinner meeting at 6 p. m. Wednesday.

The junior division is to be a curriculum change effective the first semester of this coming school year. Under the proposed plan, freshmen in all colleges will be enrolled in the junior division and will not enter a special college until the sophomore year.

University men are invited to attend. Reservation for the dinner should be made before Wednesday noon in the Y. M. C. A. offices.

very serious. A boy had been arrested and brought to the office and searched. The policeman with him looked away a moment, looked back, and saw the boy had a gun leveled at him which he had pulled from his stocking. It was loaded with bullets, but luckily the officer took it away before the boy could fire.

Book Nook add books by Henderson, Durant

"Failure of a Mission," by Sir Neville Henderson, and "The Life of Greece," by Will Durant, are two new books recently added to the Union Book Nook. Henderson, the British ambassador to Germany in 1937-39, relates in his book his conversations with Von Ribbentrop in the fateful hours before the German invasion of Poland and his failure in trying to avert a second world war.

The May issue of the American magazine contains an article by Dr. Paul Popenoe, lecturer this year at the Student Union.

Contest—

(Continued from Page 1.)

and Meat board is the donor of the prizes.

Practice in judging will be given to all students interested in the competition Monday thru Thursday at 4 p. m. at the Lincoln Packing company. An open invitation to all has been offered to anyone interested in these practices.