

Behm leads Scarlet

Veteran tackle captains team vs. Minnesota

Gopher plays observed; Ludwick, Zikmund, and Whitehead on seconds

Forrest Behm, senior tackle from Lincoln, will captain Nebraska in the first Husker clash of the 1940 season. Behm, stand-out bulwark of the Big Six conference, was named the Scarlet leader in the battle with Minnesota by Coach Biff Jones, Monday.

Chalk talks and real study sessions concerning football (Nebraska and Minnesota, both) have been the chief topic of conversation in the Husker camp for the last two days. Yes, even Sunday took some time for extra pigskin tactics.

Gopher plays inspected

Minnesota plays were looked at and the Huskers ran thru several of their own for sake of better timing and coordination. Head Freshman Coach A. J. Lewandowski scouted the Gophers and was presenting the Minnesota plays with a group of fourth teamers.

Newest changes in the lineups appear on the second team. After Saturday's three hour scrimmage, the Biffer elevated three new men into the second team formation.

Three Huskers improve

Bob Ludwick reappeared at left end, as Jerry Kathol was dropped to the third eleven. Ralph Whitehead took over the left guard finished in sixth place in the American league in final team standings and the New York Yankees were on the bottom of the heap in team batting...

NINE OLD MEN.

Odd thing about the Detroit Tigers is that the sports experts at the start of this last campaign said that the Bengels had too many old men in the lineup... Well, the "Nine Old Men" came thru to beat the Cleveland "bawl babies" and the "unbeatable" New York Yankees... Funny thing—this world of sport...

Cincinnati finally hit 100 victories for their total number of wins this season and finished 12 games out in front of the second place Brooklyn Dodgers... Only three teams have hit the century mark since 1913 in the standpoint of number of games won in a complete season... Chicago's 1935 Cubs were the last ones to do it before the Cincinnati Reds came thru this year...

By Jim Evinger

It's interesting to note the reports of the many sports scribes who covered the Minnesota-Washington game at Minneapolis last Saturday... Some play up the great offensive works of both teams and then the reports degrade the football playing of both teams.

From the Des Moines Sunday Register, Bert McGrane says, 'Minnesota's line was kicked around in this ball game, altho in the closing stages, when a relentless stand meant victory, the Gophers rallied... Unless Washington's stalwart forwards are above the ordinary level, Minnesota's line needs a patch here and there... When the old power plays were called the Gopher advance men simply failed to split the rugged opposition wall... Minnesota's running gains were largely on sweeps, with Franck the top man...'

GOPHERS HAVE SPEED.

Frederick Ware in the Monday Morning World Herald writes, 'Speed was Minnesota's priceless asset Saturday—backfield speed. It made up for the sluggishness of the offensive line. It made up for the lack of brute driving power—at least the sort of driving power that we've come to associate with Minnesota fullbacks wasn't often evident. But maybe Old Leif is saving it. Efficiency may make the Mighty Men a fearsome outfit—and quickly. To say it again in different words: There is more talent available than a year ago—seemingly much more...'

In other words, the sports experts who saw the Huskie-Gopher battle all point out that Minnesota is definitely stronger this year than last season... What news that brings!... Now Minnesota is added to the list of Big Ten teams that we play that are definitely on the upgrade... Indiana and Iowa, the experts say, are even stronger this season...

IRON MIKE ENICH.

Sports siftings: The most durable of all the 1939 Iowa Iron Men is now captain of the 1940 team... Iron Mike Enich (pronounced Ee-nick) already has earned citations as one of 1940's probable all-Americans... Enich played the full 60 minutes against Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue, Notre Dame, Minnesota and Northwestern with never a rest after the Indiana game, the second engagement on the 1939 Hawkeye schedule...

Football-player-of-the-week award goes to Michigan's Tommy Harmon... To celebrate his 21st birthday, all Harmon did was to score four touchdowns against the University of California... Don't look now, but the St. Louis Browns

Three mile nag races give fans easier minds

With the recent return of long route racing to some of the leading tracks in the country, horse race fans will have to learn to adjust their normal, every-day lives to absorb this entirely different spectator sport.

An offspring of the old steeplechases and "cup" events of a few decades past, the two and three race demands more than just speed—stamina, the ability to endure—and depends upon the ability of the jockey to set a pace which will not tire the horse in the first mile or two.

But this is getting off the subject—the question is—how can the spectator utilize the time necessary of one race to be completed? A few suggestions of how this time could be used are listed below:

1. The preparation of a breakfast of three minute eggs, toast and coffee.

2. Permit two major league clubs to play a full inning of baseball.

3. The playing of a full hand of bridge.

4. Permit Joe Louis (if he fought as usual) to KO between 20 and 30 opponents.

5. Permit Johnny Paycheck (if he fought as usual) to be KO'd 20 or 30 times.

6. And so on, ad infinitum.

It will, however, increase the suspense naturally connected with horse racing and for those playing the daily double it will really seem like eternity before they can make up their minds whether to stamp on their hats and tear their hair, or very proudly and very obviously, walk up to the pay window and very, very casually stuff the bills into their pockets as tho this were an every-day occurrence in their lives.

A complete schedule of the trip and full roster of players making the trip will not be disclosed until Thursday. Three full teams are slated to make the trip with a few holdovers.

Bob Burruss, who has been absent because of a leg injury, was back in uniform Monday, and will be in shape for the Minnesota battle. Otherwise, the quad, right now, is in strong physical condition except for a few ankles which are rapidly on the mend.

Men's intramurals begin Wednesday

Intrafraternity athletics begin on Wednesday, but here are several things that all contestants must observe before entering into competition.

Before anyone can take part in the sports program, he must have a physical exam. Otherwise, forfeitures in accordance to the rules may hinder and change the results if the basic rules are not observed.

In playing football, all combatants must not use spikes in their shoes. Tennis shoes are preferred to avoid any injury that could be created by spikes.

Regarding protests.

All protests must be in the hands of the intramural office not later than 24 hours after the contest for the protests to hold any water at all.

In addition, the protests must be submitted in writing, signed by the fraternity athletic manager and the president of the fraternity.

Harold Petz is director of the intramural athletic program and Rollin Horney is his assistant.

Ag Tassel filings to start today

Women on ag campus interested in becoming Tassels may sign a list either in ag hall or home ec building. Filings will begin today at 8:00 a. m. and close Friday at 5:00 p. m. All women interested must be of sophomore standing or above and must have an average of at least 80 before eligible. Vacancies will be filled from the signed lists.

But perhaps Willkie does control more feminine votes than those of the men. It is impossible to be certain of either of these two above possibilities.

According to the data of yesterday's poll, Willkie is proportionately stronger among the seniors, juniors, and sophomores than among the freshmen, with his strength more concentrated in the sophomore class.
