Dr. Fishbein to open convo series Oct. 10

Arndt announces year's program; Van Doren Sarett among speakers

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, will open this year's series of university convocations on Oct. 10, with a lecture on "Fads and Quackery in Healing," in the Union ballroom at 11 a. m., as announced by Karl Arndt, convocations committee chairman.

Following his lecture, Dr. Fishbein will be guest of honor at a luncheon given by Theta Nu, honorary medical fraternity. He will also conduct a forum at 3 p. m.

Five to speak at convos.

Saturday, Professor Arndt, chairman of the convocations committee, announced the schedule for this season's convocations, which are sponsored jointly by the committee and the Union. Noted men who will lecture are Carl van Doren, critic and biographer; Thomas Benton, Missouri artist; S. K. Ratcliffe, English journalist and lecturer; Lew Sarett, "woodsman-poet," and Dr. John A. Wilson, director of the Oriental Institute at the University of Chicago.

Ratcliffe will speak Oct. 28 on "What Next in Europe?" Dr. Wilson will appear Dec. 12 and will discuss "Modern Spades in Ancient Egypt." Van Doren will talk Feb. 11 on "Benjamin Franklin," subject of one of his biographies. Sarett, who is professor of speech at Northwestern university, is scheduled for March 10, when he will give readings from his volume of poetry, "Slow Smoke." "Modern Art" will be the subject of Benton's lecture on March 23.

AAUP to hear national head

Dr. Frederick S. Deibler will address the Nebraska chapter of the American Association of University Professors Friday, Oct. 18, in the Union. Dr. Deibler is the national president of this organization.

Delegates from the North Dakota, South Dakota and Kansas chapters have been invited by Dr. Worcester, president of the Nebraska chapter and regional representative, to attend the dinner meeting. Chancellor C. S. Boucher will give a welcoming address at the dinner.

Effect of draft on student aired in radio program

To answer specific questions of students and faculty members regarding the selective service act and potential military training the nationwide network of the Columbia Broadcasting system will present at 9:20 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 8, "A Student in Selective Service" over station KFAB.

Questions will be asked by Dr. Harry Woodburn Chase, chancellor of New York university, and Dr. C. C. Williams, president of Lehigh university. Answering their queries will be Lieut. Col. Lewis B. Hershey, executive officer at national selective service headquarters, Washington, D. C., and Dr. Frederick Osborn, chairman of the advisory committee on selective service, Washington, D. C.

Meet the team at the station; 10 a. m. today

Members of the UN football squad returning from Minnesota will arrive at the Burlington station, seventh and P, at 10 a. m. today. A reception is being planned and all students are urged to turn out for the rally. All Corn Cobs are required to attend. Workers will be given credit for attendance.

Uni Theater opens with 'See My Lawyer'; Broadway hit is ready for three night run

All set for the rising curtain in the University Theater season are the principals in the cast of "See My Lawyer." They are pictured above: top row, Josephine Gold, Max Whittacker, Maryellen Robinson; bottom row, Stan Klein, Clarence Flick, and Walter Kiechel.

"See My Lawyer" will initiate the new season in University theater when it is presented Oct. 9 to 11.

The play, written by Richard Maibaum and Harry Clark, was a George Abbott production on Broadway where it ran for eight months last year. "On Broadway,"

Bouchers receive faculty Saturday

Chancellor and Mrs. C. S. Boucher received university faculty and administrative staff members and their wives Saturday evening at the chancellor's annual reception in Carrie Belle Raymond hall.

Approximately 90 people attended the reception. The group was received in the hall reception room, and moved to the dining room. The dining room was decorated with fall flowers. A string quartet played several selections during the evening.

said Armand Hunter, theater director, "See My Lawyer" was directed by Ezra Stone, young comedian star of the radio show "The Aldrich Family." The play is a hilarious comedy of the jack-in-the-box type, meant only for entertainment, with no thought of teaching a moral lesson."

Three law grads.

"See My Lawyer" is the story of three young graduates of a law college who hang out their shingles in the hope that business will come their way, but it doesn't. Fortunately Arthur Lee, played by Clarence Flick, is engaged to Fay Frankel, portrayed by Josephine Gold, the daughter of a delicatessen proprietor, therefore saving the law firm from starvation. The other partners are Peter Russo and Joseph O'Rourke played by Max Whittacker and Walter Kiechel.

As the going begins to really get tough, a millionaire playboy, Robert Carlin, played by Glenn Nelson, walks into the office and agrees to hire the firm to defend him exclusively for $25,000 a year. Robert goes in for quite amazing escapades such as kidnapping chorus girls, spending weekends in morgues, tying milk wagons to fireplugs and so on.

After many trials and tribulations, the lawyers finally win some cases and establish themselves, and, as the curtain falls, everyone is happy.

Social workers to hear Perkins

"Democracy Begins at Home" is the theme of the 44th annual meeting of the Nebraska Conference for Social Work which will be held at Norfolk on Oct. 6-9. The Honorable Francis E. Perkins, secretary of labor, will speak at the conference dinner Wednesday night.

Members of the faculty who will speak at the conference are Miss Nan I. Gerry, Miss Anna Zaloha, Dr. Frank Z. Glick, director of the graduate school, Dr. Stein, Miss Regina Mendel, Miss Alice Taylor, Miss Eda Houwink, and Miss Agnes Donaldson.

Students who will accompany the faculty are Patricia Lanegen and Marion Horn, Francis Davidson, Georgetta Kilmsey, Henrietta Hans, Gaines Bradford, Fred Dell Quadre.

UN to set up draft bureaus on campus

Non-residents may register through uni; Rosenlof will supervise

The university will cooperate with the Federal Government in providing adequate facilities for the registration of all male students, members of the faculty, and administrative officers, aged 21 to 35 years inclusive, whose residence is not Lincoln and who prefer to take care of their registration in Lincoln rather than to go to their homes for that purpose, Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, registrar, announced today.

The law provides that:

"Except as otherwise provided in this Act, it shall be the duty of every male citizen of the United States, and of every male alien residing in the United States, who, on the day or days fixed for the first or subsequent registration, is between the ages of 21 and 36 to

Radio edition of Daily hits air tomorrow

Campus news, society, sports program begins year at 7 o'clock

First broadcast of the DAILY NEBRASKAN of the air is scheduled for Monday night at 7 p. m., instead of 7:15 as formerly announced, Daily Editor Harris stated yesterday.

When the DAILY goes on the air, general university news, society and sports scoops will be reported by announcers who were selected last week at try-outs in the KFOR studios. Last year, campus news was aired at 11 p. m., but to accommodate a larger radio audience of out-state and non-student listeners, the time was moved up to 7 p. m.

Student announcers for the DAILY broadcast will be: News announcers: Chuck Cheney and Gene Bradley, John Mason, alternate.

Sports announcer: Phil Weaver, John McDermott, alternate.

Society announcer: Mary Jane McCarthy, Frances Haberman, alternate.

Film crew shoots 'Bishop' scenes here Monday

Hollywood camera crews arrive here tomorrow night (Monday) to start photographing background material on the campus for the movie, "Cheers for Miss Bishop"—a story of a midwestern school in early days.

The main school building used in the picture will be called "Old Central" and is a replica of the old University hall.

Bess Streeter Aldrich, author of the book "Miss Bishop" upon which the picture is based, is now in Hollywood attending conferences and advising on the production. Her son Bob works as news editor on the staff of the DAILY.

Aden calls workers

All freshman workers are asked to report to the Cornhusker office in the Union at 2 p. m. Monday, Editor Bob Aden announced yesterday. Work will begin on the direct mail campaign to juniors and seniors who are to have their photographs taken for the annual.

Plans are under way for a new method of choosing the university beauty queens which will be more fair than methods used in the past, according to Bob Aden, Cornhusker editor. Details will be released later when everything is completed.
